East Goes West and V. V.
Annoying Hold Up.
Tornado Exaggeration.
No Pineapples, Please.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

YESTERDAY Mr. Hoover from California was telling the East why it should vote to retain and increase Republican prosperity.

Gov. Smith from New York was on his way West to tell farmers why they should put out Republicans and put Democrats in.

MANY speeches about prohibition, nullification, as Republicans call it, modification, as Democrats call it.

Much whispering and loud talking about religion.

But the real issue is PROSPERITY.

Once workmen talked about the full dinner pail. Now they talk about the full pocketbook.

The job of Democrats is to convince the public that the national pocketbook will expand, and national savings increase more rapidly under Democratic than under Republican rule. Nothing else really counts.

A LADY bandit adds annoying features to the holdup industry.

Twelve gentlemen were playing poker in Brooklyn, a policeman among them. Violent sobbing at the door, a woman in distress. The poker players open, and hear "stick 'em up"—two men pointing automatics stand behind the sobbing young lady. She points one automatic, pointed steadily, while her friends collect pocketbooks and jewelry, $5,000 in cash.

Then to facilitate the "getaway" the young lady of the sobs and automatic told the twelve gamblers, "drop your trousers to your knees." They obeyed hastily. Leaving them hobbled, any man can appreciate their predicament. Lady and holdup partners left in their automobile. That is new.

IF YOU have made any winter plans about Florida, don't let any news reports, accurate or exaggerated, influence you. There are no tornadoes in Florida in winter.

A TYPHOON in China has killed many, and many houses destroyed. We pay little attention; it is too far away. In the Virgin Islands thousands are homeless. That is nearer home but leaves us cold. A majority of us don't know where the Virgin Islands are.

The sugar crop of Porto Rico is safe. THAT interests us, sugar might go up. Coffee growers suffer heavy losses. That interests us, it may mean dearer coffee.

JUDGE JARECKI, of Chicago, says that city will enlist 10,000 men to guard the polls in November. He doesn't want any more "pineapple politics."

"Pineapple," you know, is Chicago's playful euphemism for an explosive bomb.

If pineapples only were used in the Chicago campaign it wouldn't be so bad. But automatics, machine guns and brass knuckles added to the "pineapples" make the way of the voter hard, unless he votes with the gang.

HUNDREDS of thousands are homeless in Porto Rico, crops are ruined, many in extreme misery and actually hungry.

Uncle Sam should prove that his friendship and protection are real and worth having. There should be no waiting for the Red Cross to make some little gesture.

This is a rich country, with money, ships and provisions, and no time should be lost.

THE United States Constitution is 141 years old now, and that fact was appropriately celebrated yesterday on the steps of the United States Sub-Treasury in Wall street. The Constitution has provided 141 years of prosperity, and Wall street is prosperity's main office.

It was a cheerful Wall street birthday for those wise enough not to sell short. General Motors went to the highest price ever.

Big Steel sold above 160. "Call money" lent at 6½, only half a point inside the usury line.

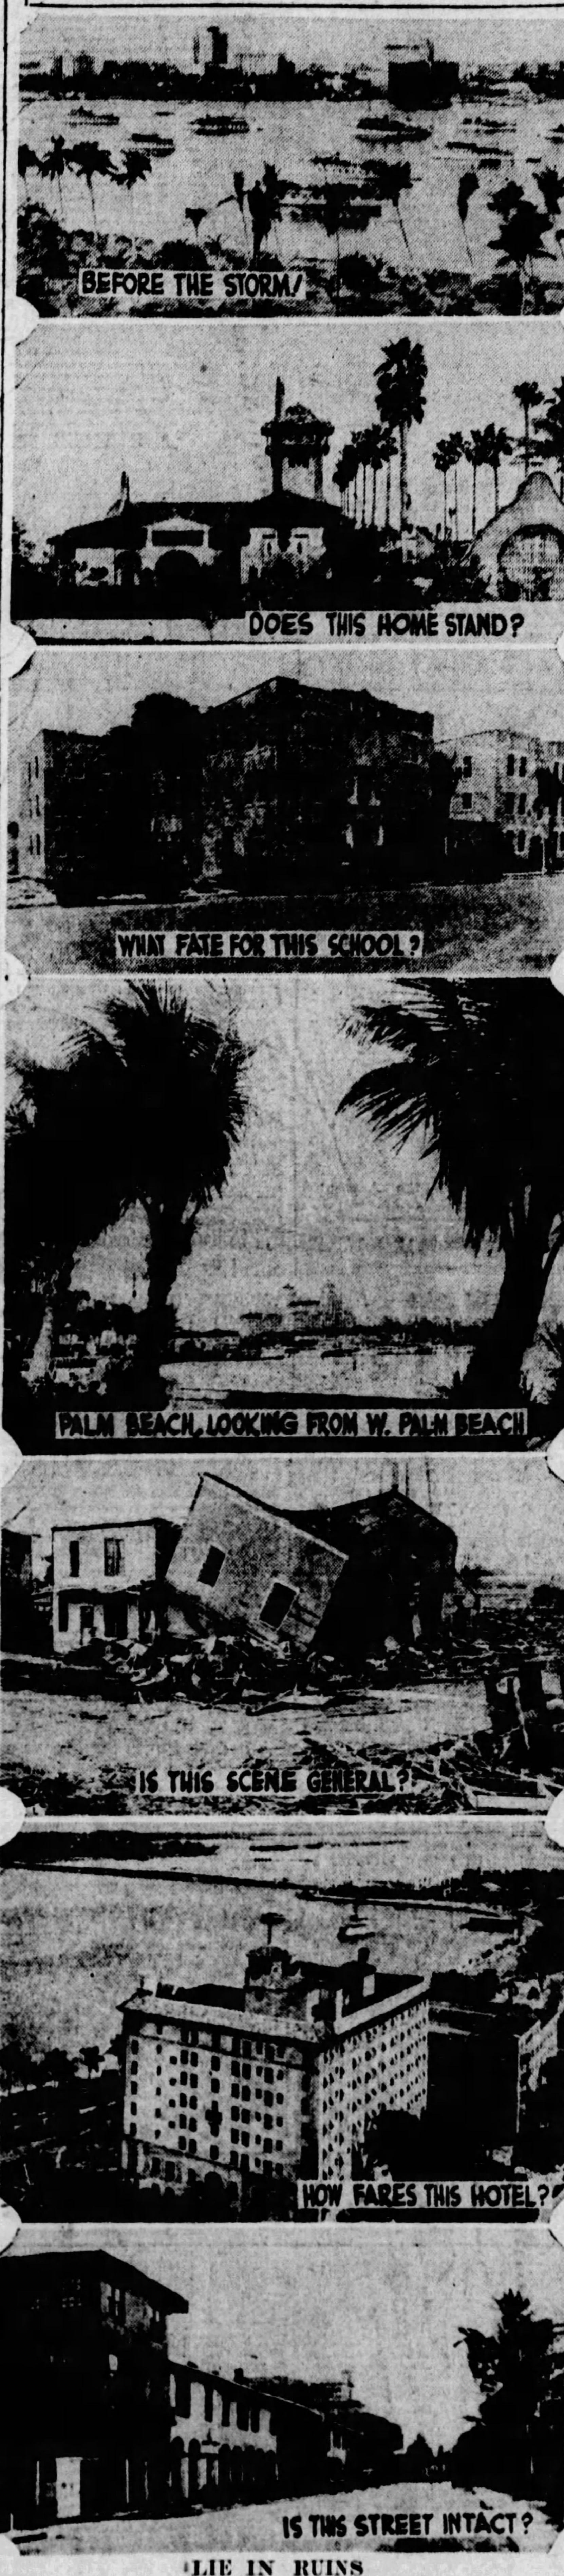
Small blessings thankfully received.

C. W. HOYT, an able man, brilliant in his profession, is killed by a fall from his horse. The horse shied, causing a sudden fall, and Mr. Hoyt's neck was broken.

Many friends will sympathize with the family of Mr. Hoyt, whose death should be a warning to all men that ride, especially after 50.

Had Mr. Hoyt worn a hat of extra hard felt, especially made for riding and providing an air cushion to protect head and neck in case of a fall, he would doubtless be alive now.

Battered Cities In Florida Storm



LIE IN RUINS

The Palm Beaches, twin Florida cities, today lie in ruins as the West Indian hurricane howls up through the central regions of the state towards Georgia and the Carolinas. These photos are of Palm Beach and West Palm Beach, separated only by a narrow lake little wider than the Allegheny River, before the storm; one shows the ruins now in Illinois, similar to those today in the Palm Beaches.

FLORIDA RESORT LEFT IN RUINS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Striking with terrific force, the West Indian hurricane has spread death, injury and property damage that is expected to mount into high figures over the Palm Beach section of the Florida east coast.

While only 14, so far, are known to have been killed and 140 injured, the property damage is unestimated.

The city of West Palm Beach virtually is a wreck. Hardly a building escaped damage. The business district looks like it had been shelled by enemy guns. Residential sections of the city are but little better off.

Palm Beach proper also was hit hard. Many buildings were completely down and a part of Royal Palm avenue was under water.

The surrounding country suffered to a similar extent. Beginning at Stuart, on the north, to Pompano, 35 miles to the south, the hurricane left nothing but wreckage and destruction in its path.

Deerfield and Boynton devastated. Lake Worth was severely hit. Delray, Lantana, Kelsey City and Jupiter, all small towns, also felt the fury of the elements.

Thousands are homeless and are being cared for in railroad stations, in boxcars and in such structures as withstood the storm.

"I have lived in Florida since 1901, and this is the worst I have ever seen," said Sheriff R. C. Baker, of Palm Beach county, after an inspection trip. The Sheriff said in his opinion a conservative estimate of property damage in West Palm Beach alone would be $10,000,000.

DAMAGE GREAT

"The business section virtually is a wreck," he declared. "There isn't a building in the city which escaped damage. It's as bad if not worse than what hit Miami."

Mr. Baker attributed the small loss of life to people being prepared for the storm.

"Those who did not seek strong shelter were ready to run for it at the first sign of danger," he said. There was but little, if any, moving around during the lull between the first storm and the backlash."

There was no water, lights or gas in the city. The sheriff was advised yesterday that looting had developed in one of the suburbs of West Palm Beach.

He also was told by officials of

POLICE GET VERONA

In retaliation for the arrest of Police Inspector James M. Hoey, Capt. Harry Mellon and a raiding party nabbed 22 gentlemen of the opposition last night, one of whom was said to be none other than Alderman John J. Verona. Alderman Thomas J. Flanigan also was among those disturbed by Capt. Mellon and his blue-coat aides.

Neither Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh nor Public Safety Director James N. Clark had anything to say today about the alleged use of city police in the political war raging in the Hill and Strip districts.

"I just got back to town," declared Walsh, and haven't had time to think about it. I don't know what's going on, yet."

Clark refused to be interviewed. He asked questions through his efficient doorman, and in reply to a relayed query about last night's raid on Verona's "council of war," his reply was, "I have nothing to say."

Hoey, who eluded constables from Alderman Verona's office Saturday by locking himself in his own jail at the Center Avenue Police Station, was taken into custody by Constable Harry Fink, who had pursued the inspector relentlessly for two days. Hoey obtained his release by posting $1,000 bail. He was arrested on charges of aggravated assault and battery, the outgrowth of alleged police persistence in "picking on" Verona followers in their avowed campaign against vice on the Hill.

Police and political bombs have been popping almost continuously since. Verona's constables and city police have been running around in circles arresting each other. This morning's assemblage in a hotel owned by Dan McCaffrey at 2856 Smallman street, was said to have been a "council of war" of Verona forces.

Capt. Mellon declared he had received complaints that a "wild party" was in progress. No disorder accompanied the raid. Capt. Mellon and his squad walked into the hotel and announced that everybody was under arrest. All were taken to Penn Avenue Police Station, where a charge of keeping a disorderly house was lodged against McCaffery, who was released under $105 forfeit. The others were charged with visiting a disorderly house. They were released under $15 forfeits.

Judge Sends Bad News to Prison Breakers

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Sept. 18.—In sentencing five escaped Rockview prisoners yesterday, Judge M. Ward Fleming told them to tell other prisoners that no leniency would be shown inmates who escape from the Centre county prison.

Sentence meted out included Harry Fink, of Philadelphia, five to 15 years; George Windemaker, of York county, three to seven years; Robert Duane, of Lackawanna county, three to six years; Nick Carbuck, of Allegheny county, two to four years, and Louis Marino, of Lawrence county, five to 10 years.

They will be returned today to the Eastern and Western Penitentiaries.

Red Cross Appeals Here For $60,000 Storm Fund

SIXTY thousand dollars for the immediate relief of victims of the hurricane disaster has been asked from Pittsburgh by the American Red Cross. A. K. Oliver, chairman of the Pittsburgh chapter, today directed letters to thousands throughout Allegheny county appealing for funds to meet this appalling emergency.

A telegram received this morning by Mr. Oliver from Judge John Barton Payne, of the National Red Cross, states that latest reports from Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands indicate that it is evident that the Red Cross faces a serious responsibility.

At the same time a call was issued for volunteer clerical workers to come to headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce Building tomorrow to assist in the mailing of the great volume of letters. It is declared urgent that all the letters be placed in the mail tomorrow afternoon.

3 MINE TIPPLES SET AFIRE; LOSS $500,000

FINLEYVILLE, Pa., Sept. 18.—Incendiary fires, started simultaneously, destroyed the tipples of three nonunion coal mines near here early today, causing loss estimated at approximately $500,000.

State police and county and local authorities joined in a hunt for the perpetrators. The fires, constituting the most smashing blow ever dealt open shop coal mining in this country, came as a climax to a long and bitter warfare.

TIPPLES DESTROYED

Tipples destroyed were those of the Piney Fork Mine, Peters Creek Coal Company of Pittsburgh, in Union township, loss $150,000; Henderson mine of the Henderson Coal Company of Pittsburgh, loss $100,000; Eclipse mine of the Eclipse Mining Company, Washington, tipple and power house destroyed, loss $225,000.

The fires, evidently started by use of highly inflammable material, blazed up at 4 o'clock this morning. The Finleyville fire department answered an alarm, but could do little. Tipples and wooden auxiliary buildings were burned to the ground.

This morning the shaft of the Eclipse mine caught fire. Firemen and workmen battled to prevent the flames from reaching the interior of the pit.

The Piney Fork mine has been employing 200 men and producing about 1,500 tons of coal daily. The Eclipse mine had employed a similar number. Formerly union mines, both had been operating non-union. The Henderson Coal Company's mine had not operated since the miners' strike two years ago, but had been cleaned out in preparation to resume with 100 men within a few weks.

BRIDGE BURNED

WELLSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 18.—Fire thought to be of incendiary origin destroyed a bridge on the railroad spur leading from the Pennsylvania Railroad to the West Virginia Pittsburgh Coal Company's mine here this morning. One hundred and fifty miners were thrown out of work. The bridge crosses West Virginia Highway Route No. 2. Fire Marshal Charles Nolte and Pennsylvania Railroad officials are investigating.

North Tier Of Pa. for Hoover

The "Northern Tier" of Pennsylvania counties are supporting Herbert Hoover to a marked degree, as indicated by returns in the straw vote canvass of Pennsylvania conducted by The Sun-Telegraph.

Returns from this belt, slow to be heard from during many elections in the past, have increased in volume recently in the straw poll. These counties, extending east and west across the northern border, are rural in character and are numbered among the least populated counties.

The sentiment as indicated by ballots recorded in the poll is strong for Hoover in practically all of these counties. In some of the urban communities in this belt, Gov. Alfred E. Smith has met with favor.

Ballots from this section enabled Hoover to win the day's returns and increase his lead in the totals to date to 4,391. Both candidates ran even in the returns from Philadelphia and Scranton.

The standing to date in the Pennsylvania canvass, part of the nation-wide poll by the Hearst papers, is as follows: Hoover 17,351—12,085 men and 5,266 women; Smith 12,960—8,757 men and 4,203 women.

This vote in 1924 was divided as follows: Coolidge 21,493—14,849 men and 6,644 women; Davis 2,659—2,059 men and 600 women; LaFollette 1,997.

FATHER, AT INQUEST, REPEATS STORY

A coroner's jury today failed to unearth any new clues in the Dapper murder case. After hearing a score of witnesses, the jury brought in the verdict that Harry R. Dapper, young Carrick physician, came to his death from wounds fired from a gun in the hands of a person or persons unknown, and recommended that the slayer be apprehended and held to await action of the grand jury on the charge of murder.

The coroned's inquiry emphasized a second mystery within the mystery of the murder case in that HenryA A. Dapper, the slain doctor's father, and Milton S. Englert, the doctor's brother-in-law, failed to ask Dr. Dapper who had shot him and why? Both men, according to their own testimony, had ample oportunity to question the doctor before he died.

Englert admitted that he had stood in a Homestead Hospital room looking at Dr. Dapper, who was conscious, 15 minutes without asking who had shot him and when the elder Dapper, who was with his son both at the scene of the murder and at the hospital, was questioned, "Didn't you aswk him (Dr. Dapper) anything aboutt he shooting?" replied, "oNt a thing."

ASKED NOTHING

Other witnesses heard included Dr. S. A. Norris, who was called to attend the slain physician; Elizabeth Weishaar, a neighbor of Dr. Dapper; Alex Vis, who was in the doctor's office before the death ride, and who saw the mysterious stranger there; Frank Serafino, gasoline station attendant; J. M. Cameron, an interne at the Homestead Hospital; John J. Smith, who resides near the scene of the murder, and James T. Reddington and Patrick Traynor, county detectives.

Practically all of the evidence was similar to what witnesses already had told police and detectives.

The father insisted that he has told all he knows of the affair. He said:

"If I could tell you some things, how happy I would be, regardless of whom it would hit, I would be only too glad to tell you. I'll never have a happy day until I find out who did it, and why it was done."

The elder Dapper reviewed the happenings of the fatal night from the time he received a telephone call from hisdaug hter-in-law asking him to accompany his son until the latter was taken to the hospital.

CAN'T EXPLAIN GUN

He identified a pistol exhibited to the jury as being his, but could not tell why he had taken the gun with him. He said:

"I don't know why I took the

FIGHT ON BUS RATES HERE LAUDED

Enthusiastic approval of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's stand for lower bus fares has been expressed in letters from readers. The campaign has given voice to a long felt public distaste for paying 25 cents for a service available in other cities for 10 cents.

Extracts from some of the letters follow:

"The article on the city bus fare by George H. Snyder, which was published in yesterday's Sun-Telegraph is worthy of special mention.

"This city is criticized severely by travelers for the short distance routed at 25 cents and also for the limited time schedule.

MORE BUSSES ASKED

"Were the company to charge a reasonable amount, running at closer intervals, they would soon get a greater volume of business, thus putting Pittsburgh in line with other cities instead of classing it as a 'city that stands still.'

"Other cities not having the vast amount of business done here have many other means of transportation in addition to bus service."

"Here's one to ask Mr. A. W. Robertson, president of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company:

"If the fares over the long routes are 25 cents, most of which are seven miles, why is it that we people riding the East Liberty route between Bloomfield Bridge and Herron avenue, one and one-half miles, pay the same fare as the seven-mile riders?

"Mr. Robertson also makes a statement that the buses are roomy and comfortable, but we, the people between the zones mentioned above, usually have to stand from our point to the city."

LAUDS CRUSADE

"I want to congratulate you on the courageous fight you are putting up in regard to the exhorbitant bus fare here. I only hope it will have a good effect and that the fare will be reduced.

"I know that in New York you can go in a bus from one end of the city to the other, transfers and all, for only 10 cents. I have done it."

"It certainly gives one satisfaction to see someone in Pittsburgh with enough nerve to expose the exhorbitant bus fares charged in Pittsburgh as you have done in your worthy paper.

"Keep up the good work and here's luck to you."

RESCUES RUSHED

ISLAND

Wind-battered Florida's east coast today breathes easier as the vicious West Indian storm trails up thsough the central reaches of the state toward Georgia and the Carolinas, ripping the heart from swampy, useless Everglades land. This damage is in Porto Rico, leveled before the monster struck Florida.

TRAIL OF RUIN!

WEST

Just before the storm struck and South Florida was grimly engaged in preparing to withstand its fury, Nebraska and Illinois were wracked by a terrific cyclone. This building at Rockford, Ill., was torn up, while scores of men were huddled inside, frightened from their work. Many were injured as this factory was wrecked.

BURIED

Employes are believed to have been buried in the ruins of this structure, that of the Elco Company, and early darkness after the storm hampered rescue workers and anxious friends and relatives who sought to probe the broken mass. Damage that will run into millions has been done in the three storms—New Hampshire, Mid-West, and Florida-Porto Rico.

RANSOMED CHILD IS KIDNAPED

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Billy Ranieri has been re-kidnaped, and today was hidden in a rendezvous so secret that even allies of his original abductors were unable to discover it.

Police, however, although baffled in attempts to find the new hiding place, said they had names of six or more men implicated in the kidnaping episode. Billy was alive, they said, after 14 days in the hands of men believed to be connected with other extortionist conspiracies.

Not until yesterday did police receive voluntary information from A. Frank Ranieri, father of the 10-year-old hostage. He told how he had paid $5,000 in ransom money to Angelo Petitto, a saloonkeeper, held with two others on kidnaping charges.

From a relative of Petitto police said they learned that Juliano Romano and Pasquale La Rocco were in charge of the boy. Fear of punishments had caused orders to be issued that the lad be freed, they said, but members of the kidnaping clique were unable to notify Romano and La Rocco.

By piecing stories together, police gathered that Romano and La Rocco had taken the boy to a new spot unknown to their accomplices. Previous messages indicated Billy was held in Elwood Park.

Three men were arrested last night when they picked up a decoy package resembling currency, left by police at a spot designated by instructions received by Ranieri.

HILL ROADWAY SUITS FILED

Claiming that the use of high explosives in the construction of the Mt. Washington roadway damaged several houses, Charles E. McPherson, of Sycamore street, has brought suit against the Thomas Cronin Company for $5,000 damages.

Excessive charges of explosives cracked the walls and plaster and broke and damaged the roofs, he avers. As a result of the property damage, he claims he lost rents totaling $1,715.

ROME PLANE READY FOR SEA HOP TODAY

Universal Service.

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Sept. 18.—Despite ominous discoveries of defects in his airplane, preventing a take-off yesterday, Cesare Sabelli, Italian ace, hoped to get aloft before noon today on his projected nonstop flight to Rome.

A gasoline valve was found leaking yesterday. It required two hours' work before it could be repaired. Then it was learned, in a last-minute test, that the airplane's propeller is about one-eighth of an inch out of alignment.

Capt. Sabelli, however, stated that he believed the latter defect not sufficiently grave to prevent his starting the 4,200-mile flight this morning. He plans to be in Rome about noon Thursday, after 44 to 48 hours' flying.

In the airplane with Capt. Sabelli will be his co-pilot, Roger Williams; a mechanician and radio man, Pietro Bonelli, and a member of an old Italian family, Dr. Leon M. Pisculli.

JAWORSKI MEETS SISTER; HOPES FOR EARLY DEATH

(International News Service.)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18.—Paul Jaworski, the two-gun killer who is in a dying condition at City Hospital here, was visited by his sister, Mrs. Lucille Logan, of Detroit, late yesterday.

Mrs. Logan, who arrived here Saturday, and was refused permission to see her brother, was allowed to go to him after returning. A little woman, she was almost overcome by emotion, and grim-faced police guards were visibly touched by the meeting.

"How do you feel, Paul?" the sister asked.

"I don't feel good," Jaworski answered dully. "I'm sick. I'm going to die."

"It's better that you die here than in the electric chair," the little Polish woman answered, her voice breaking.

"Yes," the wounded man agreed. "The sooner the better."

DEATH, DESTRUCTION IN WAKE OF HURRICANE

ROBINSON GIVES AID

A large supply of drinking water was brought on a relief train from Miami. The private car of Senator Joe Robinson, the Democratic vice presidential nominee who halted his campaign to lend his car to relief agencies, was attached to this train.

After a hasty inspection of the city, Mr. Robinson dispatched an appeal for assistance to the American Red Cross. Storm area appears to extend from Fort Lauderdale to Titusville and appproximately 145 miles in width, the message read.

Inland, in the Lake Okeechobee section of Southern Florida, the greater number of deaths was reported. There, Capt. Rupert Smith found that at least 24 persons had perished and in reporting to Col. S. J. Lowrey, of the One Hundred and Sixteenth Field Artillery at Tampa, he requested that military aid be dispatched at once. Two units of troops were sent to the area for emergency duty.

Two relief trains, one from Miami, which escaped serious harm, and the other from Daytona Beach were moving into the stricken area. The Miami train carried extensive supplies and the private car of Senator Robinson. Twenty doctors and nurses were aboard the Miami train, while the train of 15 cars from the North carried 15 relief workers, including several doctors, as well as many supplies.

Meanwhile, word came from Washington that a relief worker was en route to take charge of six other national disaster workers who had left there Sunday.

So urgent was the emergency of the hundreds of refugees in the Palm Beach area, that estimates of destruction wrought by the storm were made incidental in the radio advices. It was generally indicated that 90 per cent of the buildings in that zone, however, had been damaged, 60 per cent of them perhaps extensively. Official estimates of the loss transferred to terms of money were lacking.

The storm itself was passing northward today, centered apparently somewhere between Jacksonville and Apalachicola. High winds were prevalent at Jacksonville, and the barometer there last night was lower at 29.07 than it had been since 1898. Farther north at Brunswick, Ga., a 55-mile gale was blowing. If the storm centers on Jacksonville, A. J. Mitchell, United States meteorologist, said a 60-mile gale might be expected. Several houses were unroofed last night but damage was not serious.

Reports by radio and over crippled telephone and telegraph lines indicated that Central and Western Florida had escaped extensive damage although gales ranging upward to 50 miles an hour smashed windows and did some injury to orchards.

WEST COAST HIT

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—A wireless message received today from station 4BN at Tampa, addressed to the Associated Press, said that three bodies had been recovered from the Miami Canal at Lake Harbor, near Clewiston, and that 35 others were missing. The message was signed "Vance." The source of information on which the report was based was not given, except that the message said the news came from Beardsley. It said:

"Refugees at Lake Harbor being cared for at hotel and in houseboats owned by road contractor. Water has risen 10 feet at Ritta. Entire section east of Clewiston under water. Three houses and pump plant at Bear Beach, and hotel at Lake Harbor only buildings not in water in 12-mile lake front."

SLEEP WALKER DIES IN FALL

Plunging from a second-story window, presumably while walking in his sleep early today, Peter Walsh, 68, of 2323 Carson street, suffered injuries that caused his death two hours later in the South Side Hospital. Walsh, police say, walked against the window and plunged forward to the ground below. His skull was fractured.

ISSUE "MORAL," CLERGY TO PREACH AGAINST SMITH

Without mentioning him by name, Methodist Episcopal ministers of the Pittsburgh Conference decided yesterday to preach against the candidacy of Alfred E. Smith for the presidency because of his stand on the liquor question.

The ministers did not want to be quoted to the effect that they were going to ask their flocks to support Hoover, but made it plain that that was what they were virtually going to do.

AVOID "DICTATION"

They will avoid mentioning names because, it was explained, they do not want to be placed in the position of seeming to dictate to their church members for whom they should vote.

The ministers adopted unanimously a resolution introduced jointly by the Rev. Dr. George E. Brenneman, pastor of the Smithfield Street Church, and Dr. W. W. T. Duncan, pastor of Emory Church, in which it was set forth that moral issues were involved in the campaign and that it was the duty of the Christian clergy to face them.

CALL ISSUE MORAL

The resolution follows:

"Resolved, That we, the members of the Methodist Episcopal preachers' meeting, hereby renew our purpose to urge our people to register and vote at the coming presidential election.

"Resolved, also, That we record our conviction that all Christian ministers should preach on the moral issues of the present campaign and not in anywise be deterred therefrom by any cry against preaching politics."

gun. I just picked it up because it was lying there. If it hadn't been lying there I wouldn't have thought of it."

First Assistant District Attorney Park questioned the father, who related how he grappled with the killer, as to what he said to the man about killing his son. Dapper replied:

"I said, 'You ought to be ashamed of yourself, shooting a young man like him; why did you shoot him?'"

Mrs. Marguerite Dapper, widow of the physician, preceded her father-in-law on the stand. In a low voice she recounted her version of the events that preceded Dr. Dapper's death ride. She stated that she noticed the stranger in the doctor's waiting room, but did not get a look at his face. Mrs. Dapper wore a black felt hat and a black dress. Her face was pale.

PITTSBURGH CHARGE HOLDS OHIO DEALER

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Wanted in Pittsburgh to answer indictments charging false pretense and issuing a worthless check for $171 to a Pittsburgh produce firm, Lester Rodgers, 45, Steubenville, Clarksburg and Moundsville produce dealer, was arrested here yesterday. He refused to waive extradition and was held in bond of $2,500 for a hearing Saturday. The check, according to a Pittsburgh constable who came here to serve the warrants on Rodgers, was drawn on a Steubenville bank.

SMITH IN GRAIN BELT

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service.

ABOARD GOV. SMITH'S SPECIAL TRAIN IN IOWA, Sept. 18.—Gov. Al Smith was out where the tall corn grows today. His special train was rolling this morning across the broad expanse of Iowa corn fields, nearing Omaha.

There, in the heart of the grain belt, tonight he will make his first major bid for the support of the agricultural West—a section of the country that may conceivably have the deciding voice in determining the next President of the United States.

TO MAKE STRONG PROMISES

Advance indications are that the New York Governor is going to make a bold bid for the farm vote in his western inaugural tonight. He will go a long way to meet the demands of the farm organizations that for two years have backed the equalization fee principle in the handling of crop surpluses. Just how far he will go remains to be disclosed, but it will be considerably in advance of the Republican position as so far outlined.

George N. Peek, chairman of the Corn Belt Committee of 22, joined the Smith train at Chicago last night for the Nebraska trip and had a long conference with the Governor. Peek recently came out for Smith and is doing all he can to further his candidacy in the grain belt. Ex-Senator Gilbert Hitchcock, of Nebraska, long a farm belt champion, also is aboard.

A nation-wide radio hook-up will bring literally millions of people into Gov. Smith's audience tonight. It is so extensive that almost the entire country can sit in at the opening of his Western invasion.

ALL CALL HIM AL

The Governor plunged into the corn country well pleased with the tenor of his trip thus far. No large crowds have greeted him, but no stops were advertised between Albany and Omaha. At operating stops in Ohio and Indiana, however, vociferously cordial groups besieged his private car, and at Chicago, last night, several thousand people thronged the railroad yards and yelled their throats hoarse for "Al." This was in spite of the desire of Democratic leaders in Chicago that all the fireworks be reserved until next month, when the Governor will speak there.

Summer's Over :-: University of Pittsburgh Students Return :-: Registration Underway

"I'M FINISHED!"

NEW ONES

A SCHOOL GIRL'S NEWSPAPER

FROSH!

"Hey, Frosh!" someone yelled at Gladys Bowman, Virginia Whitfield, Sally Moore, all from Braddock and new students at Pitt. They'll learn what it means.

"WHAT WILL YOU TAKE?"

ONE MORE YEAR

Just one more year for Ruth Rumble, Clairton. Her friends are Kathryn King, Clairton, and Elizabeth Rodgers, Irwin. Those catalogues, so-called, are confusing.

HOW IT'S DONE

BEGINNERS

Much lies before this trio: Margaret Eitel, Knoxville; Nancy Lea, Aspinwall; and Ruth Peightel, Glenshaw. They, too, are Freshmen, and, it might be said, quite proud of that, if you please. They are in the machine-system here.

HOOVER PLEA TO LABOR STIRS NEW JERSEY

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
(International News Service.)

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 18.—The Republican leadership of New Jersey jubilantly predicted today that Herbert Hoover has insured a November victory in this battleground state by his "bread and butter" speech here and his two-day motor tour of its principal northern cities.

New Jersey's G. O. P. was enthusiastic in its praise of Hoover's personal campaigning and in its predictions of its effect upon the electorate. Hoover meanwhile launched his second day of motoring through the state with a visit to the Newark municipal airport, preparatory to visiting Hudson, Bergen and Passaic counties. This afternoon, after lunching here, he will motor through Princeton and Elizabeth to Trenton, where he boards his train for the return trip to Washington.

In his "bread and butter" speech, Hoover made five pledges to organized labor:

1—To continue Republican prosperity under the protective tariff.

2—To continue restricted immigration in order to safeguard the American wage levels.

3—To curtail the use of injunctions in labor disputes.

4—A reassertion of labor's right to collective bargaining.

5—A $1,000,000,000 government construction program to eliminate seasonable unemployment.

Senator Walter E. Edge declared this speech had won New Jersey to the Republican ticket. Morgan F. Larson, Republican nominee for governor, and Hamilton F. Keane, Republican nominee for senator, echoed his words.

"Herbert Hoover has won organized labor all over the country and assured a Republican victory in New Jersey by his great analysis of labor's problems and his common sense pledge to continue Republican prosperity," said Edge. "The wonderful enthusiasm shown throughout his visit demonstrates clearly that New Jersey will cast aside every other issue and vote to continue Republican prosperity."

"Every man and woman who works for a living wants to see Herbert Hoover our next president after listening to his wonderful labor speech," said Larson. "New Jersey is a great industrial state and it will give Herbert Hoover a 300,000 majority in this campaign."

"After Hoover's great appeal to the working men and women of America, there is no doubt of his being our next President," Keane added. "New Jersey will go Republican in order to continue Republican prosperity. This was clearly demonstrated by the happy faces of the tens of thousands who saw and heard him on his visit. His labor speech makes prosperity the predominant issue in New Jersey and our people will vote to keep it."

CONFESS, SAY POLICE

Kitty Gilbert, alias Mary Narr, John Martin, A. J. Gilbert and Charles Miller were counting their money in 1613 Boulevard of the Allies today when a squad of city detectives, including William Egan, Frank Dodson, Michael Carney and Joseph Jackson, found them. They admit cracking Fishel's East End store safe, detectives say. They had $169 of the Fishel money, detectives say.

Order Slot Machine Raids

Public Safety Director James M. Clark today ordered simultaneous raids on 88 places in the city where slot machines are alleged to be operating. Saloons, clubs, poolrooms, "blind pigs" and confectionery stores are included in the places visited.

On account of the recent upheaval in political circles it was predicted around the City-County Building the raids would be "duds." Those who seem to be in the know say persons operating machines have been removing them from their places for some time past.

Director Clark said he has hired five motor trucks to haul the confiscated machines to the city property room in the City-County Building. The Director said he would personally supervise the destruction of the machines.

A conference between Clark and City Solicitor Charles Waldschmidt was held today to decide what action could be taken against manufactutrers of the machines.

4 BOY KILLERS PLEAD FOR CLEMENCY

Four East End boys who staged a series of holdups for the thrill it gave them, were crestfallen in court today as their counsel and alienists sought to soften their sentence for the slaying of Edward Flynn, aged watchman of the Homeopathic Hospital, September 4, 1927.

Judge James H. Gray, after listening to the pleas and testimony relative to their mental capacity, postponed pronouncement of sentence until he can have an independent examination of their mentality.

Michael Ferrero, always has been weak-minded and Lloyd Moore has been queer since he fell out of a tree and fractured his skull three years ago, it was testified Joseph Ferrero, brother of Michael, was drunk in the auto the night of the murder and Henry Constanza, never was mentally bright, it was testified.

WIFE SWOONS

Joseph Ferrero was married two days after the murder and his wife, Antoinette, swooned on the stand after she testified she would stick with him if he got out of the present trouble.

It had been expected that they would go on trial for murder when court convened yesterday, but instead the boys' attorneys offered to enter pleas of guilty, and proffer such evidence as would be necessary for the judge to determine the extent of their guilt in pronouncing sentence.

Beech Andrews, house father at Thornhill Reform School, testified that Michael Ferrero had confessed to him that he had been implicated in a holdup in which a man had been killed. He communicated with the local authorities and the boy, only 16, was brought before the county detectives, where he confessed and implicated his companions. All were arrested and made confessions. Joseph Ferrero, 18, was said by the other boys to have been drunk and asleep in the back of the automobile when the killing occurred. It is he who eloped with his sweetheart of two years' standing a day or two later, and the other three boys on the stand maintained that he slept through the tragedy. Afterwards, while fleeing from the scene, the boys drove him to his home and carried him, still asleep, to a swing on his father's front porch.

The boys said they set out in a stolen roadster and committed the first two holdups in it, waylaying pedestrians and holding them up at the point of a revolver. Several times they stopped at speakeasies and procured more liquor. Then, the night growing cool, they appropriated a large closed car, and in it found a revolver and hunting knife. Thus reinforced they robbed five other persons, collecting in all about $88. Flynn was in the street at Center avenue and Graham street when they attacked him at 5 a. m. He tried to grasp the gun from Michael Ferrero when it was discharged, the boys said, accidentally. The bullet entered his side. He died the next day at the Homeopathic Hospital.

LAY CORNERSTONE AT KAUFMANN SETTLEMENT

The Irene Kaufmann Settlement of Pittsburgh today will lay the cornerstone of its new buildings, made possible by the additional generous gift of Henry Kaufmann, of New York and Pittsburgh.

Louis J. Affelder, president of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement will act as chairman of the ceremonies and will lay the cornerstone. Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson, rabbi of Rodef Shalom Temple will speak. Short addresses will be made by Irvin F. Lehman, president of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of Pittsburgh, and Sidney A. Teller, director of the settlement. A box will be placed in the cornerstone, containing some interesting documents and photographs connected with the history of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement and of Pittsburgh.

The total cost of the land, buildings and equipment of the new addition will exceed $625,000.

VETERAN SOUTH FORKS MAIL CARRIER DIES

SOUTH FORK, Pa., Sept. 18.—John Madigan, 73, mail carrier for 25 years, died suddenly of heart failure last night.

Kidnaped American Freed

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—E. J. Bumstead, American mining engineer held a prisoner by Mexican bandits in the State of Nayarit for three weeks, has been released, the State Department announced.

The department was so advised by Joseph C. Satterthwaite, vice consul at Guadalajara, who reported that Bumsted left for Ixtlan immediately after being set free.

Details attending his release were not disclosed in the message from Satterthwaite. The department is of the opinion, however, the bandits gave Bumsted his freedom when the danger of a conflict with Federal troops, who were closing in on them in the mountains, presented itself.

Bumsted was seized August 25, when he went to Nayarit to open and operate the Humbolt mine.

Steps were taken instantly by the consuls at Guadalajara and Mazatlan, and by Ambassador Morrow to effect his release. The aid of the Mexican government and the military head of the state of Nayarit was enlisted, and the chase started.

The bandits retorted with a demand for ransom, warning that Bumsted would be killed if the soldiers attempted to rescue him.

BROTHER MISSING, LEAVES ESTATE TO CRIPPLED TOTS

Unless a long missing brother returns, the bulk of the $15,000 estate of Beatrice F. Cullen, who died recently in Miami, Fla., eventually will go to institutions for crippled children, she devises in her will probated today.

The entire estate is left in trust to the testator's sister, Alice M. West, of the Hotel Henry. At her death, $5,000 goes to Elizabeth Gordon, a friend, and the remainder to the testator's brother, Frank Cullen, from whom no word has been received for seven years, providing he appears within two years of Mrs. West's death. Otherwise the $10,000 share is to be distributed to aid crippled children.

Two Tarentum women disposed of estates valued at $19,000 in their wills probated today. Mrs. Elizabeth Schneider left $11,000 to her five children, Clara Jacobs, Frances Lechner, Margaret Schmidt, Joseph Schneider and Gertrude Kreamer. Emma Duphorn bequeathed $8,000 to seven nephews and nieces.

PGH.-WASH. AIR MAIL TO BE CONSIDERED, NEW SAYS

Those who are striving to give Pittsburgh a conspicuous position on the air map were encouraged today by a letter from Postmaster General Harry S. New, promising "appropriate consideration" to the suggestion that an air mail route be established between this city and Washington, and expressing gratification over the "air-mindedness" being shown here.

The letter, received by James F. Malone, president of City Council, and read in the Council meeting yesterday, follows:

"I have your telegram of September 10, asking for information as to when an air mail route between Pittsburgh and Washington will be established.

"A few days ago a delegation visited this department for the purpose of urging that consideration be given to the establishment of such a route.

"The matter is now being given consideration in connection with the expansion of the air mail system. I am glad to note your interest in this subject as manifested by your telegram and you may be assured that the matter will be given appropriate consideration."

SCORES DROWN AS HURRICANE LASHES LAKE

STORM SWEEPS WATERS OVER TOWNS

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Reports that trickled in from the Lake Okeechobee area today told of death and suffering, wrought by the tropical storm which hit that section Sunday.

At Belleglade, settlement on the southeastern shore of Lake Okeechobee 20 residents were reported dead, most of them from drowning in the flood waters of the lake. Word of the loss of life was brought to relief headquarters at Lake Worth by Homer Dixon and W. E. Meeker, members of a relief expedition.

One man was known to have been killed at Okeechobee, they said, and it is feared that others lost their lives.

Injured persons at Belleglade numbered at least 30, Dixon and Meeker told officials at Lake Worth. The town has a normal population of 500. They said that waters of the lake had flowed into the town.

From Pahokee, on the eastern shore of Lake Okeechobee some distance north of Belleglade, came reports that some persons had drowned when waters from the lake overflowed the settlement. Fifty persons were reported injured.

This information was brought to Miami by James W. Grant. At least 10 bodies of persons who lost their lives in the flood had been recovered. Grant said the countryside for miles on either side was inundated from the waters of the lake.

DEATH CAR PAIR HELD

DRINKING PARTY REVEALED AT HEARING

Two "spooning drivers"—a girl of 19, a man of 57—were held for court on manslaughter charges by a coroner's jury today. Genevieve Fitzpatrick, 5122 Carnegie avenue, was the girl, Joseph Brizzle, of 5204 Keystone street, the man. They were driving Brizzle's car when, it was testified, the machine struck and killed Mike Stafnik, of 969 East Ohio street, in that street August 13, and injured three others.

A dancing and drinking party in a Glenshaw roadhouse preceded the killing, according to testimony. Genevieve's sister, Beatrice Fitzpatrick, 17, told the coroner that on the return ride Brizzle had one arm around Genevieve, who was driving, and the other on the steering wheel.

Three girls were in the car with Brizzle when it struck down Stafnik and injured three others. The third girl, Grace A. Fellinger, of 5222 Butler street, testified that Brizzle, drunk, had asked Genevieve to drive the car.

The three injured victims paraded into the hearing room on crutches and testified that they hadn't seen or heard the death car. They were Frank Lowe and Joseph Stafnik, of 969 East Ohio street, and Charles Ward of 979 East Ohio street.

English Sports Coats Use Tweed and Downy Wool

Tailored in Straight or Slightly Princess Lines. Remarkable at Only

Who but the English, with their real flair for sports clothes, could create such masterful coats? Two distinctive models for town, country, travel and motoring are featured . . . the straight-line coat which uses two tones of checkered brown wool . . . marvelously soft and marvelously warm. Then the coat, sketched, which lauds the supremacy of tweed for sports, its own tweed flecked with brown, grey, or deep blue. Note the fitted princess line . . . imagine the youth it gives! The slender flat collars on both models suggest the use of a fur scarf. Excellent coats for late September and October wear.

Men! There's Something About Parkleigh Suits

That Makes Them Universally Admired. Sold Exclusively at Gimbels

Man to man . . . there is little to be desired in the way PARKLEIGH 2-trouser suits are tailored. When you admire a man's appearance, you are unconsciously admiring his clothes . . . and in Parkleigh that "something" is always to be perceived. The models . . . for young men and men . . . are correct. The fabrics offer a wide choice. And the colors represent the newest. The extra pair of trousers, of course, doubles the service you'll get from it.

Parkleigh Toppers Also $39

The new single-breasted box topcoat, so popular this season, is shown in the new tans, browns and grays, beautifully tailored, and finished in a manner that you find in much higher priced garments. The price is one you'll like to pay.

WOMAN MAKES KILL

Tigers in India provide great sport, Lady Mary Herbert, London, now visiting in the United States, is telling all her friends. Lady Mary is the wife of Capt. J. A. Herbert, British Royal Horse Guards, and both (above) are just back from big game hunting. Lady Mary sat up all night—she says you have to do it—and shot a tiger at dawn.

USED WATER, NOT BUCKET, REVIVING MATE, SAYS WIFE

Esther W. Pillichody, 1122 Race street, West Park, McKees Rocks, denies that she struck her husband, Otto C. Pillichody, 214 Steuben street who is suing for divorce, with a 10-gallon pail.

She also denies that she ever used vile or abusive language or knocked him off a porch as he alleged in a bill of particulars in Common Pleas Court.

Mrs. Pillichody, through her counsel, William C. Gill, filed her answer yesterday to the accusations made against her by her husband. She asserts her husband was subject to fainting spells and that, on advice of a physician, she did dash water into his face, when he showed signs of having such spells. She says she has wanted her husband to resume their marriage relations, but that he refused. She denies that she was abusive to him or that she said she wished he were dead.

Mr. Pillichody recently filed an action charging his wife with indignities and she demanded a bill of particulars. The couple were married in 1920.

"Strike" Settled, Southern Series To be Resumed

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 18. — (AP.)—The playoff series between Memphis and Birmingham to decide the Southern Association pennant will begin at Birmingham today as scheduled, a "strike" of the Memphis club having been settled.

Refused a bonus by Thomas R. Watkins, president of the Memphis club, the players, with the exception of Manager Prothro, refused to entrain for Birmingham Sunday night and their action threatened to preclude the post-season series.

FROM THIS RARE Empire silver coffee pot after-dinner coffee is served to Mrs. Wilson's guests in the drawing room. Her butler pours the fragrant Maxwell House into fragile cups decorated with Mrs. Wilson's monogram, while a second man offers cream and sugar.

GOLD CANDLE STICKS, a gold ewer and a gold table service gleam in soft candle light on the table set for a dinner in Mrs. Wilson's New York apartment.

MRS. RICHARD T. WILSON

of Newport and New York

Confesses to a real Philosophy of Hospitality

MRS. RICHARD T. WILSON—whose generous hospitality finds expression in the most brilliant affairs of the New York and Newport seasons. Mrs. Wilson entertains extensively at Saratoga, also, when Society moves there for the races.

"Every dinner I give still seems to me something of a challenge, and I try to overlook nothing that might contribute to a sense of well-being among my guests. Naturally I am particular about the coffee that is served; no single detail seems to me more important. I believe that it is the blend of many fine flavors in Maxwell House that makes this coffee a general favorite."

M T Wilson

WHEREVER the social season is at its height—New York, Newport, Saratoga—Mrs. Richard T. Wilson opens one of her magnificent houses and inaugurates a series of social functions of outstanding brilliance.

Perhaps the most charming—and certainly not the least distinguished—of all, are the musicales which Mrs. Wilson arranges each winter for the benefit of young artists; for Mrs. Wilson is herself an artist of considerable reputation.

That is why, no doubt, she appreciates the inspiration and the patience that have produced the matchless blend of Maxwell House Coffee. No single coffee grown can equal it.

Years ago a gentleman of the Old South with a cultivated taste in coffee tried hundreds of single coffees to find the perfect coffee flavor;—none of them would do. He combined and re-combined them—until at last he made a blend of choice coffees that fully met his exacting standard.

That blend of choice coffees is Maxwell House and today the most important hostesses in America serve Maxwell House Coffee.

Once you've tasted its delicious blended flavor, you'll insist on Maxwell House at your own table and on your own breakfast tray.

"BREAKFAST FOR MR. ROOSEVELT!" represents just one of the historic incidents that crowd the story of the famous old Maxwell House in Nashville. The distinguished travelers who visited this renowned hotel first carried throughout the United States the tale of Maxwell House Coffee and its perfect blended flavor. Today Maxwell House is the chosen coffee of the hostesses all over America whose words are social laws.

BUGS BAER Says

ANOTHER happy orchestration in the prosperity of America is the news that we have gathered the greatest crop of all time.

This crop matured on the fifteenth of the month. It is a combination of alfalfa, wheat, straw and frayed edges.

It is the only harvest accumulated in big towns and it consists of straw hats of all shapes, sizes and lumps.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

There were 30,000,000 hay skimmers in this gigantic load. And they were certainly over-ripe.

We don't know why we should cancel the interwoven helmets on the fifteenth of September.

There is no law against them. It just seems to be public sentiment. Every man we know discards his straw trump on the fifteenth of September and blooms forth in a baggy fedora with crown fenders.

We admit that there is nothing chillier than a straw shako trimmed with icicles. But butchers wear their straw lids all year round and we see no reason why the South Pole should be discovered in a fur toque.

Yet, the first time the North Pole was supposed to have been tagged, the experts looked at the pictures and said:

"There is something Conan Doyle-ish about this alleged discovery. The Eskimos are wearing alfalfa bonnets."

Investigation proved that the expedition was the needles. The discoverer of the frozen custard admitted that he has simply decided to gain fame, fortune and investigation by posing against a whitewashed lamppost.

His life was ruined because he had worn a straw hat after September fifteenth.

So, even if you are brave, fearless and unmarried, do not jeopardize your career by trying to climb the matterhorn in an opera hat.

Custom decrees that you must dress correctly for all occasions. And even a rubber in a turkish bath must bow to conventions when riding in a street car.

Anybody wearing a straw dish may expect to get bopped over the skull with a baseball bat. We don't know why this custom also prevails but it does.

KIDDIN' THE KANDIDATES

By C. H. J.

Governor Smith evidently believed that the Democratic platform was suffering from too much "dry" rot.

After Mr. Hoover finished with his speech of acceptance, about the only thing left for the Democrats to claim was the election.

If Governor Smith can get enough ballots out of that brown derby of his to win the election then the Society of Magicians will elect him an honorary member.

Since they were going after the Democratic scalp, it was a wise move on part of the Republicans to put an Indian on the ticket.

The average political debate that one hears in a barber shop or on the street corner develops more heat than light.

With two such burning issues as Prohibition and Religion, this promises to be the hottest campaign in history.

Frank & Seder during their 20th Anniversary sale will unite voters of every political belief on a platform of Economy.

It's strange that Republican orators stumble over a word as smooth as oil.

The sentimental young lady who wants to send a kiss to her favorite candidate will probably mark an X on her ballot with a lipstick.

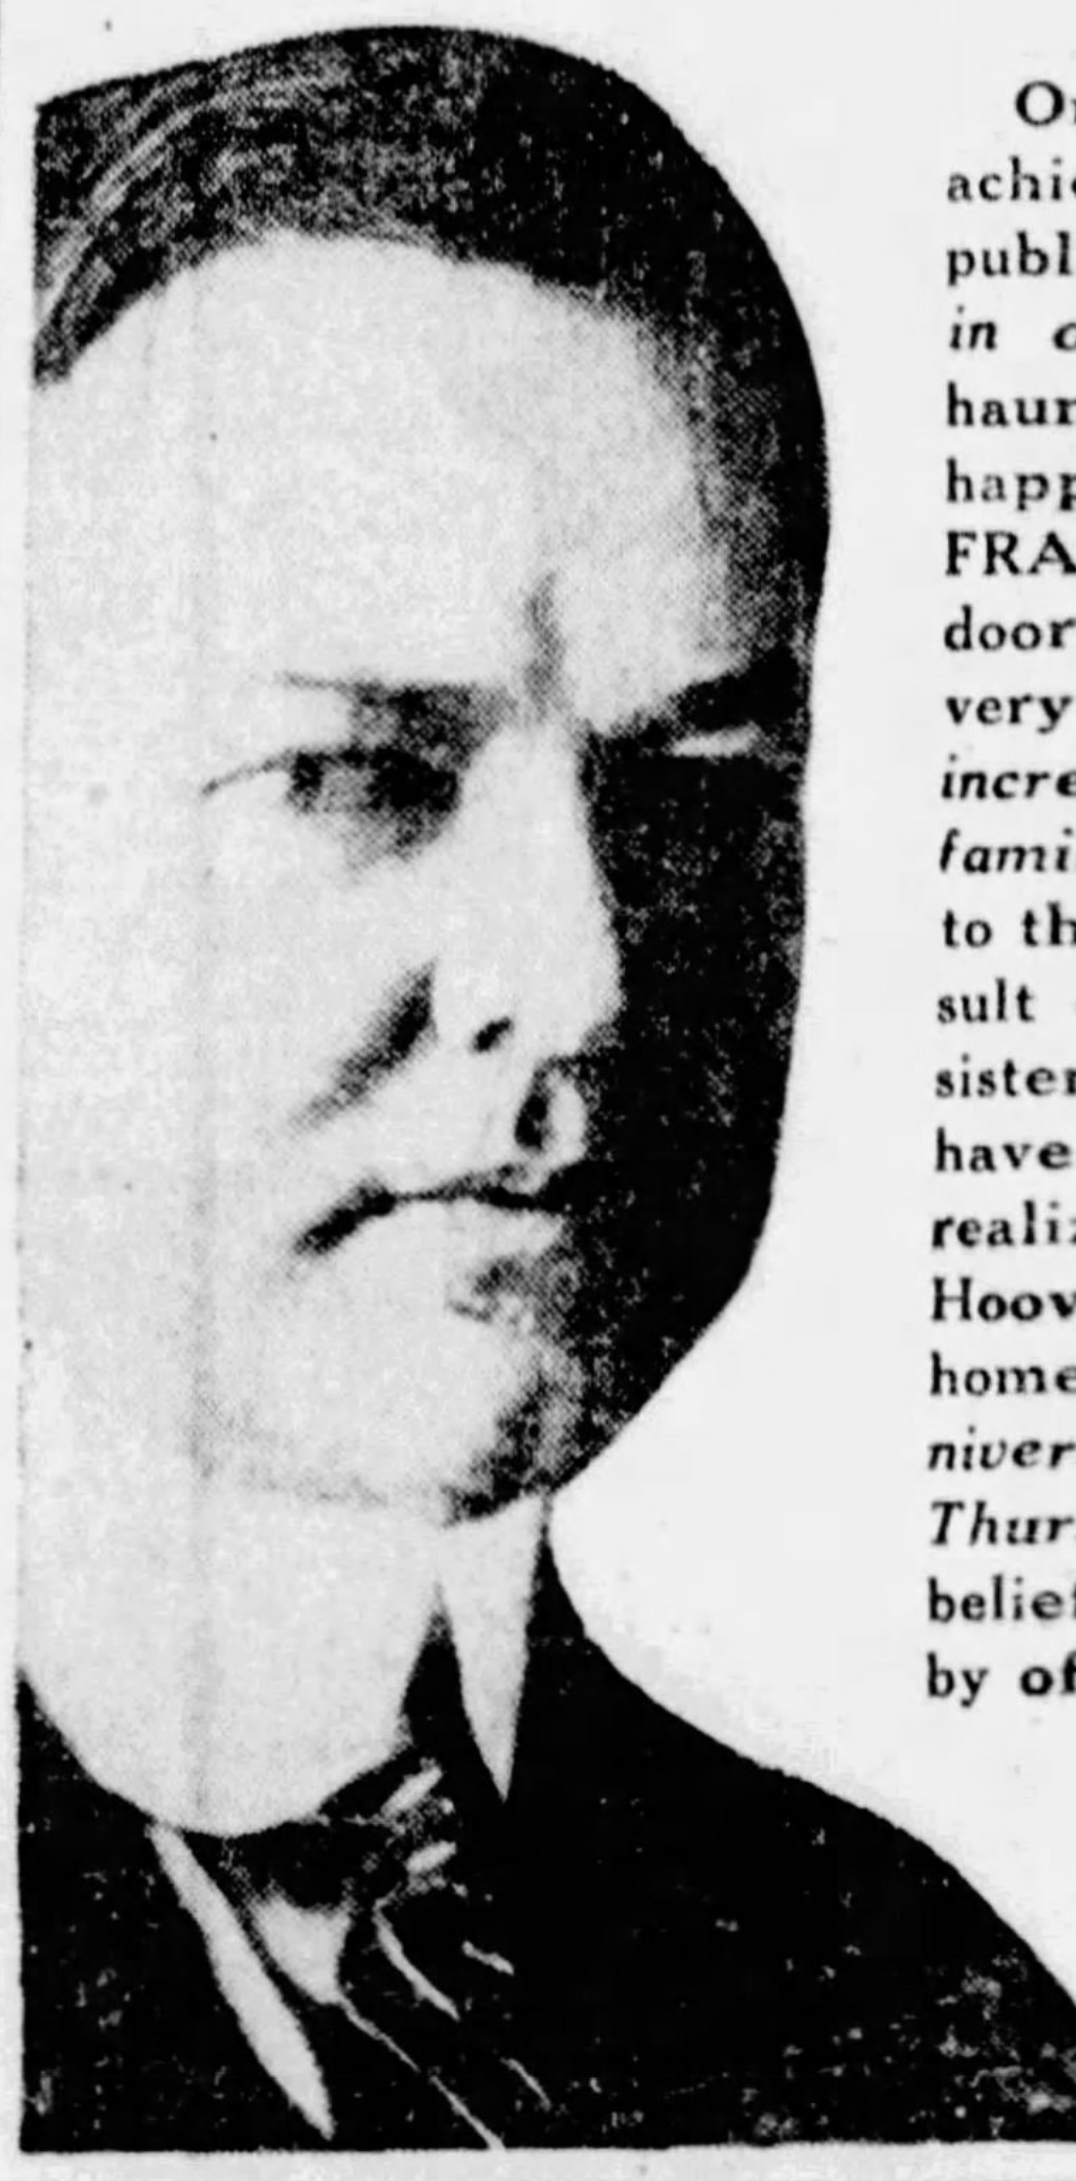
What the candidates fear more than anything else when the time comes to mark the ballots is the double cross.

Don't wait for either Hoover or Smith to introduce a program of economy for you. Do it yourself by coming to FRANK & SEDER 20TH ANNIVERSARY SALE.

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1928

Herbert Hoover Wants Happier Homes Throughout the Nation



One of the surest ways of achieving the ambition of the Republican candidate is to live within one's income. A household haunted by Debt cannot be a happy one. From the day that FRANK & SEDER opened the doors twenty years ago until this very day we have endeavored to increase the buying power of the family purse. We have appealed to the thrift instinct, and as a result of that policy followed consistently through the years, we have contributed our share to realize the hope of Herbert Hoover—the creation of happier homes. And during this 20th Anniversary Sale, which begins Thursday, we shall reaffirm our belief in the value of Economy by offering the families of Western Pennsylvania the opportunity to purchase needed merchandise at far less than prevailing prices.

Governor Smith Says He's For the Common People

The Democratic candidate says that he is for the common people. That he wants every man to have an equal opportunity to make good. We endorse those sentiments. FRANK & SEDER has always been the store for the common people—the great wage-earning fraternity in this greatest of all industrial centers. It has been our aim to offer merchandise correctly styled and of dependable quality at prices within easy reach of the average family purse. Frills and furbelows never had a place in our storekeeping. That is why the wage-earner could always purchase more merchandise value for his money at FRANK & SEDER'S. A striking demonstration of this policy will be in evidence during our 20th Anniversary Sale, which begins Thursday, when, instead of showing appreciation of public goodwill with souvenirs, music and flowers, we are going to say "THANK YOU!" with values that mean savings.

Sweeping Aside Every Other Issue, the Public of Western Pennsylvania Will Throw Themselves Into the Campaign for Lower Prices to Be Launched by Frank & Seder

There has been a lot of talk about ECONOMY in this country. But it seems that we have more talkers than doers. We have no intention of making a campaign speech, but we are going to invite every man and woman in this community to SAVE MONEY on SEASONABLE NEEDED FALL AND WINTER MERCHANDISE. It is an invitation without any strings to it. If you really want to economize your opportunity is here.

We have been in business TWENTY YEARS and we owe a real debt of gratitude to the buying public for having made possible our growth from a small store to our present great institution, doing a volume of business totaling many millions annually. So, in appreciation of this goodwill, we intend to distribute

Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Men's, Women's and Children's Apparel! Rugs! Draperies! Lamps! Silks! Domestics! Blankets, Etc.

AT COST, A TRIFLE ABOVE COST AND A LITTLE BELOW COST

It has taken months to plan and to prepare this, the year's outstanding event. It has involved literally hundreds of manufacturers, who have co-operated most generously with us to make this a real value-giving celebration. They have sacrified their profits on brand new Fall and Winter goods and we in turn have reduced our normal low profit, so that a DOUBLE SAVING is actually in force for the customer during this sale.

It is impossible to assemble enough of these super values to offer for any length of time, so we have confined this ANNIVERSARY SALE to 15 DAYS. It will begin on THURSDAY (the day after tomorrow), and end on SATURDAY, October 6.

At the beginning of a season, when REGULAR PRICES are in force throughout the entire country, we offer merchandise at ACTUAL CUT PRICES.

LOOK UP YOUR TRAIN SCHEDULES FOR THURSDAY

We are very anxious to have our great army of Suburban customers take advantage of this Anniversary Sale. It is the one time when we have an opportunity to show our out-of-town friends just how much we value their patronage and to what extent we appreciate the part they have played in building up the big Frank & Seder business during the past twenty years.

The savings will repay many times the cost of a trip to the city. Arrange your home affairs so you can come, not alone on Thursday, the opening day, but many times during the sale, which continues until October 6th. The oftener you come the oftener you save.

Now Is a Good Time TO OPEN A CHARGE ACCOUNT

We know that because of the extraordinary values during our Anniversary Sale, which begins Thursday, thousands of new customers will be attracted to our store. Many of them may desire the convenience of a Charge Account and our Credit Manager, Col. Blackstone, will receive their application on our Fifth Floor.

EVEN MERCHANDISE HAS TO TAKE AN EXAMINATION

One of the features of the preparation for this Anniversary Sale is the examination of the merchandise that has been assembled by the buyers. And after the most rigid tests as to desirability of the offering, from the standpoint of style, quality and value, the following statement is issued:

We, the undersigned members of the Store Committee of Frank & Seder, after personally examining the merchandise to be advertised during the 20th Anniversary, have approved the offerings as of such exceptional worth as to measure up to the high standard of value-giving demanded by this event.

Incidents in Connection With the Beginning of the Frank & Seder Store Recalled by One of the Founders

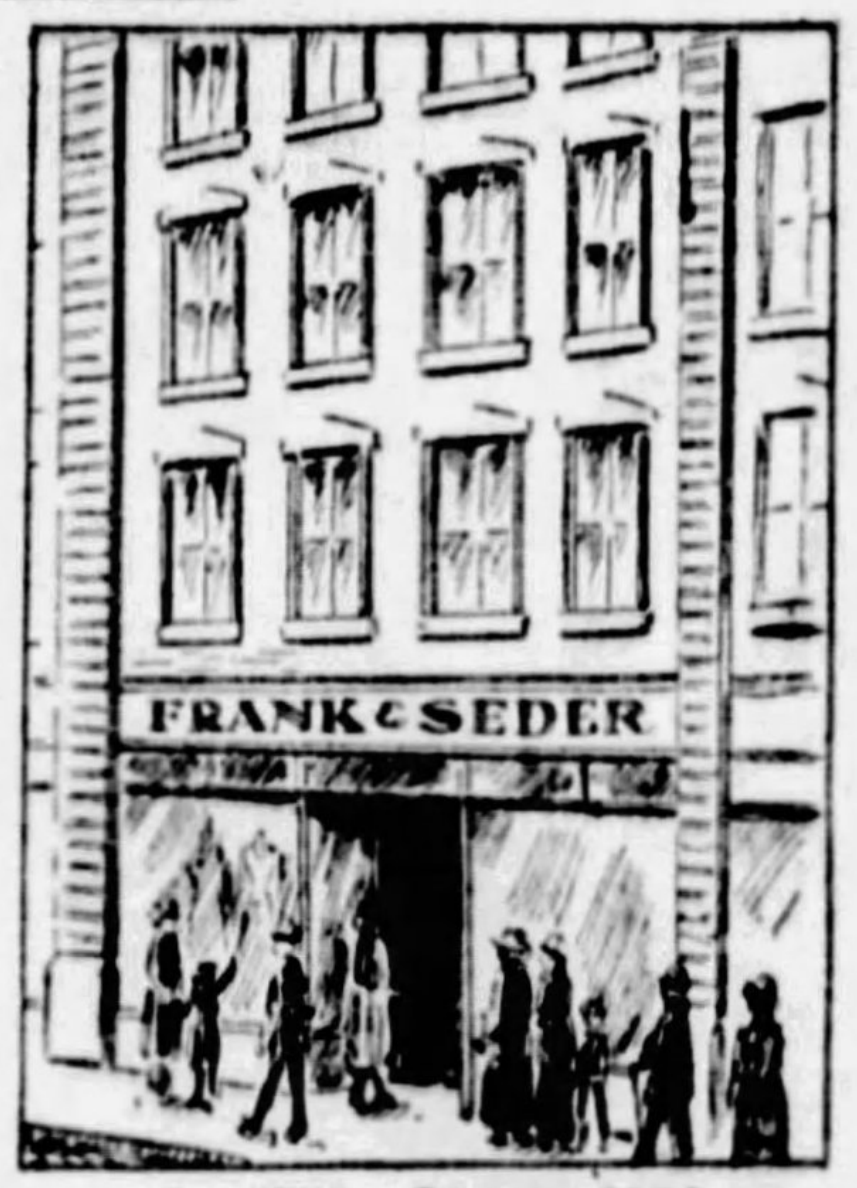
In an interview with Mr. J. H. Frank, one of the founders of the Frank & Seder store, a SUN-TELEGRAPH reporter was regaled with some of the high lights in the business world of twenty years ago.

"The story has been told," said Mr. Frank, "that our being in the retail business is due to an accident. For several years before coming down town we were wholesalers and jobbers in women's apparel in outer Fifth avenue. In the year 1907 we found ourselves heavily overstocked, times were bad and it was hard to dispose of the merchandise even at a loss. So we made up our mind to rent a downtown storeroom, and by selling garments on a very close margin of profit and underselling competition that we might be able to dispose of our surplus stocks to the public instead of to the retail merchant.

"We sold women's suits as low as $10, a price never heard of in those days. We sold coats for $9.95 and $14.95 and they were wonderful values, too. The people were looking for bargains because times were bad, and there was a great deal of unemployment. So it seems that we appeared on the scene just at the psychological moment. Well, the first day we opened we were crowded. And in a few weeks' time the whole town was talking about the new Bargain Store that had opened. Then we decided to close out our wholesale business. The retail field looked much more promising. But we took our cue from the public. We discovered the secret of success. Give the public values, first, last and all the time. And that has been our policy from that day to this.

Nothing Fancy About Frank & Seder

"We believe in giving good service and having a well-kept store, but our policy has never been to load down the cost of merchandise with 'atmosphere.' We believe that most people want to buy the best article of merchandise they can find at the best price and if you give them what they want when they want it and at the price they want to pay, they will come. We found from experience that we could afford to give the customer better values by eliminating frills and furbelows.



Our First Store—1908

This Anniversary that we are about to celebrate is an example of what I mean. We are not giving away souvenirs and flowers and music. But we are going to show our appreciation of the public's good will, by selling them something they need for a whole lot less than prevailing prices. That means a great deal to a family where the head is a wage-earner and they have several children to clothe. We have always had great respect for the value of money and we know how fathers and mothers feel when they have to figure carefully on their family budget. They are glad of every opportunity to save, and Frank & Seder have always been glad of the opportunity to help them save."

Advertising Has Been of Great Help

In reply to a question from the reporter, Mr. Frank said that newspaper advertising has unquestionably been the best medium in the development of their business to its present big proportions, in the past twenty years. He said that once in the early years of their store keeping, they had only two show windows and one of these had to be dispensed with temporarily to allow for remodeling. They invested ten thousand dollars additional in newspaper advertising and they never missed the window. Mr. Frank pointed out that all one had to do to find out whether they believed in newspaper advertising was to look at the papers. And he suggested that we tell our readers that they might watch for the big Anniversary ad that will appear tomorrow, Wednesday night.

A Word of Thanks

Mr. Frank also asked that an expression of appreciation be included in this interview, to the buying public, for their generous support all through the years. He believes that the customer is a partner in the business, and an important partner too. He wants to assure the public that on the eve of the Twentieth Anniversary of the Frank & Seder business, they rededicate themselves to the task of serving the vast industrial community of Western Pennsylvania with those methods of honorable business dealing, with those merchandising and value-giving policies that have done so much to encourage economy among the thrifty. Quality and style will never be sacrificed for price—but style and quality without extravagance will be the policy. "And," said Mr. Frank, as a parting word I invite every family in this section to attend our Anniversary party, which will last fifteen days. In my name you can promise them values that will save them a great deal of money. Now is the time to buy and to save."

BONE PILE PROBED

KEY TO SKULL MYSTERY IS SOUGHT

County detectives and deputy coroners today are conducting an investigation into the finding of bones of six and possibly seven adult humans unearthed by men excavating for a new building at North and Lincoln avenues, Millvale, yesterday.

Six skulls and a part of another skull were found after the men had dug 15 feet and were cutting a trench for a sewer line when they made their gruesome find. Authorities who interviewed some of the oldest residents in the borough were mystified upon learning that nobody could recall a cemetery in that locality.

Morgue Superintendent John P. Black said that the bones had been buried about 50 years.

3 FILE DIVORCE SUITS HERE

Jeanette M. Stewart, 5906 Howe street, wants a divorce from Robert E. Stewart on the grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment. The couple were married in 1915 and separated in 1928.

Esther Manion, 1232 Stransmore street, North Side, who was married to George P. Manion, 13 Island avenue, January 11, 1927, has applied for a divorce. She says her husband was cruel to her. They parted March 25 last.

Clarence S. Wirsing, 710 South avenue, Wilkinsburg, who charges his wife, Gertrude S. Wirsing, 700 Hopkins street, Sewickley, with desertion, wants a divorce. The couple were married in 1920.

TAXICAB PASSENGER INJURED IN COLLISION

David R. Grant, 23, of 5523 Baywood avenue, was cut and bruised early today when a taxicab in which he was riding and another machine collided at Madison and Spring Garden avenues, North Side. He was treated at Presbyterian Hospital. The drivers of the two automobiles were arrested.

Woman Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Denver, Colo.—"I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and will take more. I am taking it as a tonic to help me through the Change of Life and I am telling many of my friends to take it as I found nothing before this to help me. I had so many bad feelings at night that I could not sleep and for two years I could not go down town because I was afraid of falling. My mother took the Vegetable Compound years ago with good results and now I am taking it during the Change of Life and recommend it."—Mrs. T. A. Miller, 1611 Adams Street, Denver, Colorado.

HARNESS SHOP'S "HORSE" BRINGS $47.50 AS ANTIQUE

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—A dappled grey wooden horse, used 50 years ago as an advertisement for a Pennsylvania Dutch harness shop, was sold yesterday for $47.50 at the closing session of the four-day auction sale of antiques at the Fountain House here.

Mrs. Robert Beaumont, of Radnor, Pa., was the purchaser.

More than 8,000 pieces were sold for $80,000 during the sale. Prices ranged from 25 cents to $4,400.

Paul Revere lanterns brought from $5 to $10. A walnut grandfather's clock made in Reading was sold to the Doylestown Inn for $235.

Now "Rio Rita" Caps the Climax Of Ziegfeld's Musical Shows In Color, Melody and Laughs

GEORGE SEIBEL

ANOTHER musical comedy of rainbow radiance and tinkling tunefulness burst upon the Pittsburgh public last night when "Rio Rita," which held New York for two seasons, was presented at the Nixon Theater. It is about the last word in color, rhythm, melody and motion. There are lyrics that sing themselves, dances that would electrify the Seven Sleepers, and costumes that must have kept the silk-worms of China and the cochineal insects of the South Sea busy to provide the stuffs and the dyes. In other words, "Rio Rita" is the most colossal show the prodigal Mr. Ziegfeld has produced. But the best thing about it is that it is not merely vast—it also has everything the exacting connoisseur could demand, from stage settings of the richest kind to comedy of the raciest.

There are voices of splendid quality—especially Ethelind Terry, who sang Rio Rita, and J. Harold Murray, who sang the Texas Ranger. There are funmakers who stir gales of laughter—especially Marie Dayne, Robert Woolsey and Bert Wheeler. There are dancers who range from sinuous grace to extreme eccentricity—especially Al Clair and Gladys Delzell. And then there are choruses, ballets, show girls and a whole host of others who wind in and out of the plot. There are Aztec Goddesses and Jumping Beans, Pirates and Johnnies; they wear the most gorgeous head-dresses and swirl the most ravishing shawls—and it is all one continual round of merriment, melody and magical color.

The scene is laid on the Mexican border, and the plot concerns the love of the Texas Ranger for the beautiful Spanish girl, whose brother is put under suspicion of being the outlaw Kinkajou through the machinations of the villain, portrayed in true melodramatic fashion by Vincent Serrano. The plot is worked out with coherence and consistency, while the comedy element is its own justification. When a comedian is really funny, no one asks how he got into the scene—and these comedians are funny. The two-table cabaret scene of the second act is side-splitting, and so is the absurd dance and song of Woolsey and Dayne, "I Can Speak Espagnol." Most entrancing of all, however, is the "Rio Rita" song that runs through the score like a golden thread. This music is not great, but it is ingratiating, which may be even better than greatness.

Stage settings by Joseph Urban, score by Harry Tierney and Joseph McCarthy, book by Guy Bolton and Fred Thompson, all have given Mr. Ziegfeld every opportunity to be lavish, and he has been extravagant. The result is about the last word in musical comedy—a whirling rainbow of girls and a tornado of thrilling tunes. It raises one serious question: What can this man Ziegfeld do next to equal this climax?"

VAUDEVILLE, FILM SHERIDAN FEATURES

One of the highlights in the vaudeville bill being offered in the Sheridan Square this week is a skit, "New York," which is being presented by Maud Powers and Vernon Wallace. Another highlight is a miniature musical comedy, "Havana Bound," which offers seven singers, dancers and comedians. Sandy Shaw, billed as Scotland's character entertainer, tells the one about the Scotchman and sings some songs. Tony Bell and Buster Albert are two Italian diplomats, who endeavor to solve the world's problems and who succeed in making the laughs. Ossie and Linko offer a gymnastic novelty. The photoplay is "The Night Bird," a Reginald Denny comedy. An organlogue and news pictures are on the bill.

HERE WE PRESENT :-: SOME ARTISTS :-: OF SHOW PROGRAMS

Ethelind Terry, leading woman of "Rio Rita," Ziegfeld music play in Nixon.

Mary Dowling, appearing in skit in season's opening vaudeville bill in Davis.

Charles (Buddy) Rogers, one of a featured trio in "Wings," Stanley photoplay.

Vilma Banky is on the Penn screen, co-starred with Ronald Colman in "Two Lovers."

Margaret Mann plays the featured mother role in "Four Sons," on Aldine screen.

Nancy Carroll, of the cast of "The Water Hole," photoplay in Grand and Liberty.

LIBBY DANCERS IN DAVIS

The reopening of the Davis Theater yesterday brought a most attractive dancing feature—"Sports a la Mode," in which seven girls and one man, collectively called the Libby Dancers, gave a dashing exhibition of terpsichorean ginger and novel costumes. Another big hit was the comedy act of George Lane and Byrd Byron, who kept the audience in an uproar with their wise cracks and imitations of "anything that flies." Frank Wheeler and Dorothy Sands were amusing with their upside-down poetry, while Lowell B. Drew with Mary Dowling gave a humorous drugstore sketch. Equilibrium feats by Prince Tokio and songs by the Four Dales completed the vaudeville program. The screen feature was "Chicken a la King," in which Nancy Carroll plays a gold-digging chorus girl and Ford Sterling a truant husband. The thing turns into hectic burlesque, but keeps the ball of mirth rolling to the end.

"GLORIOUS BETSY" IS REGENT PHOTOPLAY

The Regent this week is presenting the Vitaphone picture, "Glorious Betsy." There is some dialogue, sound effects and vocal music. Dolores Costello is the star, and Conrad Nagel has the leading male role. The cast includes John Miljan, Marc McDermott, Michael Vavitch, Paul Panzer, Betty Blythe and Clarissa Selwynne. The photoplay is based on the historic love between Betsy Patterson, belle of Baltimore, and Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon. Short screen entertainment completes the bill.

TWINS AMUSE IN HARIS

There's lots of entertainment in the vaudeville bill which opened a three-day engagement in the Harris yesterday. The feature is a skit, "Twins," presented by Jack DeBell and two pairs of twins, the Moore boys and the Bardley sisters. The fun centers around a confusion of identities, with Jack putting the finishing touches on the comedy. And, by the way of variety, the twins do some neat stepping on four pairs of feet. Vera Cole offers a pleasing song act. Sid Townes comes along with a rapid-fire monologue and drags in the Unknown Soldier to help him put over some sentimental moments. Murray and Maddox create lots of laughs as a hungry girl and a stingy boy. The girl has a restaurant complex and the boy has fish hooks in his pocket. Frank Shields swings a lariat and makes humorous comments. The vaudeville show closes with a couple of strong boys displaying just how strong they are. The photoplay is "The Night Bird," a comedy starring Reginald Denny. News pictures and an organlogue are on the bill.

COLMAN, BANKY IN PENN

"Two Lovers," screen attraction in the Penn this week, presents Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky in a film version of the novel "Leatherface," by Baron Orczy, the locale being Flanders in the time of occupancy of Ghent by Spanish forces. It details the adventures of the mysterious "Leatherface," played by Colman, in delivering his country from the enemy and the winning of a daughter of Spain as his bride, after she had disclosed him to his foes, from whom he is later rescued through her aid. Miss Banky plays this role. It is a picture of romance and action of average entertainment quality. Mr. Colman and Miss Banky leave nothing to be desired in the matter of portrayals, and Noah Beery gives his usual malevolence to his charactrization of a Spanish officer. On the stage, under the title of "Teeing Off," Rome and Dunn and Alice Wellman sing well, Earl La Vere emits a joke a second and plays the accordion, Teddy Joyce plays the violin and dances, Duffin and Draper dance, and the Gamby-Hale Girls dance and sing. Duffin and Draper, who are from Pittsburgh and give a real outstanding performance, and the funny Mr. La Vere score the greater hits. Dick Leibert's organlogue sets the audience singing lustily for Hoover and Smith. The overture also is appreciated.

HOLT IS GREY HERO STAR

Jack Holt is a Zane Grey hero again. As such he helps with the romance and the he-man type in "Water Hole," current photoplay in the Grand and Liberty. In the drama there's a society girl who needs taming and Jack sets about to tame her. Kidnaping her, he carries her off to the desert. There, in a cliff house, they throw kitchen utensils at each other and so on until he finally spanks her. At this moment a society sheik comes on the scene and prepares to take the girl back to her father. In the meantime their horses have been stolen and they find themselves stranded in the desert—20 miles from the nearest water hole. But it all ends in glorious style with Jack and the girl in one of those happy-ever-after fadeouts. Short film entertainment is offered in both theaters. The Liberty also has a stage presentation.

HEART THROBS IN ALDINE

If Mamie, the stenog., were expressing her opinion to Tillie, the file clerk, as to the merits of "Four Sons," photoplay showing in the Aldine, she likely would say it is "a real swell movie." And Mamie would be right. It is a "swell" one. It is one that digs right down under the skin and takes hold of the deeper emotions and wrenches them. And what does it take to do that? Usually a simple, casual story of simple folks, and that is what "Four Sons" is. Based on the story, "Mother Bernle Learns Her Letters," it is a film tale of the sacrifice of a kindly German frau whose four sons participate in the World War, three on the side of the Fatherland and the fourth in the American ranks. It is a real sacrifice, and that will suffice for the whole story. It contains a wealth of characterization of types from the genial village postman, who makes the delivery of a letter a ceremony, to the cruel and stiff-necked military officer, the memory of whose blow made one of the sons willing to fight for his adopted country. There, too, is the affable innkeeper, the pompous but human burgomaster and dozens of others, all acted by real actors. And all their activities are centered in Mother Bernle, just a simple old-world mother, typed by Margaret Mann in an impression that will live long in the minds of those who see her. As a whole it is a picture of pathos, but it has its moments of brightness, too, and a few diverting scenes that approach comedy in a reverent way. The bill also includes a laughable "talkie" comedy and news picture with dialogue and other sound effects.

'WINGS' SHOWN IN STANLEY

"Wings," that remarkable photoplay of aviation in the World War, did not have all local interest expended upon it during its run of several weeks here in the Nixon, judging from the crowds attending the first screeneing of the air drama in the Stanley yesterday. Its presentation now includes all the startling sound effects that were in evidence on its original showing. "Wings" is the story of three young aviators and a girl in France, and around them revolves the action of warfare in the air and in barracks, sometimes grim and tragic, and sometimes romantic, but always highly interesting. Richard Arlen, Charles Rogers and Gary Cooper play the three youths, and Clara Bow is the girl, a Red Cross worker. Excellently acted, "Wings" also is a sensational exhibition of aerial fighting, with many thrills, the greatest of which comes when a descending airplane, its flier injured, ploughs into the side of a house. There is an atmospheric prologue and an overture, "Wings of Victory."

'ROADHOUSE' IN OLYMPIC

"Roadhouse" is the photoplay attraction in the Olympic. The photoplay is entertaining enough, though there's nothing very original about the plot. It has to do with a son whom an indulgent father allows to have his fling. Said fling takes the boy into the atmosphere of roadhouse night life. While he falls in with bad company in the roadhouse cabaret, father plays poker in a back room. Then there's a murder and the boy is accused. The picture opens with the murder trial in progress and then goes back and relates the happenings that lead up to the trial. When the verdict comes in, the boy goes free—but not until the judge tells the father a thing or two. Lionel Barrymore plays the father. Warren Burke and Maria Alba are in the cast. Short film entertainment is on the bill.

DR. TAYLOR LECTURES NOW IN CAMERAPHONE

The Cameraphone, East Liberty, houses the final week's engagement of Dr. M. Sayle Taylor's "Married Love." It will be shown for one week only. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday will be for women only, with Friday and Saturday shows for men. The program is the same as was presented for one month downtown.

42 SMALL CITIES SEND DELEGATES TO NEW CASTLE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Sept. 18.—Annual convention of the League of Third Class Cities, opening here today in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, is attended by delegates from the 42 third-class cities of Pennsylvania.

Among early arrivals was Fred H. Gates, of Wilkes-Barre, secretary of the league.

The convention opens with the singing of America and the invocation by the Rev. Philipp C. Pearson, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, followed by the address of welcome by Mayor William H. Gillespie, of New Castle, the president, and the response by the mayor of Pittston, Pa.

Delegates will be selected to serve on the James A. Gardner Memorial Committee, of which W. D. Kinney, superintendent of parks, at Erie, Pa., is chairman. There will be a discussion of "income received by cities other than taxes," by Walter H. Craig, of Chester, Pa., and Councilman W. T. Burns, of New Castle.

The delegates were to be shown the city sewage disposal plant at noon.

President Gillespie will name various committees after which A. A. Cochran, of Chester, will deliver an address on annexation.

City zoning, planning and civic development will be discussed by Francis J. Mulvihill, of Harrisburg; Leo J. Buettner, Johnstown, and R. L. Fox, Bethlehem.

A mock council session will be the program for tonight.

The banquet tomorrow evening is open to the people of the city, Federal Judge Frederick P. Schoonmaker and Strickland Gilliland will be the speakers.

ACADEMY BURLESQUE IS "HINDU BELLES"

"Hindu Belles" is this week's burlesque in the Academy. In it Hindu Wassau makes her first appearance here as a star. She is a dancer with an original style. Hap Freyer made merry in the sketches, particularly in "Those Good Old Days," in which he was aided by Sammy Moran. Evelyn Murray and Gertrude Foreman presented a special number in "Happy Go Lucky Lane." Sammy Berlin was seen in a specialty, and a dancing feature was presented by the girls.

HEARST PAPER CHARTERS AID SHIP FOR PORTO RICO

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A relief ship for storm-stricken Porto Rico was chartered late yesterday by the New York American.

Following the recei-t of dispatches from the island prov'nce, devastated by the f y of a tropical hurricane, reporting 1,000 dead, 300,000 facing starvation and probab 1,000,000 homeless, the American prepared to rush immediate relief.

Word of the relief ship was broadcast last night and the next 24 to 48 hours will be spent in loading the ship with food, clothing, medical supplies and shelter so necessary to save thousands of lives.

The ship was anchored at Pier 4 in the East River last night and appeal is being made to people in New York and the immediate vicinity to assist in outfitting the vessel.

A corps of workers have been assigned the task of getting the cargo aboard and every effort was being made to sail within the next 24 hours if possible.

The American this morning stressed the need of haste and stated:

"All of the funds raised through contributions to the New York American will be administered at the island by the Red Cross.

"Never before has a disaster of such colossal proportions visited an island dependency of the United States. Remember that Porto Rico's fertile fields give us sugar, tobacco, coffee, pineapples, many other fruits, cotton and other useful products.

"This island is populated by 2,000,000 persons and is governed under the American flag. Half of them are homeless. Many of them are starving.

"It is therefore our duty to hasten with the utmost speed. It 's America's job to do this errand of mercy with the utmost dispatch."

CAPE GRIS NEZ, France, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—The first windmill plane to cross the English Channel landed at St. Inglevert flying field, near here, at 11:06 a. m. today. It was piloted by its inventor, J. De La Cierva.

The plane hopped off from Croydon, England, at 10:05 for Paris and carried one passenger.

N. PHILADLPHIA WOMAN ESCAPES IN HURRICANE

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Sept. 18.—Mrs. Myrtle Vicente, daughter of Mrs. William Poland, of this place, escaped injury in the hurricane which swept San Juan, Porto Rico, according to a cablegram received by her brother, William Poland. Mrs. Vicente has been teaching school in Porto Rico for six years.

BOY SHOT BY "EMPTY" GUN; 3 COMPANIONS HELD

Joseph Blaugh, 17, of Ammon street, Homestead, is in the Homestead Hospital with a bullet wound in his chest and three companions are under arrest pending an investigation, the result of a shooting in Sixth avenue, Homestead, early today.

The boys were examining an automatic revolver, which they thought had been emptied, when it was discharged and Blaugh was injured.

DOUBT INJURED MAN'S STORY

Stabbed in the lung, he says, by a highwayman who accosted him in Sandusky street near the approach to the Seventh Street Bridge, James K. McDonald, 23, of 1301 Woodburn avenue, is in a critical condition in the Allegheny General Hospital. Police doubt the man's story and have lodged a suspicious person charge against him.

McDonald came to the hospital alone and told attaches that he had been stabbed by the highwayman. Police believe he was stabbed in a fight and is shielding his assailant.

McCreery's ... Style-Right As a Chanel Dress!

Fashions are created in Paris, of course. One of the leading couturieres is Chanel. She is a brilliant designer who, for several years, has been producing models—right at the lead of the vogue. Her garments have a subtle and elegant simplicity.

Just as Chanel is internationally recognized as a fashion authority, so is McCreery's known in Pittsburgh as a style-right store.

McCreery's...now...is filled with smart merchandise. Every buyer was instructed to get only fashionable merchandise. That was the dominant thought in our buyers' minds when they were in Paris and New York. Everything you buy here is style-right, whether it is a $98.50 gown or a simple $15 dress. And, as you know, style-for-style and quality-for-quality, McCreery's prices are right...always!

McCreery's
24th Anniversary

Beginning Saturday! Will Feature Only Style-Right Merchandise!

For 24 years McCreery's has been favored with the patronage of Pittsburghers who want style, quality and fair prices. To celebrate—to show our appreciation—we will soon hold a great selling event offering desirable new merchandise at low prices.

Now is an excellent time for thrifty, value-wise, fashion-knowing shoppers to check over their personal and home needs for Fall and Winter. Fine time, too, to make a Christmas gift list. All of these wanted things—NEW, of trustworthy quality and assured fashion-rightness will be featured in McCreery's 24th Anniversary at impressively low prices.

This is Number 3 of a series of editorials leading up to McCreery's 24th Anniversary

BARON IS OFF IN HOP TO TOKIO

PLANS PACIFIC FLIGHT TO U. S. ENROUTE HOME

By BARON GUNTHER VON HUENEFELD.

(Copyright, 1928, by New York American, Inc.—All Rights Reserved.)

ABOARD THE AIRPLANE EUROPA EN ROUTE TO TOKIO (Via Radio From Berlin), Sept. 18.—(Tuesday)—By the grace of God, I hope to see the California coast and fly over the Golden Gate into San Francisco in a non-stop flight over the Pacific Ocean from Tokio.

In the Junkers plane Europa, sister ship to the Bremen, which was the first airplane to fly from Europe to America, I hope to be able to make the first flight from Asia to the United States.

We left Berlin this morning in the early dawn and headed for Tokio, which will be made in a number of stops. Charles Gunnan Linder, a Swedish reserve officer, is the chief pilot. I shall relieve him from time to time, having just received my own pilot's license.

With us is a mechanic from the Junkers works, who will accompany us to Tokio. From Tokio Linder and I will fly alone.

Two Talismans

I am carrying with me two talismans: first, a $5 gold piece given me by Bernt Balchen; second, a broken piece of the propeller which I smashed in my first landing as a solo pilot. And on my breast I will be wearing the highest honor I have ever received, the Distinguished Flying Cross of the United States.

Our first stop toward the East will be Sofia. Then our route will be by way of Stamboul, or Constantinople, Bagdad, Karachi, Calcutta, Bangkok and Canton. Thence we will fly to Tokio.

This flight, lasting about eight days and carrying us over the dreamlands of the Orient, will condition both the plane and the crew for the hazardous Pacific trip. We expect to fly over deserts and jungles, over romantic cities and places of mystery, but always ahead of us will be a vision of California skies.

Our trip through the Orient may not be without some adventure, especially if we are forced down anywhere in a desert or jungle. Lindner and I are carrying with us browning automatics. In addition, we will have flares to be used to signal if we land in some uninhabited place.

Plans for Tigers

These flares will come in handy if we are forced down near jungles, for if tigers attack us we will turn on the fireworks and keep them far enough away so we won't have to use our patrol pistols on them. We are carrying mosquito nets with us, for no matter how fast we fly the mosquitos in jungle lands fly faster and bite harder.

We expect to average 170 kilometer throughout the entire trip. Our equipment will be similar to that which the Bremen had, except for two important modifications. On our trip to Greenley Bay, our gauge showed we had only two hours of gasoline left. Actually we had eight hours of gasoline.

Prof. Junkers has given us special instruments to gauge properly the number of hours of fuel, so that we won't miscalculate again. The second thing we have is a compass to guide us through the fog. This compass always permits us to know whether we are flying horizontally or not.

When we reach Tokio, our present motor, which is capable of 320 horsepower, will be changed, and the Junkers motor with which the Europa recently established a new world's duration record will be installed.

The Europa will have, as the Bremen had, the "donkey ears" in each wing especially invented by Prof. Junkers to aid stabilization through stormy weather.

We will be equipped with fur-lined boots and gloves. Our only food on the trip will be coffee and milk, which will be carried in thermos bottles, and sandwiches and fruit.

We are taking no brandy or champagne or any alcohol, for we found from experience that alcohol stimulates for a few hours only, and then fatigues much quicker than non-alcoholic drinks. I am sure California will not have to search our plane for contraband liquor.

Some of my friends have asked me whether I am taking any extra monocles along. I've been wounded in battles twice and never lost a monocle. I intend to carry the monocle I have to California.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

TONIGHT is THE NIGHT in the realm of radio broadcasting.

At 9:30 o'clock the radio industry will place upon the air entertainment by the outstanding stars of the concert and theatrical worlds. The occasion will be the Fifth Annual Radio Industries Banquet in Hotel Astor, New York, the social feature of the Fifth Annual Radio World Fair in Madison Garden.

The broadcasts will be carried to every part of the nation and of the world through a consolidation of the big radio chains, totaling almost a hundred stations. The program will be handled here by KDKA, WCAE and WJAS.

Among the entertainers and groups of entertainers to appear will be the Atwater Kent Male Quartet, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, Paul Whiteman and his orchestra, John Charles Thomas, Vincent Lopez, Fannie Brice, Evelyn Herbert, Moran and Mack, Ben Selvin and his orchestra and Jack Palmer. There will be others, too.

The radio men have promised that there will not be more than one speaker, and that the speaker will be limited to 10 minutes. The name of the speaker has not been announced, but he is described as a man of international prominence.

Helmeted and goggled (figuratively speaking) the Seiberling Singers tonight at 8:30 o'clock, with the aid of WCAE, will do a musical Lindbergh when they take off from Japan at dusk and alight, a half hour later, in the heart of Broadway. (Program directions: A night has elapsed.) Those on board will include Seiberling Singers quartet, James Melton, tenor, Phil Ohman and Victor Arden with their two famous pianos, the "Singing Violins," and the new Seiberling Salon Orchestra.

The time of the Sacred Song concert broadcast from KDKA tonight will be 7:30 to 8 o'clock. Martha Eaton Brickman, soprano, and Anne Hagmier Woestehoff, contralto, will present the program. The selecare: "Let Him In," "The Cross Is Not Greater Than His Grace," "A Little While," "My Mother's Bible," "A Sinner Made Whole," "The Child of a King," "Trusting Jesus That Is All," "Sweet Hour of Prayer," "Whosoever Will" and two readings, "I Love to Steal A While Away," and "A Sinner Forgiven."

The Automatic quartet which has been heard broadcasting from station KDKA each Friday evening at 10:30 o'clock, have changed their time to 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. Their program tonight, "A Little White House," "Pal of My Dreams," "Honolulu Home Sweet Home," "Moonlight and Roses," "He Ain't Never Been to College," and "The Sandman."

SECRET HEARING FOR PRISONER

Fearing that a second attempt would be made to mob Luther Matthews, a Negro coal miner, who Sunday afternoon is alleged to have attacked a 3-year-old girl with a hatchet, Justice of the Peace J. M. O'Rourke, of Bruceton, conducted a secret hearing yesterday and held the prisoner for court on charges of assault and battery and of attempted murder.

A mob of more than 200 persons tried to take Matthews from Coal and Iron police and deputies from O'Rourke's office after they had arrested him Sunday. He is said to have taken Hazel Coleman, 3, Negro, from her mother, dragged her into a thicket and struck her with a hatchet. She is in the Presbyterian Hospital.

ROSS TWP. ASKS TO BUY WATER FROM PITTSBURGH

The residents of part of Ross township want city water, according to a communication received by Council from John E. Winner, township solicitor. Winner said that the Ohio Valley Water Company had refused to supply water, saying that its facilities were not adequate. He asked if the city would sell the water, provided the township would lay the mains.

Fall Just Getting Into Its Social Stride With Prospect of Rapidly Increasing Pace Until Early January

FALL is just about getting into its social stride these days, and unless this season is different from all its predecessors, the pace is likely to keep up at an increasing tempo until early January. Certainly all sorts of interesting things are scheduled—weddings, debut parties and horse shows—we announced two new debut dates just yesterday, you know.

The weddings here are not the only ones that are of concern to Pittsburghers, though. For instance, George S. Hoster, who married Laura Wright, is going to be one of the ushers at the wedding of Frances Alger, daughter of the Frederick Moulton Algers, of Detroit, and Harold Raymond Boyer, which will take place October 6, in the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. After the ceremony, there will be a reception at "By-Way," the Grosse Pointe home of the Algers.

Another out-of-town wedding on the same day, this one involving a local man, is that of Margaret Mackoy, daughter of the Henry Brent Mackoys, of Covington, Ky., and George Edward Clifford, of Cincinnati, formerly of Pittsburgh. Perhaps you remember that Mr. Clifford is a brother of the former Virginia Clifford, who married John Dalzell II, son of the William Sage Dalzells, of Kentucky avenue, last May. He will have his brother, Alan Clifford, of Pittsburgh, for his best man, and Mr. Dalzell will be one of the ushers. Mrs. Dalzell is going to be the matron of honor. The ceremony will be performed in the First Presbyterian Church of Covington, I understand.

October 6 is proving unusually popular as a wedding date, and I know of still another out-of-town wedding set for that Saturday, with several local people in the bridal party. I am referring to the wedding of Catherine Gerwig Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle L. Jones, of Greensburg, and Stanley Pingrey Miner, son of the George E. Miners, of New York, which will take place at 7:30 o'clock in the evening in the First Presbyterian Church of Greensburg. Anna Jane Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Phillips, of "Impton," Carrick, is going to be the maid of honor, and another Pittsburgh girl, Katherine Sterritt, will be one of the bridesmaids. A reception at the Greensburg Country Club will be held after the service.

IT seems that there will be parties as well as an exhibition of fine horses in connection with the show scheduled for Friday and Saturday by the Westmoreland Hunt Club at Greensburg. The committee in charge of the show has sent out invitations for a dinner dance to be given Friday night at the Greensburg Country Club for the exhibitors and judges, and there will be a dinner dance at the club the following night, too. As I told you before, Miss Margaret Coulter is planning to give a buffet luncheon on the grounds Saturday. Of course, though, many of the visitors are arranging to go to the Rolling Rock Club for dinner.

AMONG the visitors in the East are Mrs. Frederick J. McMillen and her son, Frederick, Jr., of Thorn street, Sewickley. They are spending a few weeks at the Seaside Hotel, Atlantic City, and I believe that Mr. McMillen is planning to join them there later.

* * *

MRS. ENOCH RAUH and her daughter, Miss Helen Rauh, of Bartlett street, have returned home after an extensive trip through Canada. They left early in the summer and after visiting the principal cities of the Dominion they came down to New York and Atlantic City for a few weeks.

INVITATIONS have been issued for the marriage of Miss Dorothy Mae Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Ellsworth Cook, of Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg, and Chester Leroy Wentz, of Elizabeth, N. J., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Wentz, of Franklin, Pa. The ceremony will be performed at 8 o'clock the night of October 2 in the Cook home by the Rev. Joseph L. Fisher, of the Central Christian Church. Mrs. Donald Ford Alexander will be her sister's matron of honor, and two other sisters, Miss Maude A. Cook and Miss Helen E. Cook, will be bridesmaids. George G. Main, of this city, will be best man and the ushers will include Donald Ford Alexander and Thomas F. Hogan, of Pittsburgh. Miss Cook is a graduate of the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College and Mr. Wentz was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh. He is a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

MISS ADA VIRGINIA McWHINNEY, daughter of Mrs. Ada E. McWhinney, of Brown place, Squirrel Hill, has chosen September 29 as the date for her marriage to Charles Francis Moore, of Jacksonville, Fla. The ceremony will be performed at 4:30 o'clock in the Little Church Around the Corner, New York. Miss Marion McWhinney, sister of the bride, and Miss Elizabeth Whyel, of Uniontown, will be the bride's attendants. Mrs. E. D. Harshbarger, of Gladstone road, entertained with a bridge luncheon at the Pittsburgh Country Club today for Miss McWhinney and tomorrow night, Miss Lucy Chamberlain and Miss Mary Rankin will entertain. Miss Cora Spires and Miss Margaret Frye, of Munhall, will give a bridge luncheon Saturday in the Morrowfield Hotel, and Miss Ruth Griffth, of Homestead, and Miss Marion McWhinney are planning parties. Among those who have entertained for Miss McWhinney are Miss Whyel, Mrs. Francis Hutchinson, Miss Dorothy Dee, Miss Helen Mansell and Miss Corrine Menk.

MRS. KATHRYN M. GUMBERT, of Swissvale, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Emma Marie Gumbert, and Thomas Wright McClure, son of Mrs. Julia McClure, of Crafton, which was solemnized Saturday. After a motor trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. McClure will be at home in Emerson avenue, Crafton.

* * *

MRS. S. B. CHARTERS, of Bigelow boulevard, will entertain at dinner in her home Friday night supplementing the rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Anna Virginia Fugh, daughter of Walter L. Fugh, of Kelton avenue, Dormont, and Clifford Evans, of Oakmont, which will take place the following day at noon in he Dormont Methodist Episcopal Church. Miss Katherine and Miss Matilda Hahn, of Bartlett street, gave a bridge-shower in their home Saturday for Miss Fugh, assisted by their mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hahn.

MISS ERMA HELT, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Helt, of Forest avenue, Bellevue, entertained with a bridge luncheon in her home today in honor of Mrs. Earl Wayne McKissock, formerly Miss Louise Dickson. There were 60 guests and the appointments were in orchid and peach. During the afternoon, announcement was made of Miss Helt's engagement to Norman E. Weber, son of Charles Weber, of the East End. The announcement was made on a tiny newspaper held by a miniature ice cream newsboy.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Florence Secor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Secor, of Toronto, Canada, and Joseph George Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shea, of Island avenue, which was solemnized Saturday.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. J. O. EDEBURN, of Sutherland street, Sheraden, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ola Margaret Edeburn, and Charles M. Bertram, of the North Side, which was solemnized September 7.

* * *

MISS BESSIE McGLADIGAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McGladigan, of this city, has chosen tomorrow as the date for her marriage to William A. Braun, of Sharpsburgh. Mrs. E. J. Stein, of Sheraden, entertained Saturday with a bridge luncheon in honor of Miss McGladigan.

* * *

MRS. I. L. SCHEINMAN, of North Negley avenue, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Hester Rose Scheinman, to Armand King, of Chicago. A late October wedding is planned.

THE fourth annual dance of the Seton Hill College Alumnae Association will be held October 19 in the University Club. Mrs. Anne Stimmler Hunter is general chairman.

MRS. CRABTREE GUEST AT CONGRESS LUNCH

MRS. EDNA RIGGS CRABTREE, who is to conduct The Sun-Telegraph's cooking school tomorrow, Thursday and Friday, in Memorial Hall, was guest of honor yesterday at a very delightful luncheon given by the Congress of Clubs. The guests were club presidents, the Congress officers and directors, the new social committee and heads of departments and committees. Mrs. Carl E. Coslowsky, Congress president, greeted the guests, and introduced the department heads, each of whom announced her opening meeting. In response to Mrs. Coslowsky's introduction, Mrs. Crabtree spoke briefly on woman's opportunities, linking up the present "home-makers' conference" in Memorial Hall with the recent survey of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Crabtree instantly impressed with her gracious, cultured manner of speaking, knowledge of her subjects and a keen, quiet sense of humor. Music for the occasion was furnished by the American home department's new music chairman, Mrs. S. H. Fuller, who presented Mrs. Mae R. De Blasio, a contralto with a pleasing personality and voice. She was accompanied by Miss Annie Kurtz. The tables were elaborately decorated with long wicker containers holding a mixture of dahlias, asters and roses which were later sent to the Children's Hospital.

THE Irving College Club's year book is one of the most original of the season's output. Bound in the blue and gold of the college, its front cover frames a neat picture of the college building and its pages announce the opening meeting of the club for October 13, the Christmas luncheon December 22, a book shower for the college library in January, a meeting at the Congress of Clubs in February, a guest day in March, a May meeting on the 11th and the closing of the season in June. Mrs. George A. Eckels is president of the club Mrs. Philip H. Rinehart, vice president; Miss Margaret Eberle, recording secretary; Miss Pearl Walter, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. D. F. Harrison, treasurer.

THIS season's monthly meetings of the Dormont League of Women Voters will be in charge of the various committee chairmen and their aides. William Best and C. W. Scheck will present the Metropolitan Plan, the former to the Dormont members and the latter to the Mt. Lebanon members at this month's meeting. Mrs. J. Wood Clark and Mrs. A. G. H. Frazier will present "Issues of the Campaign" from the viewpoints of both major parties next month, while in November Congressman Guy E. Campbell will be the speaker. A Yuletide frolic is dated for December, and in January the girls' debating teams of the University of Pittsburgh will debate, "Has Woman Suffrage Benfited the World?" A civic day will be observed in February; Miss Rose Porter will discuss the Mothers' Assistance Fund in March; a parliamentary drill will be conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth B. Motz in April, and the May meeting will take the form of a tour of the Atlantic telephone exchange.

QUEEN ALLIQUIPPA CHAPTER, Daughters of the American Revolution, will unveil a tablet to the memory of Gen. Edward Braddock ond his army at the McKeesport-Duquesne Bridge on Thursday, September 27, at 3 o'clock.

THE Congress of Clubs through its department of public welfare has issued invitations for a luncheon on Friday to meet Mrs. Olyn Hudson, of the Near East Relief Commission.

ACTIVITIES at the Woman's City Club will be resumed on Saturday with a luncheon in honor of Walter Prichard Baton, dramatic critic, author and lecturer, who will speak on "Shaw and O'Neil: A Contrast in Modern Drama."

* * *

THE Business Girls of the East Liberty Y. W. C. A. begin rehearsals for "Springtime" Thursday night. Miss Leone Artley is directing the cast of nearly 200. The play will be produced October 11 and 12 in Schenley High School.

* * *

SOUTH GATE COURT, Order of the Amaranth, will hold a rummage sale tomorrow at Broad street and Larimer avenue, East End.

FORMER PGH. SCULPTOR DIES IN RIO DE JANEIRO

Mrs. John Hamm, of Brookline, has received word that her brother, William Spriestersbach, who formerly lived in Pittsburgh, is dead at his home in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. He was 82 years old. Spriestersbach, a sculptor, was active in artistic and business circles in Pittsburgh for many years. He went from here to Munich, and from there to Rio de Janeiro. He leaves his wife, a married daughter and a son in the Brazilian capital.

THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY OPENS 104TH SESSION

The one hundred and fourth session of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary was opened today with an informal reception for the students and their friends. This was followby a lecture in Pressly Chapel by the Rev. Dr. S. C. Gamble, of Butler, on "The Minister's Problems." Tea was served later in the reading room by the women's dormitory committee.

The new Radiola

Super-Heterodynes

with AC electric operation

"Greater musical range and finer fidelity of tone than ever before achieved in radio"

Report of Testing Engineers

EVEN the unemotional testing engineers of the RCA Research Laboratories report that the performance of the new RCA Super-Heterodynes is amazing—beyond anything ever before achieved in radio.

New RCA Dynamic Speakers have been developed to match the new Super-Heterodyne receivers. These embody the basic principles of the RCA De Luxe Reproducer, acknowledged as without a peer in radio acoustics.

Nearly half a million of the earlier models of the RCA Super-Heterodyne are now in use. For five years this wonderful receiver, with its unique super-selectivity and sensitivity, has challenged the engineers to improve it. And now they have.

Put one of the "60" series of Radiolas beside other receivers of the finest quality—tune them in alternately on the same program—and the ear at once detects the superiority of the new instrument. Finer fidelity of tone, greater musical range, more even reproduction over the scale.

The "60" series of Radiola Super-Heterodynes is especially designed to meet the demand for instruments of the finest reproducing quality for use in congested broadcasting areas or at remote points.

They combine:

1. The simplicity and dependability of operation of the nationally popular Radiola 18.
2. The unrivalled selectivity and sensitivity of the earlier Super-Heterodynes.
3. Tone and range beyond that of any receivers heretofore in use.
4. New control features never before used.
5. Beautiful cabinets selected by a special committee of artists and cabinet-makers.

Any RCA Radiola Dealer will gladly demonstrate one of the new Super-Heterodynes in your own home—and tell you how you may conveniently purchase it on the RCA Time Payment Plan.

RCA RADIOLA 64—De luxe cabinet model of the new RCA Super-Heterodyne with the improved RCA Dynamic Speaker. Incorporates new features never before used in broadcast receivers. Special new automatic volume control bringing in weak and strong stations at any desired even degree of loudness, without further readjustment. New needle meter for accurate tuning. Special high-power output Radiotron for volume. Amazing fidelity of reproduction hitherto unrealized in radio. This wonderful instrument is enclosed in a finely finished cabinet of rich design. $550 (less Radiotrons).

RCA RADIOLA 62—Cabinet model of the new RCA super-selective and sensitive Super-Heterodyne. The enclosed Dynamic Speaker is an improved model of the incomparable RCA Reproducer, finest of all radio reproducing instruments. Superior fidelity of reproduction over the entire musical range never before achieved in radio. Illuminated single dial. Beautiful cabinet of walnut veneer with maple inlays, and ingeniously arranged doors. $375 (less Radiotrons).

RCA LOUDSPEAKER 103—The famous "100A" in a new dress. The speaker made a thing of beauty as well as utility. Tapestry covered. $37.50.

RCA RADIOLA 60—The famous super-selective and sensitive RCA Super-Heterodyne, now with the new A.C. tubes, for simplified house-current operation. Remarkably faithful reproduction. Ideal for congested broadcasting areas—highly sensitive for places remote from broadcast stations. Illuminated single dial. Two-toned walnut veneered table cabinet. $175 (less Radiotrons).

MARLIER SUGGESTED AS AIRPORT ARCHITECT

A suggestion that Raymond M. Marlier, chairman of the Aeronautics Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, be retained as the airport architect and engineer, was contained in a letter sent to Council by Ray A. Tucker, a director of the Aero Club. Tucker recited Mr. Marlier's experience as a pilot and his work in surveying the county for suitable sites. Charles A. Waldschmidt, city solicitor, yesterday sent Council an opinion to the effect that the city could not sell the $500,000 bonds set aside for the airport until the county had secured the land necessary.

BOLIVAR BATTLE SITE TABLET TO BE UNVEILED

BOLIVAR, O., Sept. 18.—The State Park of 20 acres here, marking the site of Revolutionary War Fort Laurens, in which the Colonial garrison withstood a siege by Indians in 1778-79, will be marked with a bronze tablet, to be unveiled next Friday morning by Mrs. Herbert Backus.

WOMEN STUMP FOR HOOVER

A group of Republican women leaders, touring the western counties in the interests of Herbert Hoover, will be in Pittsburgh Thursday. Republican State Chairman Edward Martin announced when he arrived here on his weekly visit yesterday. The group includes Mrs. Gertrude Stauffer, vice chairman, and two former vice chairmen, Mrs. Hannah Durham and Mrs. Worthington Scranton.

Today the women will be in Greensburg, tomorrow in Beaver Falls and Thursday night and Friday they will attend the meeting of the State Council of Republican Women in Uniontown.

Headquarters of the Republican county committee have been opened in Hotel Henry.

DENIES ISLER PROMOTION

The appointment of Plainclothes Patrolman Jacob Isler as a lieutenant to succeed Samuel Graham, who died recently, was denied by Public Safety Director James M. Clark today.

"I know nothing of such an appointment," said the director. Isler was known as a body guard of Police Inspector Charles Faulkner, North Side.

Clark announced today the promotion of Hoseman Sol Kramer to captain in the fire bureau. He will be assigned later.

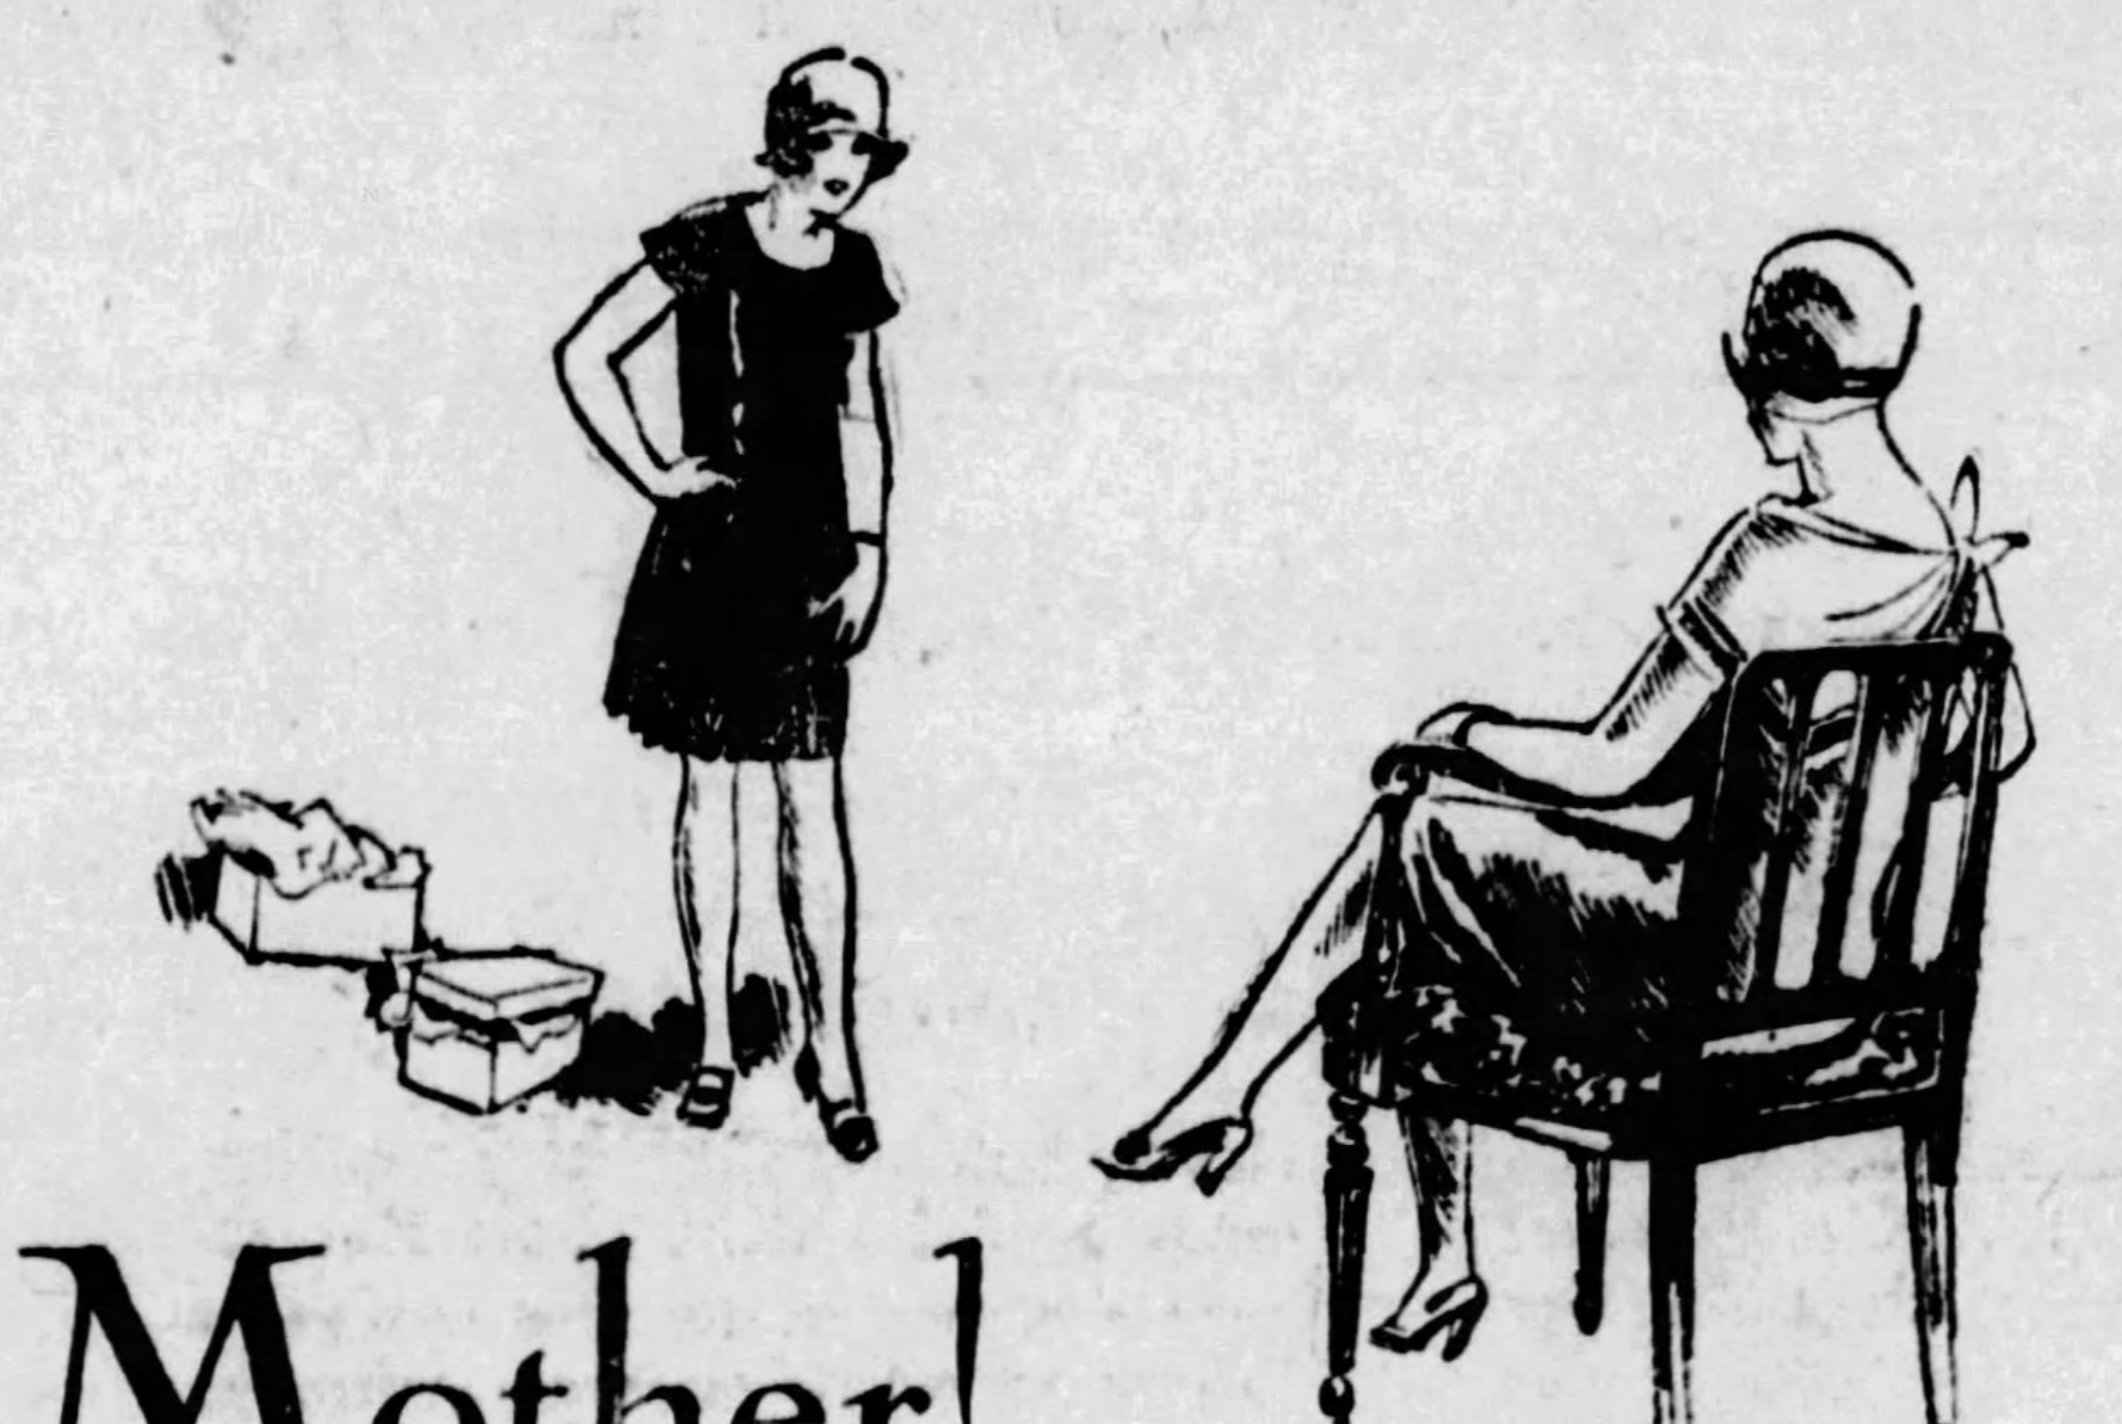
PITTSBURGHER CLEARED OF CHARGES BY GIRL

BENWOOD, W. Va., Sept. 18.—Mary Horneck, 14, who wrote a letter from Columbus, O., telling her parents she was "dead and buried" was committed to a girls' home by the Juvenile Court. Charles McCrae, Pittsburgh salesman, arrested on the strength of her story of running with another girl and a man, was exonerated and dismissed.

Detective's Bullet Hits Tire; City Asked to Pay

A city detective "while firing his revolver at random" on September 10 damaged a tire on the automobile of Attorney Joseph H. Bialas which was standing in a nearby parkig lot.

That is the charge made by Bialas in a letter to Council yesterday, in which he asked that the city replace the tire. He did not name the detective.



"Mother!
Aren't They Lovely Shoes?"

BRUISES SUPPORT STORY OF HITCH-HIKER HELD IN DEATH

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Physicians who examined Laveda Boyle, 18-year-old "hitch-hiker" who is accused in Ohio of second degree murder, report they found numerous bruises and scratches on the girl's back.

The young woman, who is charged with having shot Robert P. McCormick, Akron automobile salesman, when he and another man were alleged to have attacked her in their car near Akron last Thursday, said the scratches and bruises were suffered while resisting the men.

The revolver with which the girl said she shot McCormick was turned over to county detectives by the young woman's mother.

The youthful "hitch-hiker" was arrested at Oil City last Saturday at the request of Ohio authorities and is being held pending a requisition hearing next Saturday.

Presenting the Fall Fashion Revue

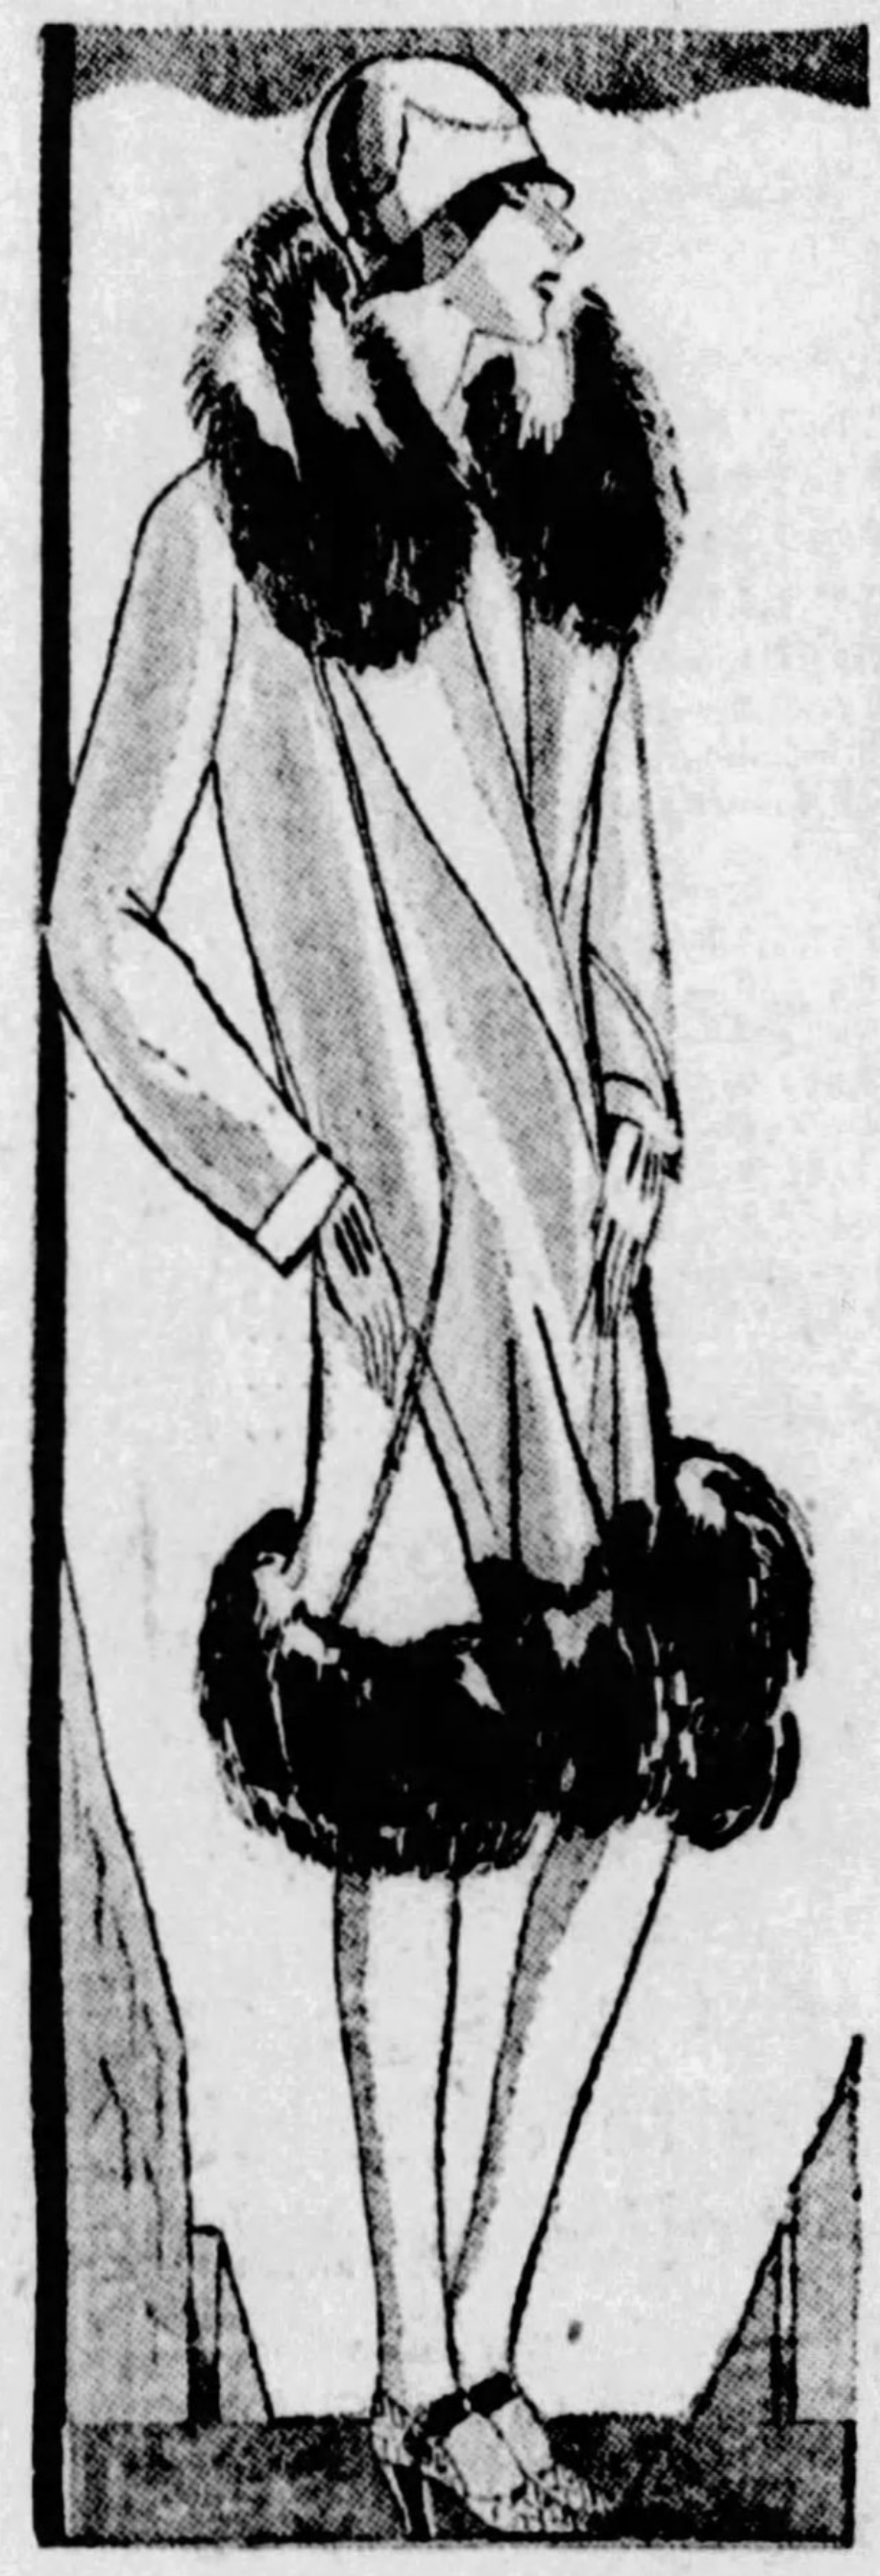
IN THE AUDITORIUM

Mornings 11 to 12:30 DAILY Afternoons 2 to 3:30

A showing of apparel for street, for sports, for afternoon, and for evening wear . . . with correct accessories of hats, shoes, bags, gloves. Exemplifying the latest trends of fashion as dictated by Paris.

AUDITORIUM . . . ELEVENTH FLOOR

Coats Sponsored by Fashion and Chosen by Fashionables



Fashion makes definite stipulations of modishness . . . but leaves some choice for fashionables. For example she dictates black or the darker browns (maduro, wood brown, fall leaf) as most important . . . but if you prefer the gayer shades, offers Flagship and Cairo blue, Balsam green, Wine red, and, of course, the beiges.

Coats Are Lavishly Fur Trimmed . . .

is fashion's edict. But you may choose long or short haired furs, and the elaborate collar of your coat may be a shawl, an extenuated tuxedo, after Patou or Paquin.

Kaufmann's coats satisfy both Fashion and fashionables . . . and offer wide and pleasing choice of selection. A splendid choice in prices—ranging in easy steps from

TYRRELL ASKS FOR NEW KILLING TRIAL

PITTSBURGH FRAUD BEFORE VARE QUIZ

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1928

ERRORS IN RULING OUT EVIDENCE CLAIMED

Twelve reasons, all having to do with the ruling out of evidence of threats, were cited today in a motion for a new trial filed by Attorneys William H. Coleman and J. Thomas Hoffman for Fayette J. Tyrrell, churchman-attorney, convicted last week of second degree murder for the shooting of Phillip F. Clark in the Munhall Christian Church last Mother's day.

The motion was filed before Judge James B. Drew, who granted 10 days in which additional reasons may be cited. Judge Robert A. Stotes, of Northampton county, who tried the case, will hear arguments on the motion, probably September 29.

The first three reasons cited for the new trial were that the verdict was against the law and the weight of the evidence.

The fourth reason is that "the court erred in striking from the record the testimony of Mrs. Hazel Clark that the deceased told her the Sunday proceeding the shooting that 'Mr. Tyrrell will not be superintendent of the Sunday school long, and Mr. Tyrrell will not try your divorce case,'" the offer of counsel being to show that said threat had been communicated to the defendant.

The fifth reason was: "The court erred in sustaining the objection of Assistant District Attorney John F. Haggerty to the following question asked Mrs. Clark: 'Did you say anything more to Mr. Tyrrell at that time as a result of these words that would cause him to feel any fear of your husband?'"

The sixth reason was that the court erred in striking out the following testimony of Mrs. Clark: "What, if anything, further did you tell Mr. Tyrrell that Monday morning (being the Monday proceeding the shooting) concerning the attitude of your husband when he made this statement to you?"

Answer—"He said it is such a malicious way and he was so angry."

The seventh cites that the court erred in striking out the evidence of Mrs. Clark in the following particular: "Tell us what you said to Mr. Tyrrell?"

Answer—"I told Mr. Tyrrell that he (meaning Clark) was so angry that he said it in such a malicious way that it caused me to feel that he would harm Mr. Tyrrell."

The eighth reason cited is that the court erred in sustaining the objection of the district attorney to testimony of Mr. Mattes to the effect that Clark told him he had spent $600 for detectives to shadow Tyrrell.

The ninth reason avers the court erred in striking out testimony of Mr. Mattes with reference to threats made by Clark and conveyed by Mrs. Tyrrell by her to her husband.

The tenth reason declares the court erred in excluding the testimony of W. H. Woods that he had a conversation with Clark just prior to the shooting in which it was proposed by the defense to show that Clark was in a rage towards Tyrrell, and made threats that Tyrrell would not conduct the Sunday school services that morning.

The eleventh reason given is the court erred in striking out testimony of John J. Davis, Jr., that he had knowledge of Clark coming to church and that when he first went in Mr. Thompson said that Clark was on the warpath and that he had warned Tyrrell the night before.

The twelfth reason declares the court erred in sustaining the objection to evidence proposed to be given by Mr. Elwell that on May 12 Clark had told him he was going to come down to the church and throw Tyrrell out the next morning.

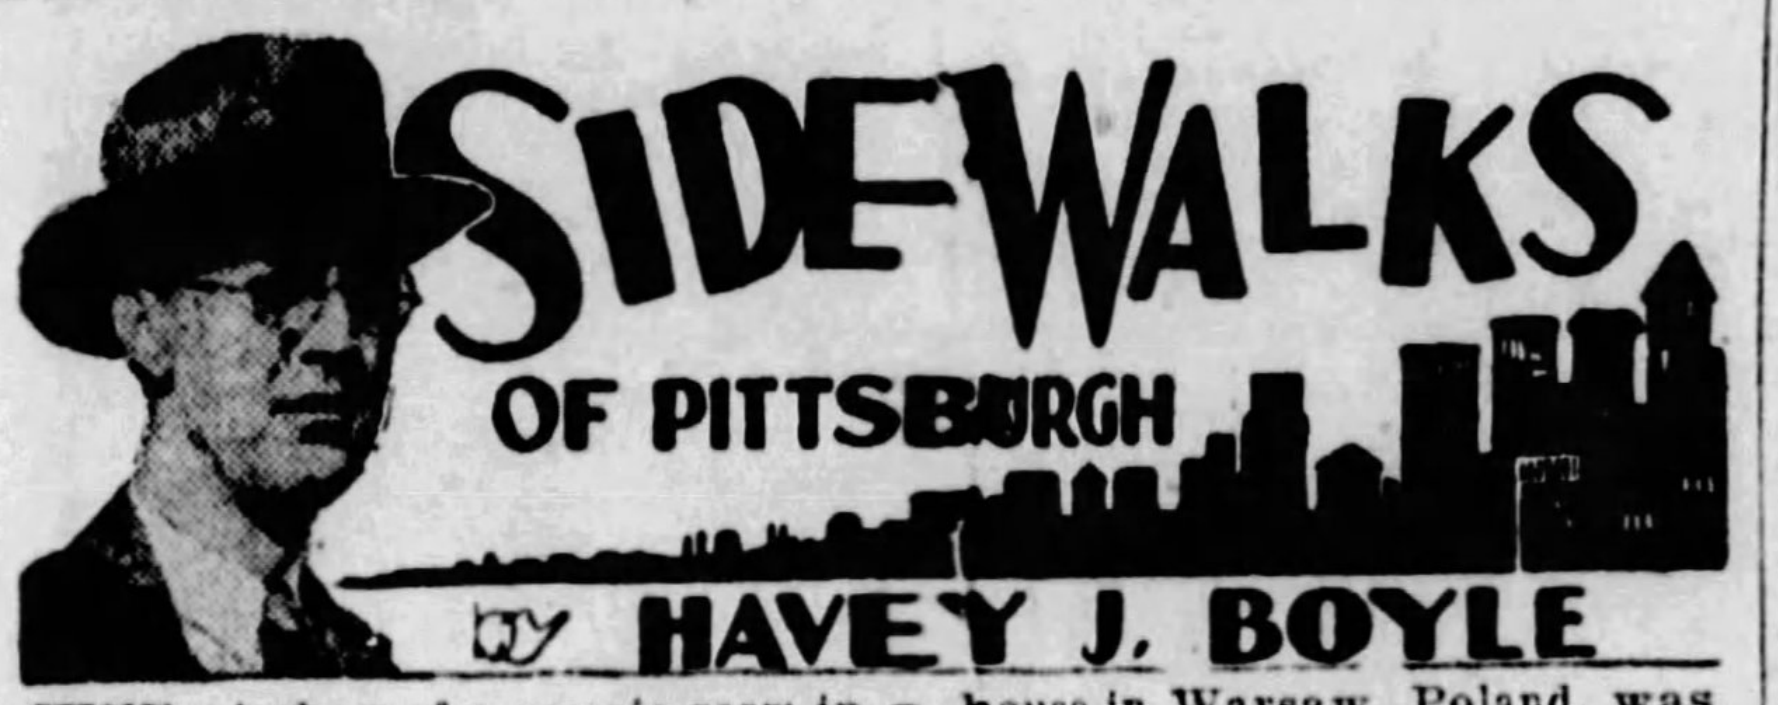
SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH



By HAVEY J. BOYLE

THE window of a music room in a house in Warsaw, Poland, was open. In the room a little girl was struggling valiantly on a piano with a composition which tried her small hands to the utmost. Over and over certain difficult passages she practiced.

A man stopped in front of the window and listened. The audience in no way helped the little girl and at last in desperation she said: "Please go away. I can't practice with you standing there listening."

The man smiled. "Maybe I can help you," he said. The little girl invited the stranger to try his luck. Once at the piano he interpreted the piece as its composer intended it to be interpreted when he had written it. For the man who played happened to be the composer of the minuet the little girl was practicing. His name, he told the little girl, was Paderewski.

GEE! HE'S PRETTY GOOD !

The girl grew to womanhood and the composer became premier of his country. After he had ended his premiership the composer was tendered a reception at the Polish consulate in New York. He met a number of men and women.

"You don't remember me," said one lady as she was presented. "No," said the great Paderewski. "Well, I'm the girl you once played for in my home in Warsaw." The great composer threw his arms about the woman and recalled his pleasant experience that day in Warsaw.

The little girl's name was Marilla Czekalska. Her name is now Mrs. Arthur Anderson. Her home is in Aurelia street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

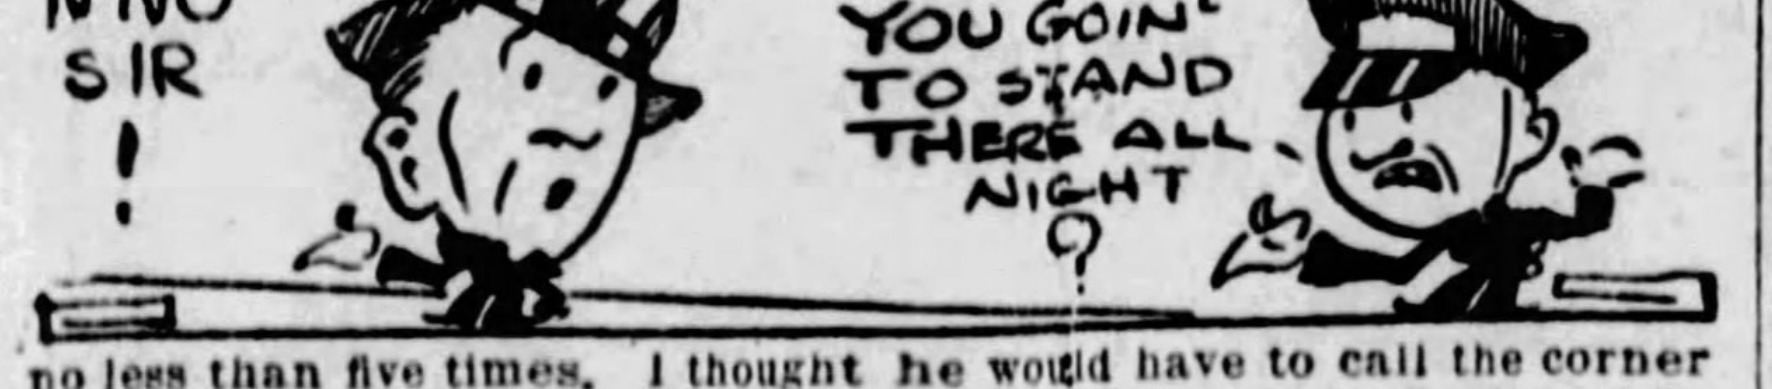
Edward M. Schmitt reports the following phenomena on the downtown streets: "Last evening while waiting for a street car at Seventh and Grant, opposite the Koppers' Building, under construction, I saw one of those structural iron workers trying to cross the street.

* * *

"THIS man, who thinks nothing of sitting on a six-inch perch, 30 stories high, while eating his lunch, was the most timid man in traffic I ever saw. He ducked and dashed back to the curb no less than five times. I thought he would have to call the corner cop to escort him across, but after a good long wait he finally made the crossing."



N-NO SIR !
SAY! ARE YOU GOIN' TO STAND THERE ALL NIGHT ?

Speaking of downtown traffic, a traffic policeman confides that what is considered the hardest traffic job in town, from the standpoint of the policeman, is the corner at Market, Liberty and Federal street. Traffic there makes as many turns as the average pretzel, he says.

TRAFFIC policemen, generally, like corners away from the street car tracks. It is the constant rumble of car wheels going over crossings that makes the traffic cops' ears ring and their nerves, at times, a little taut.

Citizen Charley Gerwig, banker, insists that Officer Albert Atwood, at Sixth avenue and Wood street, is one of the best in the city. Reason: Officer Atwood is concerned with the welfare of pedestrians.

Accidents have caused the traffic authorities to make Knox avenue, running from Arlington to Brownsville road, a one-way street, Carrick-bound. The change causes Carrick, Brentwood and other motorists, heading for town, to consume five minutes and more, than formerly, in getting to town.

Asks City Give Up Zoo

It may be advisible to move the Zoo from Highland Park to one of the new county parks in order to provide more modern quarters for the animals, Councilman Daniel Winters suggested at yesterday's meeting.

The suggestion was made after Councilman John S. Herron had introduced a resolution urging an investigation of the Zoo with a view to recommending improvements at the next budget session.

The resolution passed unanimously.

Holds Up Traffic Lights

The plan to create an electric traffic signal system in the downtown section, which has been progressing apparently without opposition for several months, hit a snag in Council yesterday.

A bill asking for an appropriation of $75,000 for the purchase of the lights was sent back to committee after Councilman James F. Malone stated that he had been informed the total cost would far exceed the original estimate.

"We appropriated $125,000 for this system, but I have been told that it will cost more than that," he said. "According to what I was told Saturday, the total cost may be from $260,000 to $300,000. I think this bill should go back to committee until we discuss the subject with the Better Traffic Committee and others concerned."

An appropriation of $1,800 to pay the expenses of an expert consultant on traffic systems later was unanimously approved.

WOMEN IN FIGHT FOR INSURANCE

Two women faced each other in court today in a contest for the proceeds of two insurance policies taken out by the late Attorney Henry Lineaweaver, prominent member of the Allegheny county bar, who died Sept. 7, 1923.

Mrs. Margaret Lawrence, of 505 West One Hundred Sixty-second street, New York, claimed a balance of $7,001.78 on two policies in behalf of her son, Henry Lawrence, on the ground that Lineaweaver had intended him as the beneficiary.

Alice M. Godfrey, of Cathedral Mansions, former secretary to the dead attorney, disputed the Lawrence woman's claim, contending she was the beneficiary. The two policies, originally for $5,000 each, named the Godfrey woman, "as trustee," the beneficiary. She had paid the Lawrence woman $1,000 from the proceeds of the policies, she set forth in her answer to the suit, "out of sympathy." Judge James B. Drew heard the testimony.

2 ZONE APPEALS DENIED

The zoning board of adjustment this morning made public its decisions in 30 cases referred to it upon appeals from the decisions of the superintendent of the bureau of building inspection. Two appeals were denied, four granted outright and 24 granted with conditions. Appeals denied were those of:

C. L. Young, 1411 Colwell street, Third Ward. One-story extension to front of dwelling to be used for store.

C. Brooks, 3007 Terrace street, Fourth Ward. Two-family dwelling.

LIQUOR BANS STAND PENDING HEARINGS

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 18.—The preliminary injunctions on nine social clubs and three speakeasies in this county, enjoining them from further sale or possession of liquor signed two weeks ago by Judge J. A. McLaughry on petition of District Attorney Leo McKay, will continue in force until the final hearing, date of which is yet to be set. It was expected that a stout legal defense would follow the injunction. The order affects the Eagles and Moose in Greenville, Farrell and Sharon, the German and Slovak clubs in Farrell and the Maennerchor Club in Sharon, two Lee avenue speakeasies in Farrell and one in Greenville.

Legal Problem Arises Over Pet Dog

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 18.—Judge Erwin Cummins was called upon yesterday to render what is believed to be a unique decision when he ruled that Angelo Consonery, of Fallowfield township, was right in taking an appeal from a summary conviction growing out of the ownership of a dog. Consonery said he had presented the dog to his wife and that she owned it. He was charged with violating the law which denies unnaturalized foreign-born citizens owning dogs. Judge Cummins ruled Mrs. Consonery forfeited her citizenship by marrying, but that she was not an unnaturalized foreign citizen.

SEWER BALLOT, ZACK CASES AIRED

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Attorneys for William S. Vare challenged the right of the Senate Privileges and Elections Committee to go into the spring primaries of 1926 in Pennsylvania when hearings were resumed on the Vare-Wilson contest today.

The challenge came shortly after former Mayor E. V. Babcock, of Pittsburgh, member of the Allegheny county board of commissioners, was called to the stand as the first witness of the day.

Ralph H. Frank, of Pittsburgh, member of counsel for William B. Wilson, precipitated a long wrangle by asking Babcock if the Allegheny county returning board investigated fraud and irregularity in the 1926 spring primaries. Counsel for Senator-elect Vare, led by Edward Kelly, of Phildelphia, raised vigorous objection, protesting that the spring primaries had no bearing on the general election of the same year, which came later.

PRITCHARD SEES TRICK

During the argument over admissibility of the testimony, Charles B. Pritchard, of Pittsburgh, also of Vare counsel, charged that the only purpose behind the move was to give opponents of Vare an opportunity to "yell fraud over the country."

"They want to yell fraud with no proof and this committe has no right to allow that procedure," he declared.

Finally chairman Waterman, of the committee, ruled that he would allow the testimony to go in, subject to later review. He said he would permit counsel on both sides to argue the question before the record is made permanent.

BRINGS UP ZAK CASE

Attorney Frank sought to refresh Commissioner Babcock's memory on certain legislative contests growing out of spring 1926 primaries, declaring that one candidate named Zak had been charged with fraud. Babcock replied that such might have been the case, but that he had forgotten the details.

Numerous questions asked of the witness by Attorney Frank regarding charges against individual contests both in the 1926 and subsequent primaries caused Chairman Waterman to warn Wilson counsel that the testimony sought must be confined to legitimate bounds.

Frank replied that his purpose was to show that irregularities in the 1926 primaries were a part of the "general conspiracy" to perpetuate fraud in the general election.

Armstrong followed Babcock on the stand. eH was asked about one of the ballot boxes of the 1926 primaries being found empty with its contents "thrown into a sewer." He said he recalled the incident, but added that the ballots did not have a bearing on the senatorial contest, involving only two candidates for legislative office.

Armstrong's testimony concerned chiefly the difference between "unofficial" and "official" returns of the primaries as declared by the County Commissioners. He declared that the first returns were made up more for the benefit of the newspapers, the commissioners later checking over the count before pronouncing it "official." It was therefore unimportant that there should be discrepancies found in the two lists, he asserted.

In addition to Mr. Babcock and Mr. Armstrong, others on hand included Col. C. C. McGovern, third member of the Board of County Commissioners; Roy Warner, secretary to Mr. Armstrong, and James F. Routley, clerk of the board. Members of the Allegheny County Registration Board present included J. Scott Morgan and W. A. Means. George J. Schad, chairman of the Assessment and Tax Review Board, was also summoned.

HURT JUMPING AS ENGINE UPSETS

Charles H. Prunkard, 54, of 120 Renne street, a Pennsylvania Railroad engineer, was injured yesterday when he leaped from his locomotive as it toppled over at South Twenty-first and Wharton streets, South Side.

He is in St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering a broken right leg and bruises.

Fireman J. H. Gethen and Freight Conductor James Danglish remained in the locomotive and escaped injury.

Railroad officials are unable to explain how the engine upset while pulling a string of cars through the railroad yard.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.

Just had dinner with Mr. Thomas Edison, Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone and their wives. Say, there is the ones you want to meet. These three famous men, we know all about them; but you ought to meet these wives that made them famous. No frills. No put on, just three lovely, wholesome family folks.

Talked children and grandchildren all evening, and, say, Thomas A. Edison pulled a good one.

As you all know, he is very deaf. Well, he walked over to the window overlooking Broadway and says to us: "Broadway seems so quiet."

I think he was looking at it to see if his lights was working O. K.

Yours, WILL.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

COMPANIONATE DIVORCE

COMPANIONATE marriage may be only a dream; but Companionate DIVORCE is already an institution. It has come to STAY!

* * *

Marriage was always uncertain. One never knew whether it was going to end in a Golden Wedding or in a trip to Reno—in beauty and harmony, or in battle and alimony.

* * *

Girls cautiously embroidered the linen for their hope chests in non-committal designs, and all the table silver was marked with the bride's maiden initials—just in case of a change of heart.

HELEN ROWLAND

But DIVORCE was something you could bank on! Something final and irrevocable! Once you were parted in the courts, you were parted all the way down to the grave—as plainly and unmistakably as a comedian's black hair!

Anybody with two dollars in his purse could get married, but only the pure—in reputation—and the rich in pocket could get OUT of it. A divorce decree was a sign of ready money and social distinction. There was something almost sacred about it!

But NOW all that is changed! Divorce is just as much of a gamble as marriage—and almost as wobbly and insecure.

* * *

Every day, you read in the papers of some prominent divorced couple rushing back into each other's arms and running off to Europe for a second honeymoon.

Even after a husband and wife have gone to all the trouble and expense of packing their clothes in separate trunks, dividing the brushes, the golf sticks and the children and moving to separate hotels, they never can tell whether or not their divorce is going to "TAKE" until they have tried it out.

When you meet a divorced friend on the street, you never know whether to condole with her for having "gotten rid of that brute," or to congratulate her for having "gone back to that perfectly wonderful angelic man." One good Paris divorce is no longer expected to last any woman a life-time.

The truth is that most couples don't WANT to be committed finally to a divorce these days, any more than they want to be irretrievably tied to a marriage. They prefer to be just a little bit married, or just slightly divorced. They want time to think it over! To see if they can live happily—apart!

* * *

But there is nothing like a little legal separation to lend enchantment to the ex-husband or ex-wife. And, before the ink is dry on the final papers, they are meeting secretly for moonlight drives and petting parties, and deceiving all their trusting friends. Before the knot is cut, they are tying it together again!

And this is the very finest and wisest thing they could do! For you may live quite contentedly all your days with a man or a woman, for many reasons—but if you can't live WITHOUT him or her, it's love!

* * *

Companionate marriage may be a dud—but companionate divorce is a grand success!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, September 19

ACCORDING to the planetary operations this day may prove to be memorable for the sudden visitation of wholly unforeseen events. There may be new openings and propitious conditions in employment and these may involve travel or a change of environment, which in turn may be responsible for some domestic dissatisfaction or annoyance. As there is an augury of deceit or trickery in new ventures it is enjoined that every precaution be taken to avoid this.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of important change, possibly radical in its nature and involving travel or change of residence, which will not be welcomed in the domestic circle. Employment is under propitious conditions but in new ventures beware of fraud and duplicity.

A child born on this day may be original and independent in thought and action. It may have skill and talents in unusual directions and should succeed in employment, but may be subject to fraud and treachery.

Normal man being the composite of all substance becomes the receiver of all the numberless forces active within the solar system.—ADAIR MUIR.

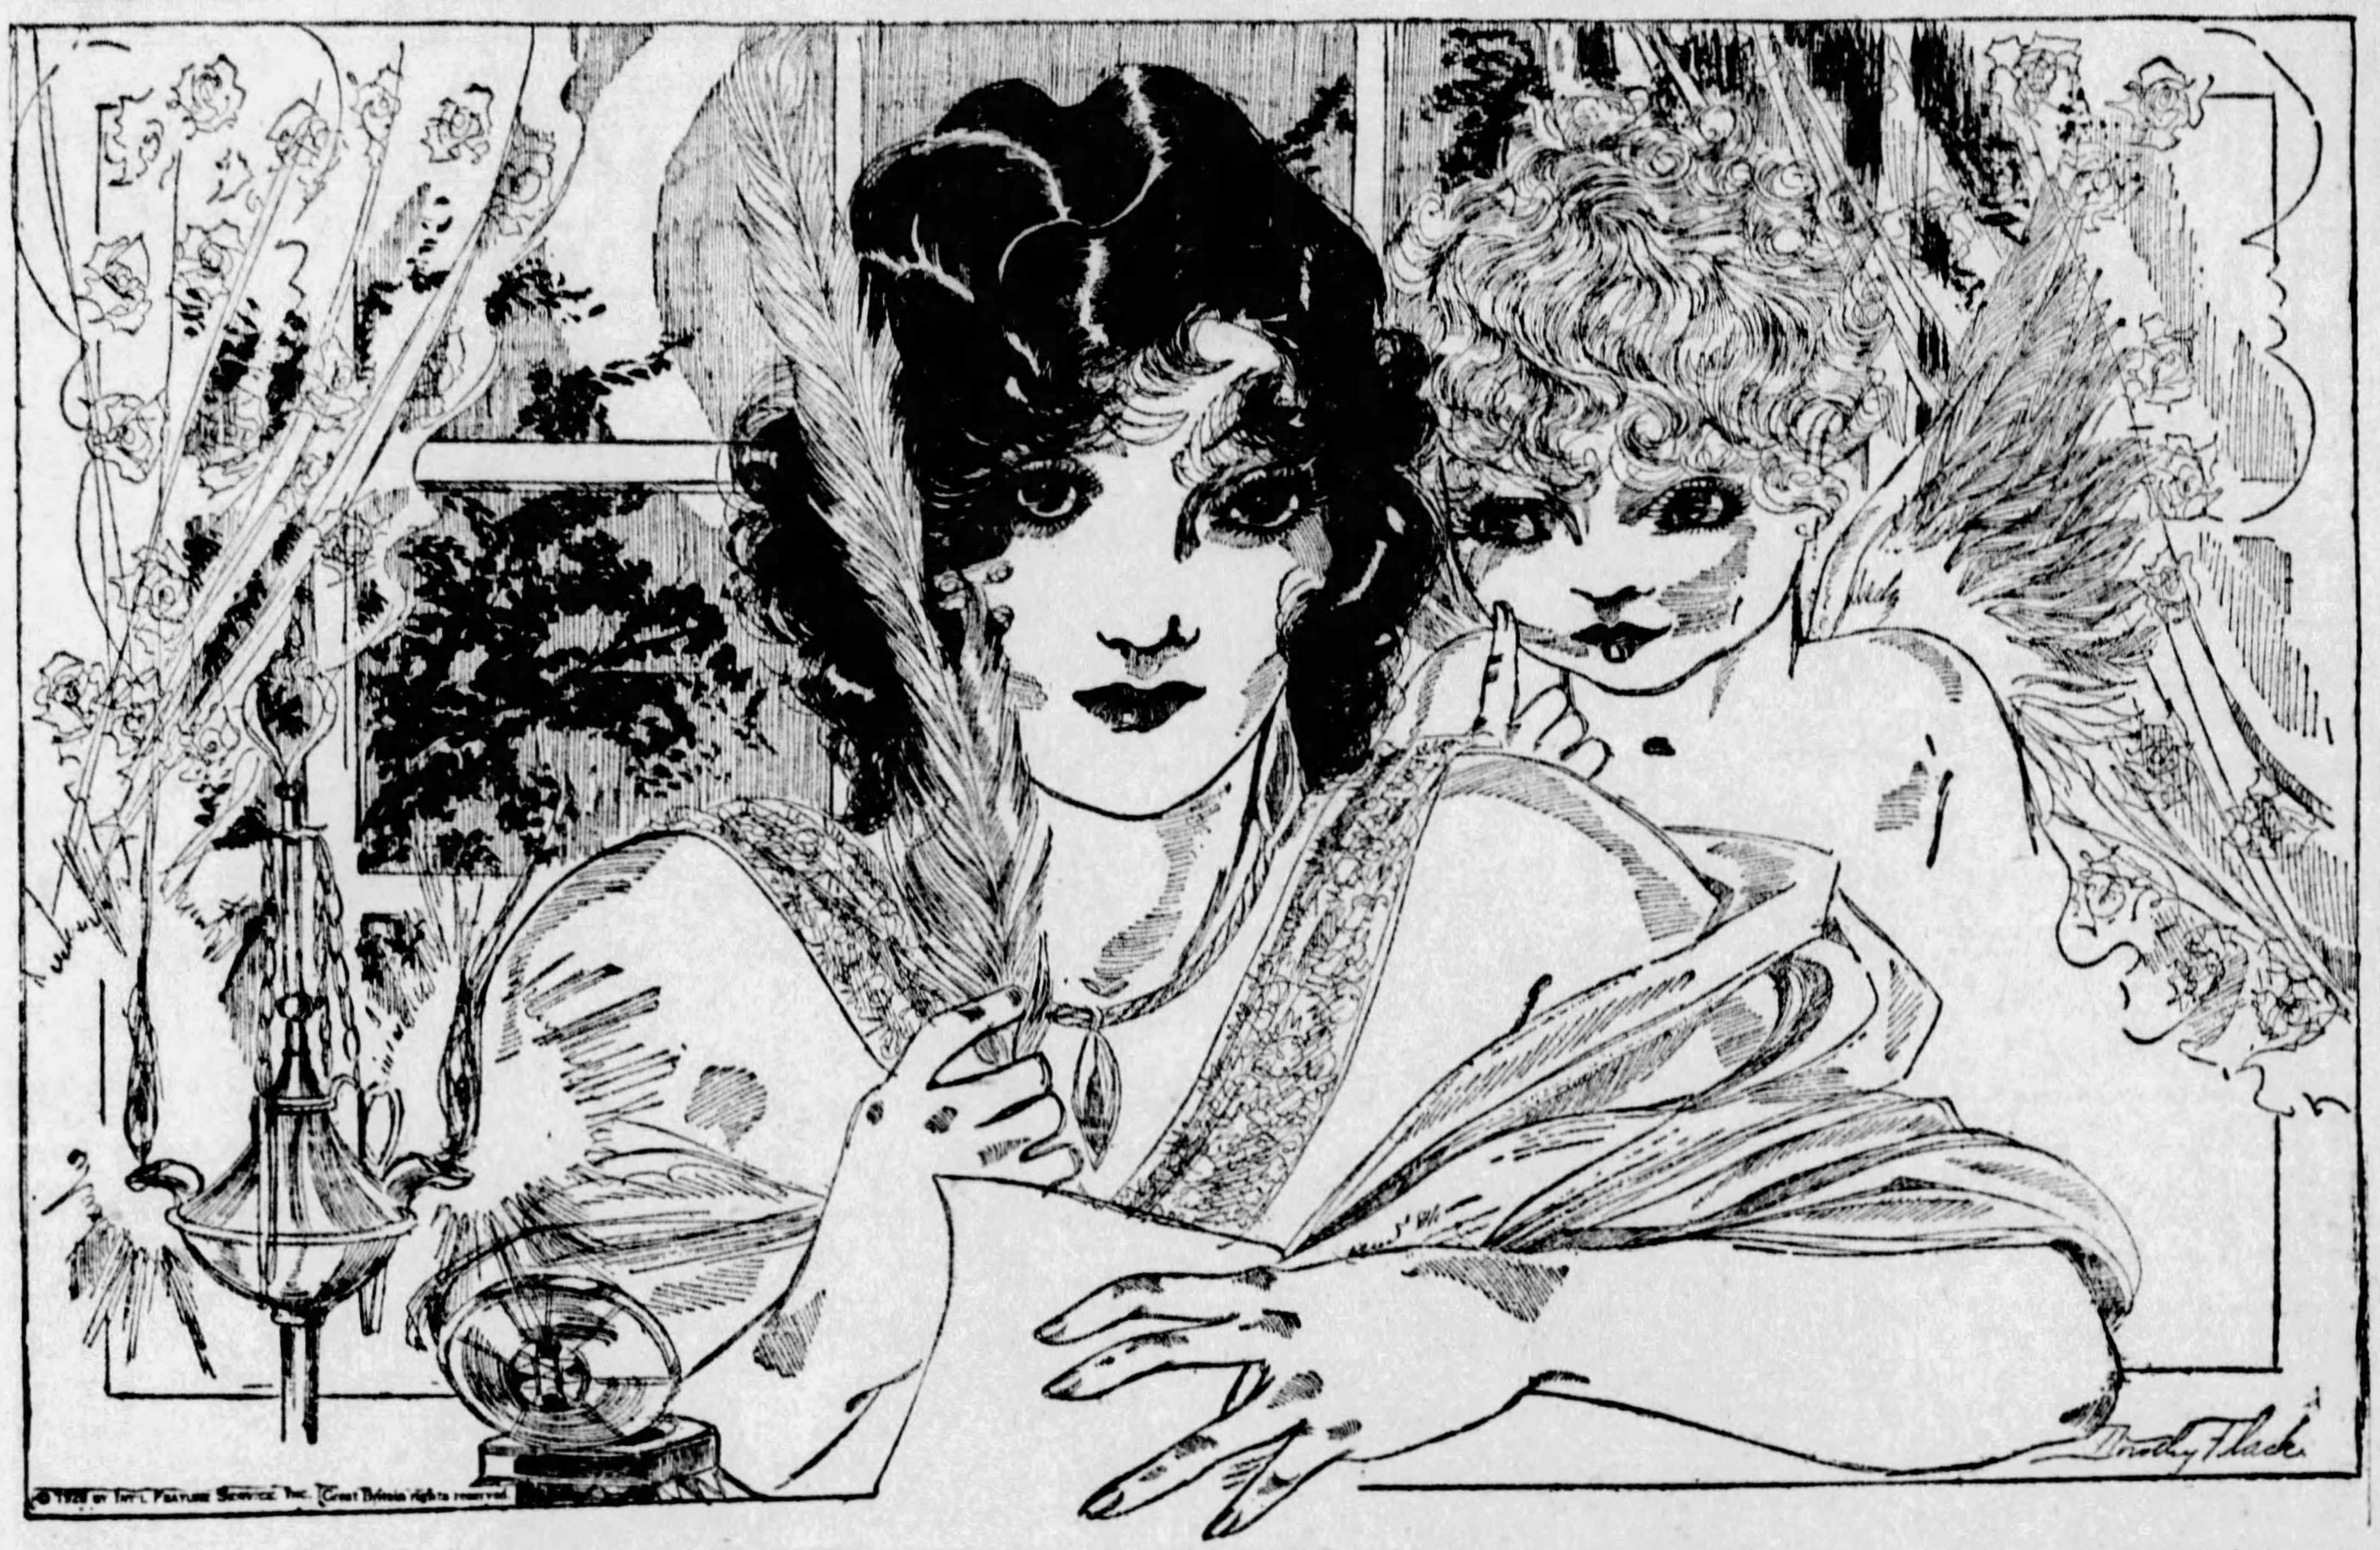
LOVE--THE DICTATOR

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



Dorothy Flack
© 1928 by Int'l Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved

"NO, I will NOT be dictated to! There's no one in the world who can tell me what I MUST and must NOT do! So there!" Haven't you heard everyone in the world utter these same words at some time or other? Of course you have. And how you smile when you hear them saying meekly "yes" and "no" when the time comes.

For it does, and who do you think they take the dictation from? Why little mischievous Daniel Cupid, of course! He's a wee bit of a thing to be such a despot, but he certainly is. Just try and sit down to write a love letter and see how much you really think out for yourself. You find yourself scribbling away at a great pace—saying things you never intended to—writing page after page, until you stop and wonder.

But, honestly, don't you love to take his dictation? What in the world would you do without him? He makes the timid strong, and the strong ones bend beneath his will without ever a thought of their own strength.

Ah, well, that's love! Who was it said that "love" makes fools of us all?" True enough, but dear fools, and who would want to miss the dear foolishness that goes with being in love? Nobody in the world. So, when Love begins to dictate, listen and heed, for he's telling you naught but what is best for you, and will bring you the happiness and joy that comes but once—and, if you treat it rightly, will last forever.

Plans Made to Ward Off Danger Threatening Olina

LILLIAN lost no time in making the explanation she had promised Philip Vertizen. With the tinge of burlesque which she often uses in relieving the strain of a tense situation, she marched us to the center of thel ibrary, released her arms, pushed chairs toward us, and struck an attitude of attention with her fingers touching her forehead.

"I'm not the one who needs your counsel, Phil," she began. "Madge has——"

He interrupted her summarily, while the look in his eyes as he turned them on me would have been most gratifying to my vanity if I had allowed it any latitude.

"You need me!" he said tensely. "How can I——?"

"You can keep quiet until I get through talking," Lillian admonished him crisply. "Madge doesn't need your advice for herself, but she is deeply concerned about Miss Lincoln's safety. She will tell you about it, but she feels a certain reticence about betraying the young woman's confidence to anyone not conversant with certain surprising facts concerning her. If you have any romantic knowledge that you are keeping to yourself, I'd advise you to spill it before Madge begins talking. Then the cards will all be on the table. I'll be on the veranda, if you want me."

She was out of the room with the door closed behind her upon the echo of her last words, leaving Philip Veritzen with his usual poise of manner distinctly rippled.

"But this is astounding," he said. "Please sit down and tell me about it. Have you discovered who Miss Lincoln really is?"

I looked at him steadily.

"Yes, I have," I told him, "but—"

He held up his hand in a gesture well known to the members of his famous organization. Everyone from his highest ranking assistant to his humblest office boy knew that it meant "Stop! aWit till I have spoken."

"Then you know," he said, "that Miss Lincoln is really the Princess Olina of Transvania, who was supposed to have been carried aboard ship terribly ill and who is now reported to be slowly convalescing at one of her father's palaces. You see I am following your friend's instructions and laying my cards upon the table."

I gave a quick, little sigh of relief for I knew that I now could tell him freely of my fears for the girl.

"Yes, I found that out finally today," I said, "although I have suspected the truth for some time. But Miss Lincoln herself confirmed my conjecture this afternoon, and explained the thing which had puzzled me. You see I had seen a photograph of Princess Olina with Fedora—a reproduction of a painting in a continental art gallery and I was puzzled by her nose."

He laughed outright at something in my tone.

"You haven't been as used to studying theatrical makeup as I have," he said. "But I'll admit I was puzzled for a few minutes at my first sight of her after the operation had been performed upon her nose."

"That was at our welcome-home dinner to Lillian and Marion, was it not?" I asked, remembering the tense scrutiny he had given Eleanor Lincoln upon that occasion, and the odd amusement he had betrayed afterwards as if at a jest which he alone knew.

"Yes, but how did you know?" he asked, and when I told him there came a gleam into his eyes, a look which held admiration and something more puzzling.

"I shall have to be careful what I think when you are near me," he said, smiling. "But enough of that. What is this danger which you fear for Princess Olina?"

"I wish I knew," I said slowly. "She has given me no confidence concerning it, but I know that she is terribly afraid of some mysterious menace, and I feel that there should be some guard put over The Larches at night, at least until the windows can be fitted with bars. Jerry Ticer and Henry, the man who has posed as her uncle, are the only men in the house. Of course, she has the wolfhound, but I cannot help feeling afraid for her."

Never a Marcel Wave

By Edna Wallace Hopper

On the stage, in public and at private functions, my hair always attracts. During my performances women never fail to ask the secret of my perfect wave and the youthful, lively sheen of my hair.

It is very simple. I wave my own hair. First, I moisten it with my liquid hair-dress, Wave and Sheen. I use a comb to apply it. Then I carefully insert the combs. I tie a piece of chiffon over my head. By the time I am ready to complete my toilette the waves are in to stay.

A radiant sheen, free from stickiness, is the chief charm of this simple method. Wave and Sheen is the only dressing I would use on my hair. It is the only preparation I know that does not give the "plastered" effect, which I cannot tolerate. The hair must have some air in order to be healthy and free from dandruff.

You can get a bottle of my Wave and Sheen at any toilet counter. It is guaranteed. 75 cents.

The War on Fat

Look about you — Note its results

For 20 years medical men have been conducting a scientific war on fat. They have been using a factor which science discovered. A certain gland food which greatly affects nutrition. They found in this gland deficiency a great cause of obesity.

A great American laboratory, years ago, embodied this factor in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Now anyone can see, in any circle, how slenderness prevails. Excess fat is nowhere near as common as it was.

Users have told friends about it, and the use has grown. People are now using some 5,000,000 tablets monthly. And the joys they bring in new beauty and health are enormous.

Now fat reduction does not require abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. People combat the cause. They take four Marmola tablets daily until weight comes down to normal, then desist.

Users know the reasons for results. A book in each box gives the complete Marmola formula. And fully explains how the fat loss comes in a normal and helpful way.

Don't wait longer, when so many have for 20 years enjoyed the results of Marmola. It may mean more to you than anything else you know. Go start today and let the results tell you how long to continue. You will be amazed and delighted.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1.00 a box. Any druggist who is out will order from his jobber.

The Pleasant Way to Reduce

For the Lovelorn

Red Head

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading the lovelorn column for a year, and I think you give wonderful advice. I am in my teens and considered good looking. Miss Gale, my problem is this, there is a boy whom I have known several years but I just know him to speak to. He is two years my senior. He lives in another town, about 17 miles from my home town, but his grandmother lives near me and I know her well. He visits her sometimes and every time he does I see him and he either waves or speaks. Now, Miss Gale, I like this boy very well and I would like to get better acquainted with him. Please, Miss Gale, won't you please tell me how I could get better acquainted with this boy? As I said before, I like him very much. Wishing you all the luck and happiness in the world, I am

RED HEAD.

Leave it to the boy, my dear. If he is attracted to you, he will find a way to know you better. If you sought him out it might antagonize him.

Everybody's Rose

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been a constant reader of your column, and have found it very interesting. I am also anxious for some of your good advice as you give others. I agree with you on the drinking, smoking and kissing questions. 1. Is it all right for a girl dancing with a strange fellow to speak first? 2. What opinion do you have of a fellow that asks for your phone number and promises to call soon and doesn't? 3. Is it all right to call him up first and ask him and his boy friends to a dance our club's giving? 4. In what way should I speak to him when asking? Wishing you loads of luck in your work. I am

EVERYBODY'S ROSE.

1. Don't dance with anyone you don't know, my dear. It cheapens you. 2. Apparently, he is not much interested. 3. It would be all right to invite the boys to the dance if they need not spend money for tickets. Never invite a boy to take you any place. 4. Just ask him if he would like to come to the dance.

How to Keep Well

Healthier Babies a Sign of Progress

THERE are few news items that could possibly thrill me as this one did! Here is what the newspaper headline said:

INFANT MORTALITY LOWEST ON RECORD.

Then followed this statement:

"The infant mortality rate in cities of the United States during 1927 was lower than in any previous year, the American Child Health Association announced."

DR. COPELAND

Last year the rate was 64.9 (per thousand) deaths in the first year of life, as compared with 73.7 in 1926, and 100 in 1915. The report includes the figures of 638 cities in forty states. These are the states having approved registration laws, recording at least 90 per cent of all births.

It is gratifying, too, to know that the improvement is practically universal. Almost every city shares in the reduced death rate.

Among the cities of greater than 250,000 population, the lowest rate, 41, is found in Seattle. Minneapolis and Portland, Ore., come next with 47 each.

The 10 largest cities in the United States show the following: New York and Cleveland, 56 each; St. Louis, 57; Chicago, 63; Philadelphia, 64; Los Angeles, 67; Detroit, 70; Pittsburgh, 72; Boston, 76; Baltimore, 82.

Among other cities we find low figures, as follows: Bridgeport, Conn., 43; St. Paul, 49; Oakland, Cal., and Grand Rapids, Mich., each 53; Tacoma, Wash., 49; Berkeley, Cal., 42.

Here are the lowest rates: In Massachusetts the city of Medford has a record of 33, Dedham, 23, and Chelsea, 35; Oak Park, Ill., too, has 35; Summit, N. J., 15; Coshocton, O., 20.

Alameda, Cal., beats everybody. The record there is only 9 per 1,000. This is truly remarkable.

I have recited these figures for the purpose of stimulating you to do your full part in making living conditions in your neighborhood what they should be. In my opinion, this infant death rate is the most reliable index of the civilization and humanity of any given community.

Water supply, milk supply, housing conditions, cleanliness of the streets and atmosphere, hospital facilities, park system, wages of the bread winner, and the quality and availability of medical and nursing care—upon these depends the fate of babies born into a given neighborhood.

What these are is largely, if not wholly, the result of the public attitude towards human beings.

Old English Liquid Wax
Old English Wax for FLOORS

"How do you get such Gleaming Floors"

"All of my friends ask the same question. You would think I were a magician, but the whole secret lies in just a small can of Old English Wax that only costs a few cents.

"It not only gives the floor a real high polish but also removes dirt better than soap and water. And it takes but a jiffy to make ALL the floors in the house clean and fresh looking — whether they are wood, linoleum, varnished, shellaced or painted. Besides, you protect the surface against scratches and wear.

"You can have the same rich looking floors by stopping at your hardware, paint, housefurnishing or department store and getting a can of the genuine Old English Wax. Made by The A. S. Boyle Co. at Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A. for more than thirty years."

MARVELOUS WAY IT RELIEVED HER

Says Crafton Lady; Claims Aunt and Friends Also Were Helped By Ten Herbs

"I think it is marvelous the way Ten Herbs has relieved me, as I feel better and stronger in every respect," was the recent statement of Mrs. L. J. O'Donnell, 15 Noblestown Road, Crafton, Pa. (near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of men and women. "I suffered about three years and never found any relief until I used Ten Herbs," Mrs. O'Donnell continued.

MRS. L. J. O'DONNELL

"My appetite was poor, and even though I ate scarcely anything, I would be nauseated and have pains. Gas would bloat me terribly, and there would be a sour, acid taste in my mouth. I was constipated, and had dizziness and headaches. I was so nervous I was restless during the day and could not sleep at night. Upon arising in the morning I felt stiff and had severe pains across my back. I lost about all energy and ambition.

"Now, since taking Ten Herbs, it seems like a dream to enjoy meals once more and never have pain or nauseated feeling. I am free of gas, bloating, and sour, acid taste. Biliousness, dizzy spells and headaches have left me, and so have the pains across my back. My nerves are stronger, and I enjoy "the sleep of the just," as the old saying goes. I am gaining in every way, and it shows in my complexion. My advice to sufferers is: Profit by the experience of others, and try Ten Herbs. My aunt and several friends are using Ten Herbs and are getting the same good results that I got. I advise the public to do likewise."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Diana Refuses to Be Called Heroine After Rescuing Benny From Drowning

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

On his first day in Manor Park, where he is to apply the business methods learned in college, Benjamin Carrington Black has occasion to observe three of the suburban town's most alluring examples of feminity. Unnoticed by men, he sees Diana Rand—nineteen and pretty, enter a jewelry store with her friend, Beatrice Sheldon, whose trailing dress is reminiscent of the Gay Nineties. In the store Diana and Bea encounter Ann Evarts, a trim, petite person. Ann in Diana's roadster sees Noddy and Toddy and Norman Gregory and leaves Diana and Beatrice to join them. Bea and her brother, Freddie, prepare for the party at the Yacht Club. And before leaving their parents warn them to behave like "Sheldons." Freddie calls for Ann, whose mother had just told her she must marry soon or go to work. Benny also attends the party where Diana and her friends meet him. It is a gay affair, with Diana being the life of it. Benny is fascinated by the quiet Ann, who makes believe that she does not like "wild" parties. Diana, after the party, tells her mother all about Benny. She meets him several times and falls in love with him. Mrs. Evarts is anxious that her daughter, Ann, fall in love with Benny. However, he is afraid he is falling in love with Diana. Ann tells Norman that Beatrice has a past. At North Lake where the crowd are for a week, Norman questions Bea about her past and she confesses. He then asks her to marry him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

NOW, watching her plunge into the lake and start out with long, easy strokes, he felt a sudden loneliness, an unaccountable blankness. He did not stop to consider the sensation, but it was forceful enough to send him splashing in her wake.

She swam slowly, saving her strength, and there were intervals when he was at her side, laughing and bandying catchwords over the little surface of lake between them.

When they came close to the far shore he dropped behind. Here the water was very deep and icy where it lay always in the shadow of the mountain, and here, when she was almost touching land, Diana heard a shriek from the watchers and, turning, saw Benny throw up a hand.

Too many times she had seen this happen just at this point—swimmers suddenly taken by cramp upon entering the sudden chill. All in a flash she was back, and it was simple enough to grip his jersey and undertake the slight task of towing him to shore. Helpless as he was, he aided by relaxing. In saving his life the girl performed no heroic feat, though a shout from the opposite shore indicated that the crowd believed otherwise.

The two drew up on the rocky beach, panting a little, and Benny thanked her stiffly, in set, formal phrases.

"It was splendid—a girl to do that—" He stopped all at once, and she understood. He was humiliated, outraged, because a woman had come to his rescue. Contempt seared along her nerves; she brushed aside what he would have said and suggested that they walk back along the path around the shore.

The crowd tried to make a heroine of her, but she would have none of it, stealing away into the bungalow to dress in a sort of cold In the room shared with Beatrice she saw Ann mince up to Benny, smile in his face with her look of wondering admiration. Embarrassment went out of him; his shoulders lifted as he beamed at the pale head.

"Cheap," Diana told herself. "He likes it—flattery. If I'd been the one in danger and he'd saved me—how an intelligent person can be so stupid! Well"——

She ignored him after that, throwing herself into the madcap exploits which she knew well would rouse his disgust. She played stud with Noddy and Toddy, inveigled Freddie into a crap game, danced wildly to the music of the phonograph, engaged in what Hanna described as shocking behavior." And when Benny came to apologize for his irritation she was flippant.

"I'm full of old-fashioned ideas," he explained meekly. "Probably I'm wrong, but I can't get used to the modern girl. She doesn't seem what a girl ought to be. Forgive me, Diana."

But Diana shrugged, flashed her gamin grin. "You don't think a girl can be frank and honest at the same time, Mr. Benny Black? Well, you're wrong. Old-fashioned girls got into trouble, too, you know."

He answered with a stirring of antagonism that he hadn't meant to convey such an impression. "I suppose," he conceded, "that a girl can drink and carouse and wear no clothes and still be a good girl, but—"

"Oh!" Diana's laugh grated. "Men like you hate to see all your pet prerogatives taken over and improved on by those you've always considered your inferiors—by women. That's it, isn't it? Huh! tobasco sauce!"

He left her abruptly, and she told herself she did not care. She'd had enough of Benny Black and his priggishness. And yet—

She could not get over the feeling that lay in those two words. She wished to put Benny Black out of her thought, but this she never could do, quite.

CHAPTER XIV.

AND Benny Black could not close his mind to Diana. Always he kept thinking of her; of her slim eagerness; her frank, joyous laugh; of the gray eyes which held so much understanding, so much—sometimes—contempt; of the red lips as they had looked a long time ago held up for his kiss.

And he thought, too, of the little dancing feet—minute silver slippers, as he had visioned them with Mercury wings at the heels. More than any other thing these typified Diana to him, the bright insouciance of her, the whimsical grace of her contradictory charm.

He was thinking of the gleaming Mercury wings one day when, abruptly, they became silver spurs upon brightly polished little riding boots, folded neatly against the cuffs of linen knickers. It was the last day but one of their stay at North Lake; tomorrow they would motor back to Manor Park after a week which had held gay hours and somber ones as well—hours of misunderstanding, mistrust, conjecture; hours through which had run a vague something of conspiracy, treachery, greed, unsatisfied effort.

The party had come up North Mountain for a picnic on the saddle horses, a motor load of hampers following with a servant or two to serve the lunch. And now the day was over; the hampers had been repacked and the car had gone, and after the ride home there would be a great scurry to make ready for a ball they were to attend that evening at a yacht club on the Sound, an hour's trip by fast motor.

Now there was the confusion of getting under way; shouts of "Coming, Bea? Hi, Freddie!" Ann hung behind, blue eyes on Benny.

And when her horse jerked suddenly she stepped backward almost into his arms, giving him a pleading look.

"You certainly need a protector, Ann." She clung to him and he held her a moment, finally swinging her up to the saddle, spending a moment fussing with her stirrup. She could not forbear a glance of triumph at Diana, and this, as she realized all in a flash, was her undoing.

"Benny!" called the other girl over her horse's back. "Please—this saddle—what's the matter with it? Oh, dear!"

He left Ann for Diana, but could find nothing wrong with the saddle, fingering straps and buckles. And, as the crowd swept away without them, he looked up—to meet her laughing eyes. He understood then; she was ridiculing Ann again, making him a party to her fun.

Yet he could not help laughing. The pert little face was so clever, so full of mischief twinkling at him, so brimming with spirit, as she came around the sleek roan and stood grinning while their friends rode away down the bridle path. Feet apart, hands in her pockets, an unlighted cigaret between her lips, head on one side, she might have been a naughty boy, except that she was so very feminine, such a merry little figure alluring as a happy song.

Warmth swept the man, a memory of the kiss she had given him so long ago. This girl, whose smile was an invitation, whose every glance was a challenge . . . Without half knowing what he did he crossed his arms on her shoulders, drew her against his heart, kissed her again and again.

She did not resist. And after the first wild instant he felt his kisses returned, felt her melting into his embrace as if she belonged just there.

Still, she was the first to pull away, laughing as she sent a quick look after the disappearing crowd. "Not before the wide, wide world," she murmured. "There is a time—a place——"

She gave him a dazzling look, her eyes filled with light, and was into the saddle in a bound, cantering away, smiling backward. "Coming!" she called softly. "Are you coming, Benny Black?"

He followed more slowly, all the old doubts, the old questions milling through his brain. Diana Rand—what was Diana Rand? The abandon of that moment back there, her willingness to give . . . Did she wish to give herself, then? All in a breath so—was this surrender?

And did he want this? Ah, well, if it were true there must have been others. He could not have been the first. Love! Bitterness seared his thought.

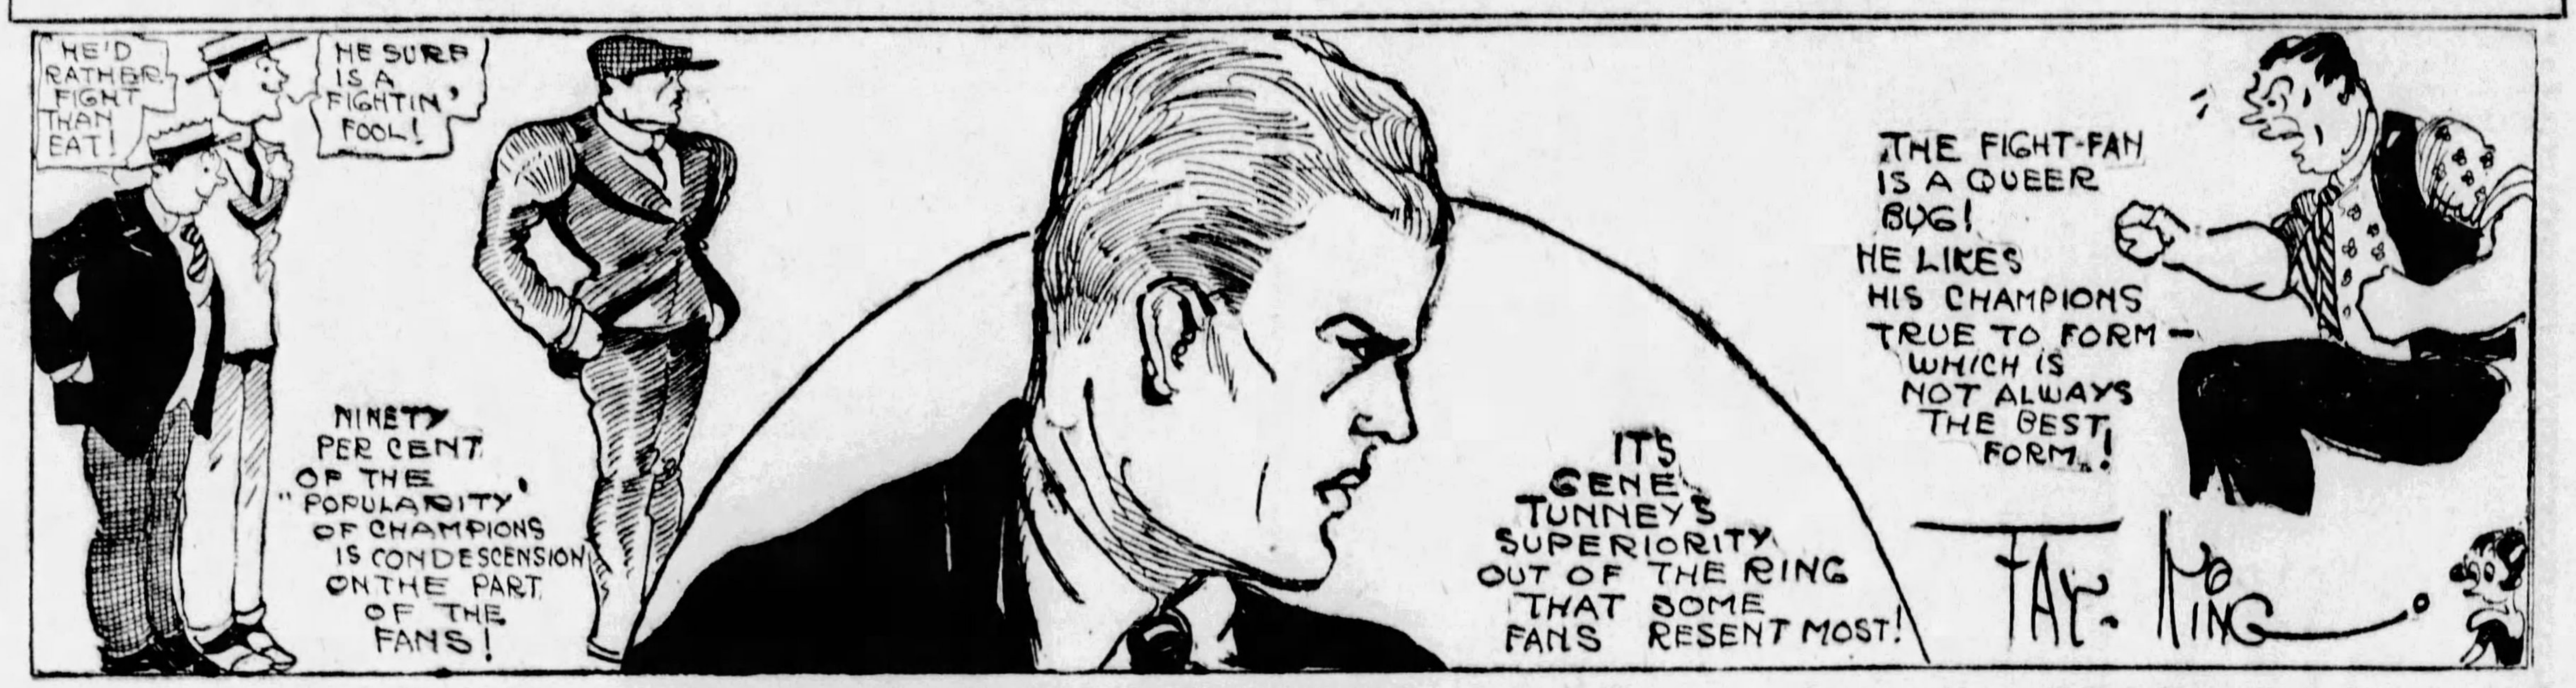
Fay King Tells Really Why Tunney Was Not a 'Popular' Champion



HE'D RATHER FIGHT THAN EAT!
HE SURE IS A FIGHTIN' FOOL!
NINETY PER CENT OF THE "POPULARITY" OF CHAMPIONS IS CONDESCENSION ON THE PART OF THE FANS!
IT'S GENE TUNNEY'S SUPERIORITY OUT OF THE RING THAT SOME FANS RESENT MOST!
THE FIGHT-FAN IS A QUEER BUG! HE LIKES HIS CHAMPIONS TRUE TO FORM—WHICH IS NOT ALWAYS THE BEST FORM!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

WHEN fight-fans say that Gene Tunney was not a "popular" champion, that is really the finest compliment that they can pay to him!

That feeling called "popularity" of champions is really the unconscious satisfaction the fan feels in his own superiority over the fighter in every way except brawn!

The most "popular" fighters have been those who know little or nothing beyond fighting. The most "colorful" fighters have been instinctive brutes quick to take a mean advantage of their opponent's helplessness.

Tunney could have "killed" Heeney in the tenth, I am told, but he kept pushing him away rather than to slug him unmercifully.

The championship is the end for most fighters. But it can be the beginning of better things for a man like Tunney!

IT'S as if JULES VERNE Spoke from the GRAVE to Explain How He Wrote "20,000 LEAGUES UNDER the SEA"

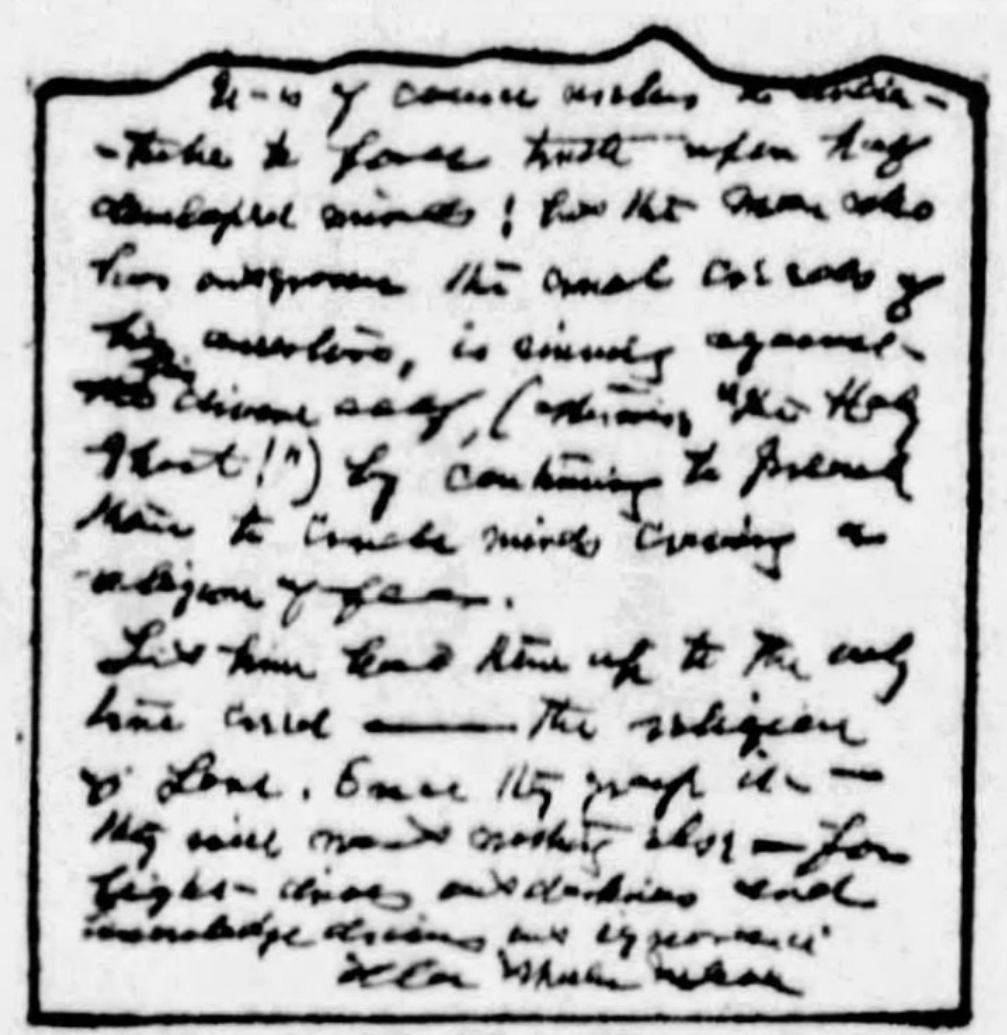
JULES VERNE

OFTEN in these days of the submarine, the wireless, the airplane, you hear someone remark, "Isn't it remarkable that Jules Verne, fifty years ago, foresaw all of these things and wrote of them as if they were happening before his eyes? How could he do it?" Verne himself explained. Long before the visions of his creative brain came true, he wrote an article on "Imagination," in which he told how the inventive writer worked out his problems.

Twenty-five years ago, the article was sent to an editor in New York who accepted it, put it away in a desk and forgot it. Recently that editor cleaned out his old desk and lo! found not only this article but two unpublished poems by Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Rare gems for 1928 readers, these. Where should they be published, to find the most appreciative audience? In Cosmopolitan, of course. So they are a part of the big October issue of that magazine.



A page from Ella Wheeler Wilcox's manuscript

SHOULD A CHILD HAVE ONE SET OF PARENTS TODAY, ANOTHER TOMORROW?

HE might have, if the behaviorists had their way. Sounds fantastic, doesn't it? But their idea is not fantastic. It has much to warrant close study and serious thought from all who are alive to the intellectual currents of the day. And no one ever presented the subject as clearly and as logically as does John B. Watson in Cosmopolitan for October.

The Last Line in This Story Would Make a Cigar-Store Indian Laugh

"He Learned About WOMEN From HIM," by Gouverneur MORRIS

Of course, one has to be a bit sophisticated to "get" Mr. Morris' rather fantastic humor at times, but here is a short story of the South Seas so delicious that it must appeal equally to the highbrow of the Tunney type and the lowbrow of the Mencken type.

IMAGINE THE ANGUISH OF A MOTHER WHO SEES IN HER SON A "SISSY"!

HERE is a subject so poignant that it requires a writer possessed not only of keen insight into human hearts but of the tenderest sympathy to present it. And there is one writer who combines those qualities—Fannie Hurst. She has written many a story that proved this, but never did she write a story as powerful and as sympathetic as "Sissy," in October Cosmopolitan.

RUINS CLUTTER WEST PALM BEACH

DEBRIS STREWS TOWN, SAYS REFUGEE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Mr. and Mrs. John W. Muskoff, Jr., were back in Jacksonville today after watching the storm that bore down on West Palm Beach, wrecking buildings and homes and injuring their occupants. The storm struck West Palm Beach Sunday afternoon and the Muskoffs reached Jacksonville last night after a drive over miles of debris-littered highways.

"The town," said Mr. Muskoff, a young Jacksonville attorney, "was one mass of debris. The streets were so littered as to make them almost impassable.

"We were driving up from Miami, and reached West Palm Beach shortly after noon. A brisk wind was blowing. Suddenly a roof of a building went sailing through the sky. I looked around for the most secure hotel I could find and drove there. When we got out of the car we could not walk against the wind.

"As we entered the hotel there were many others already there. The crowd stood about, looking out doors. By this time a dreanching rain had set in. There could be heard crashes and rumblings. The tiles on our hotel roof clanked off to the pavement at intervals.

"The first storm struck about 4 or 4:30 in the afternoon. It must have lasted a couple of hours. Then there was a lull of an hour or so, and it came again. The second storm seemed to be the worst of the two. The first wind was from the north, and the second from the south.

"I would estimate that nearly per cent of the houses in West Palm Beach were wrecked or damaged. Many buildings were wrecked, but the bigger and more substantial buildings stood, of course, although many windows were blown out.

"A string of furniture stores on North Poinsetta street was hard hit.

"The man where I put my car said it was the only storage garage of any size to withstand the storm. And the walls of this building—the Service Garage—were only partly there.

"So vicious was the wind it snapped off cocoanut palms—you know how tough they are supposed to be.

GRUESOME SIGHT

"The high wind whipped the rain into places it would not have gone ordinarily, and this must have added to the discomfort as well as to the damage.

"I saw a number of people with cuts and bruises and one or two with broken limbs. It was a rather gruesome sight, people with their heads tied up, and so on. I don't know whether there were any deaths. I asked the police chief and he said he didn't see how the town could have escaped without some deaths.

"Some of the injured were taken to our hotel, and others of the wounded to other buildings, including the Courthouse.

"The crowds were as a whole orderly, although some of them appeared a little excited. They stood about in the corridors of the buildings. Some of the youngsters were crying. There were no lights, no water and no gas. Drinking water was scarce until the American Legion men found some. The Legion also distributed blankets."

MERCER COUNTY SETS HIGH HEALTH RECORD

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 18.—There were only two cases of communicable diseases in Mercer county reported for the last week, states Dr. S. J. Dickey, the county medical director.

ONE of the many representative groups of people who have made the famous Challenge Flavor Test is Hoot Gibson, idol of Young America, and the entire cast appearing in Universal's new masterpiece "The King of the Rodeo."

Two slices of bread, one spread with GOOD LUCK and the other with the most expensive spread-for-bread, were tasted and judged by the twenty-nine players. The entire company then was polled with the question, "Which is which?"

TWENTY-FOUR confessed themselves unable to answer—could not distinguish one from the other. The other five tried to guess and three guesses were wrong.

You may have thought that you and your family could tell the difference. If the Challenge Flavor Test shows that you are mistaken, then you have been missing a wonderful opportunity to save money. Make the test today. Let your family decide.

"MURDER FARM" STAINED AX AND BLOCK FOUND

GIVEN COWBOY OUTFIT' MORROW DODGES CAMERAS

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Although Ambassador Morrow rarely goes horseback riding, he now has a big Mexican saddle of the finest leather work trimmed in silver and a "charro" or Mexican horseman's costume of skintight pants, a bolero jacket covered with fancy embroidery design, and a pair of big silver spurs.

They were presented to the Ambassador by Hal Mangum, American rancher, whose ranch in the state of Coahuila the Ambassador visited yesterday.

Despite urging, the Ambassador refused to don the regalia or pose in it much to the disappointment of a party of photographers, some of whom came from Texas, who hoped to take pictures of the Ambassador arrayed as a charro.

A bear hunt also was arranged for Mr. Morrow, but he said he was not a bear hunter, so Col. Alexander J. McNab, American military attache, was the Ambassador's proxy on the hunting trip while Mr. Morrow rested at the ranch house.

The Ambassador is expected to return to Mexico City tonight with Mrs. Morrow, whom he met as she returned from New York by way of Eagle Pass, Tex.

BOTH BELIEVED BOY KILLING CLUE

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 18.—Shifting from the gruesome grave-riddled "murder farm" to the basement of the home of Sanford Clark's grandfather, investigators of his grisly tale of boy-killing by the 21-year-old Stewart Northcott, found another ax, encrusted with matted brown hair and lacquered with dried blood. A wooden chopping block also was discovered.

It is believed that the unidentified Mexican youth whose headless body was found near Puente recently was killed in this cellar. First shot with a .22 caliber rifle, said to belong to young Northcott, his head was hacked from his body and the body itself stuffed into a sack, carried away by car and hurled to the roadside. It is thought the butcher then took the youth's head to the murder farm where he buried it in a quicklime grave to destroy any possible identification clues.

Both the elder Northcott, being held as a material witness, and the Clark lad corroborated this theory. The chief corroboration comes, however, from the finding of undigested tapioca in the stomach contents of the Mexican and the verified knowledge that Mrs. Northcott, mother of the suspected youth, often served such food.

It was expected today that city chemist Rex Welsh would report his findings in determining whether hair, bones and blood found on the ranch were of humans.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
Refrigerator

Miss Alice Bradley, Principal of Miss Farmer's School of Cookery in Boston, has written the following...

"I can truthfully say that in my experience I have never come across a refrigerator which is as sanitary as the General Electric. I suppose the fact that all the machinery is in one hermetically sealed casing accounts for that. There is no oil anywhere to catch dust, no crevices where it can linger, no fan to suck it into the mechanism.

Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree, another home economics expert, in charge of The Sun-Telegraph Cooking School, echoes Miss Bradley's praise. She also uses G E for all her refrigerator needs. To really learn why experts say all these nice things be sure to attend the school at the Soldiers' Memorial Hall Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

You should see these sanitary, quiet, roomy refrigerators. Study them carefully yourself. Come in today.

BEAVER MURDER TRIAL JURY PANEL EXHAUSTED

BEAVER, Pa., Sept. 18.—An additional venire of 20 jurors reported today to be examined for service in the trial of Frank Wyno, Conway, for the fatal stabbing of his son-in-law, Louis Craple, at Conway, June 10. Wyno pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder. Nine jurors had been selected when the panel became exhausted yesterday.

FIND FULL SET OF YEGG TOOLS

Swooping down on the rendezvous of a band of alleged safe crackers, who have been operating here for several months, city detectives early today arrested four persons as they were counting the money stolen in their most recent robbery—the cracking of the 600-pound safe stolen from Fishel's restaurant, 5542 Penn avenue, early yesterday.

A search of the rendezvous at 1613 Boulevard of the Allies revealed a modern line of safe cracking tools, including blowtorch, electric drills, tube of nitroglycerin, goggles, gloves, pliers, jacks and hammers, all contained in a metal case.

Those arrested were docketed as John Martin, 24; Charles Miller, 28; Arthur Gilbert, 34, and Kitty Gilbert, 22, the latter said to be the wife of Gilbert. The only one of the quartet whom police said they could identify as having been in trouble before was Miller.

Inspector of Detectives Frank Boyd said the gang is a new one operating in Pittsburgh. He asserted they evidently had been at work four or five months. When he received information that a gang was housed in the Boulevard of the Allies he dispatched Detectives William Egan, Frank Dodson, Michael Carney and Joseph Jackson to the rendezvous. The detectives reported the four were counting money taken from a bag, which bore markings indicating, they said, it had been stolen from Fishel's store. In another room they reported finding the metal case containing the working tools of the gang.

VOTE MACHINE PROJECT BACKED BY ENGINEMEN

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 18.—(AP.) — Approval of the optional voting machine amendment and those providing for bond issues of $25,000,000 for forestry purposes and $8,000,000 for State College was voted at the meeting of the legislative board of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers and Firemen, it was announced yesterday. The board also announced it would oppose the $50,000,000 road bond issue and the $5,000,000 for armories. It took no action on the amendment providing $50,000,000 for improving the state welfare institutions. The proposal to permit Philadelphia to increase its borrowing capacity was approved, but the Greater Pittsburgh amendment was opposed.

Miss Bliss's important discovery in taste

FOR a long time we have been suggesting that housekeepers test Crisco by actually tasting it before they use it for cakes and pies and frying.

Why? Because we knew this test would convince them that the sweet delicate flavor of Crisco could not help but improve the flavor of foods prepared with it. Let Miss Mary A. Bliss tell you how she feels about Crisco:

"I tasted my Crisco and really, I never thought I could make such a discovery. I knew that Crisco was unparalleled for obtaining that wholesome rich flavoring, in frying and baking, but never did I believe that such a delightfully fresh taste could be found in Crisco direct from the can.

"I am a New Englander by birth, and so, of course, apple-pie and doughnuts are two of my weaknesses. Before I discovered the use of Crisco, my doughnuts were soggy and my pie-crust was tough. Now I am told by my friends that never have they eaten such crisp doughnuts and flaky pie-crust as I make."

See if the test suggested below doesn't give you, too, the surprise of your whole cooking experience:

Put a little Crisco on the tip of a spoon. On the tip of another, a little of any other shortening. Taste first Crisco, then the other fat. Had you imagined there could be such a difference in the taste of cooking fats? Think what an improvement Crisco's sweet, wholesome flavor will make in the taste of your own pies, cakes, muffins, biscuits and fried foods.

Apple Sauce Cake

½ cup Crisco
1¼ cups sugar
1 cup thick unsweetened apple sauce
2 cups pastry flour
1 cup seeded raisins
1 egg beaten
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon soda
3 tablespoons hot water
½ teaspoon salt

Cream sugar and Crisco. Add egg and raisins cut in half. Dissolve soda in hot water, mix with apple sauce. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and spices. Add alternately with apple sauce to creamed mixture. Bake in Criscoed loaf pan in moderate oven 350° F. one hour.

Caramel Cake

Cook in iron skillet ½ cup sugar until it smokes. Remove from fire. Stir in quickly ½ cup boiling water, then boil until it starts to thicken.

¾ cup Crisco
2 cups sugar
3 egg yolks unbeaten
4 teaspoons baking powder
1½ cups milk
Caramel syrup
½ teaspoon vanilla
3¾ cups pastry flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 egg whites stiffly beaten

Cream Crisco and sugar. Add yolks, caramel, vanilla and cream well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add alternately with milk. Fold in egg whites. Bake in 3 layers ½ hour in moderate oven 350° F.

Nut Caramel Frosting

1 cup brown sugar
½ cup white sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup broken walnuts
⅓ cup boiling water
2 egg whites stiffly beaten

Boil sugars and water until it forms a ball in cold water. Beat slowly into egg whites. Continue beating until cool. Add pinch Cream of Tartar, vanilla and nuts.

[All measurements level]

Walnut Loaf Cake

½ cup Crisco
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
¾ cup chopped walnuts
1¾ cups pastry flour
2¼ teaspoons baking powder
3 egg yolks beaten light
2 egg whites beaten stiff

Cream Crisco, sugar and salt. Add yolks, nuts and milk, then flour, and baking powder sifted together three times. Last fold in egg whites. Bake 45 minutes in Criscoed angel cake pan in moderate oven 350° F. Cover top and sides with plain icing. Sprinkle with chopped walnuts or use them whole. The Caramel Nut Icing is also delicious on this cake.

You taste your milk . . .
You test your eggs . . . .

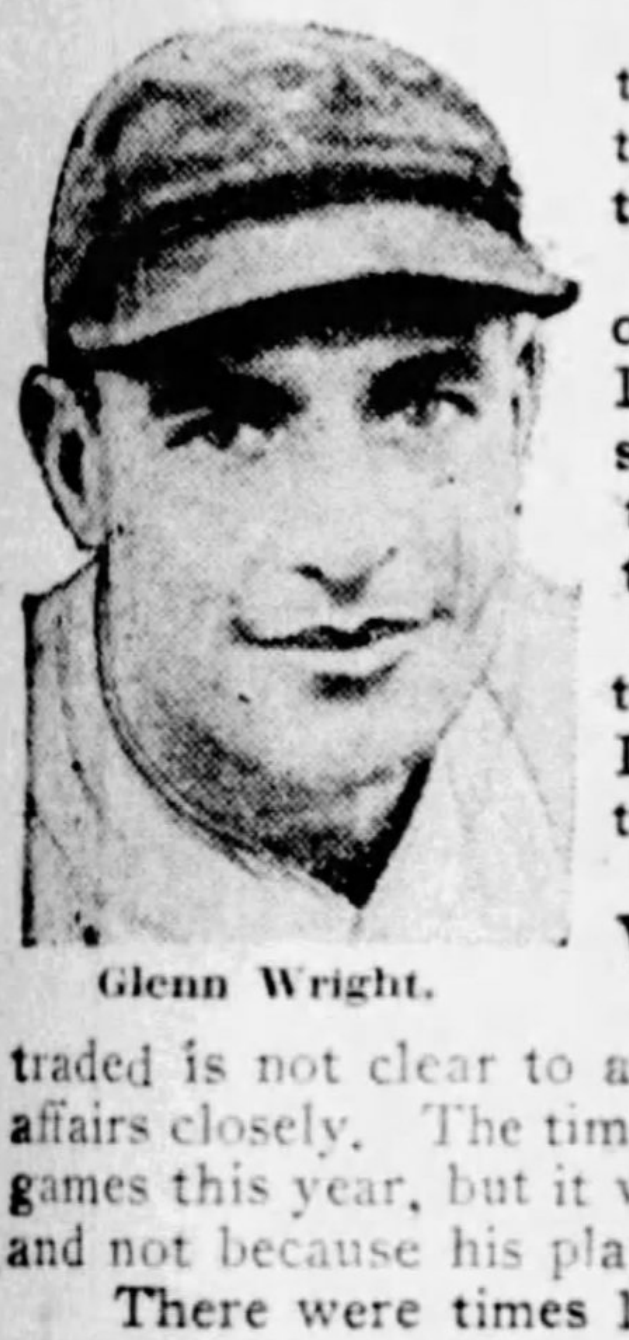
SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

Pirate Owner Spikes Rumor of Plan to Trade Wright—Hagen May Set World Golf Record—France's Third Capture of American Tennis Title May Increase Clamor for Tilden's Reinstatement.

THE most persistent baseball fake of the year, the report that the Pittsburgh club is planning to trade Glenn Wright before another season rolls around, has bobbed up again.



Glenn Wright.

There is every reason to believe that the latest rumor, like the previous yarns to the same effect, is without foundation.

A month ago, when the story made one of its regular appearances, Manager Donie Bush denied it emphatically. He said he had never entertained any thought of trading Wright and declared the big shortstop was not on the market.

When the latest rumor was brought to the attention of President Barney Dreyfuss last night he branded it as utterly false.

WHY there should be a belief in any quarter that Wright might be traded is not clear to any fan who has been following Pirate affairs closely. The timely-hitting player has been out of many games this year, but it was always because of illness or injury, and not because his playing failed to satisfy the management.

There were times last year when Wright was accused of not attending strictly to his baseball work, but this season no fault could be found with him in that direction. Possibly he may not be at shortstop in 1929, as it is believed the management may try to convert him into a first or second baseman, or even into an outfielder, but he is too valuable a player to be allowed to get away, and it is safe to predict that he will be found somewhere in the Pirate lineup.

"THERE isn't a word of truth in the rumor that Wright is to be traded," said President Dreyfuss. "Our aim is to get as many more good ball players as possible instead of to get rid of any that we now have.

"Reports that there was some negotiating for the trading of Wright earlier in the season were without foundation. The only time there was any mention of such a thing was when the president of another National League club came to us and said he had read in a newspaper a report that led him to believe we would entertain an offer for the shortstop. I told him the story was a fake from irresponsible sources and that there was nothing doing as far as a trade for Wright was concerned. That still goes."

Walter Hagen.

BOBBY JONES having had his annual innings as the king of amateur golfers, it is now Walter Hagen's turn to give his yearly demonstration of supremacy in the professional ranks. Where Jones merely equaled the record of Jerry Travers in winner the amateur title of the United States four times, Hagen, if he is not off his stride, may set a world mark by winning a professional national championship five times in succession. As victor in the National Professional Golfers' Association the last four years, Hagen already shares the world record with Tom Morris, who won the British four times in a row up to 1872, so that if he can win the P. G. A. tourney again at the Five Farms course in Baltimore, starting October 1 he will set a new world pro mark for all time.

THE victory of Henri Cochet over Francis T. Hunter yesterday at Forest Hills, which carried the lawn tennis championship of the United States to France for the third time in succession, probably will add strength to the popular clamor for the reinstatement of Bill Tilden.

The outcome might not have been different had Tilden competed in the tourney—Tilden himself says that when Cochet is right no one in the world can beat him—but at least it must be conceded that without him the field representing this country was not America's best. Another item that may have considerable weight with the United States tennis powers

TEAM AIMS TO REGAIN GRIDIRON LAURELS

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 18.—Grove City College should take the place in this section's football spotlight that it handed over to another in 1927 during the coming gridiron season.

Varsities that have worn the Crimson of Grove City in years past always have been rated the closest to the major elevens of the tri-state district. It has been seldom, of course, that a Crimson eleven has toppled Pitt, Wash-Jeff, West Virginia or Carnegie Tech, but a Grove City football team always has been a dangerous football team.

In 1927, after some five years of almost uninterrupted success in campaigning among the smaller schools in the district, the team from this school gave up the

BURNS REFUSES TO JOIN YANKS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—George Burns, veteran of 16 major league baseball seasons and in 1926 the American League's most valuable player, has announced his refusal to report to the New York Yankees, to whom he was sold at the waiver price by the Cleveland club.

Burns regarded the deal as an injustice, inasmuch as he had asked for his unconditional release in order to negotiate for a managerial job with a minor league club. Waivers were asked at his request, he said, but he wished them withdrawn when the New York club refused to waive him out of the league.

The veteran first baseman said he had "a lot of good baseball left in him" and wanted to obtain a playing managerial position with some fast minor league club before his playing days are over. He added because of the few remaining games left in the present campaign he would be of little use to the Yankees.

N. Y. STAR ENJOYS BANNER YEAR

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—After his reign of several years as the best third baseman in baseball, Pie Traynor's throne is threatened by a friendly pretender—Fred Lindstrom. Enjoying the best season of his career, which truly is a remarkable year, Lindstrom is being boomed by New York critics as the best in the sport.

The great Pirate captain would be the first to confer the honor upon his rival, but Pie has a million supporters who would hesitate a long time before making such an admission.

At the Traynor banquet held in Pittsburgh some time ago, Lindstrom, in his eulogy of Traynor, remarked that for years he had been "trying to do the things that Pie does." It may be that Fred has arrived on a par with Traynor, but to this writer, at least, he has yet to show the fielding flashes performed by Pie, especially on those occasions when Traynor throws out

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SPORTS EDITOR

THE famous One-Eye Connelly, of gate-crashing fame, still is in our midst, and he's living the life of Reilly, at least for a few days. He has acquired a couple of affluent friends and is stopping at Webster Hall and riding about in well-upholstered motor cars.

One-Eye got out of Mercy Hospital over the week-end after having been under treatment there for several days. How he happened to get in is a long, long story. It all started in Sandusky, O., while he was en route from Detroit to Philadelphia to witness the Benny Bass-Harry Blitman fight last week. He developed a toothache and had two molars extracted. The after-pain was terrific and One-Eye followed the advice of the dentist to take some aspirin tablets for relief. He took one, then two, then three, and, finally, the entire box and went to sleep for an entire day and night. When he awoke he headed for Pittsburgh.

ARRIVING here, Connelly's pain returned and he visited another dentist, who prescribed anacin tablets. One-Eye took one of these, then two, then three, and, finally, again the entire box. Once more he slept and slept and slept, and when he finally awoke the pains of hunger were gnawing at his vitals and he left his downy couch in search of refreshment.

Out in the street he felt dizzy and leaned against a telegraph pole for support. The next thing he knew he woke up in the hospital. A policeman had found him asleep standing up and turned him in. One-Eye finally prevailed upon the hospital authorities to give him his liberty and then cast about for financial assistance. He got enough to tide him over until he ran into the aforementioned affluent friends, and now—until he wakes up again and finds it is only a dream—he's rolling in clover.

Ah, me, but some people have it soft and get all the breaks!

TO GIVE AWAY BASE BALLS

During the showing of the synchronized sound version of "Warming Up" at the J. P. Harris Theater in McKeesport throughout the week beginning next Monday, two autographed National League baseballs will be given to patrons, afternoon and evening each day. These baseballs, which are the regulation type used at Forbes Field will bear the signatures respectively of Capt. Pie Traynor and Manager Donie Bush, of the Pirates.

INJURIES HAMPER PLAID COACH

FOR the first time since training camp activities got under way, Coaches Wally Steffen and Bob Waddell, of Carnegie Tech, seemed deeply concerned over the present situation. With Saul Mielziner definitely out of the game, the coaches were up in arms as who will fill the guard position when John Dreshar is shifted. The shifting of Dreshar to center has altered the plans of the Tartan mentors. Dreshar has been playing guard in the practice games and appeared to be the ideal man for the job.

Dreshar now appears like the man of the hour for center. Centers are not made over night, and having a man like Dreshan around should take a heap of worry off of the shoulders of Coach Steffen and Waddell.

The Tartan coaches must now find a player to take Dreshar's place. There is plenty of sophomore material available, but a veteran is desired by the coaches.

Hospital attendants pronounced Mielziner's condition as "very well" today. He is likely to be confined to his bed for two weeks, however.

PITT

Pitt's second string backfield, composed of Bucky Wagner, quarterback; Ted Helsing, fullback; Felix Wilps and Phil Goldberg, halves, were used against the Panther freshmen in a long scrimmage yesterday afternoon as Coach Sutherland's squad went through the first workout on the home practice field.

The varsity backfield was allowed to rest up, and the reserve backs experimented with new plays against the frosh. Wilps and Goldberg slid off tackle for short, consistent gains, but no great damage was done with Dan Daugherty and Jimmy Clark, former Kiski stars, backing up the line n stellar fashion.

Two workouts will be held today and tomorrow, after which the Panthers will settle down to the season's grind, working out each afternoon.

Coach Sutherland, apparently counting on an aerial offensive this fall, gave out a number of forward pass plays yesterday.

DUQUESNE

The Duquesne University football camp suffered its first fatality today when John T. (Tackling) Dummy, who has been much abused lately by the Laydenites, succumbed to hard treatment and a new dummy was erected in his place.

From now on the sessions at tackling will be only once a day. Not in deference to the new arrival, but because school has started for half the squad. A blackboard drill will be the first general practice, at 12:45, lasting half an hour. Then at 3:30 the boys will have calisthenics, tackling practice and scrimmaging or signal practice following the regular routine.

batters on "two-bast hits down the left field line."

Lindstrom is outhitting Traynor this season, but Pie outbatter him last year. Both are excellent base runners, with Pie apparently having a little edge in this department. In the matter of endeavor few would dispute Traynor's advantage.

HERMES-GROVE BATTLES SHOE NINE TONIGHT

Hermes-Grove and the Book Shoe nines will clash again this evening in the second game of the post-season series for the City League championship at Born Field, at the bottom of Beechwood boulevard, the game being called at 6 o'clock.

The first game was played at the same grounds last Saturday and the Dairymen got the jump. This evening Manager Carson is expected to close the series by winning the second game. While nothing has been announced it is expected that Snee will work for the Grovers and Toner for the Book Shoe outfit.

Book Shoe have to shoot the whole works this evening, for the series is only three games, so Finn will practically depend upon Toner to put the Shoe men back in the race.

OKESON HERE

Walter Okeson, who is in charge of the assignment of football officials for the leading colleges of the East, will hold two meetings in Pittsburgh today. Both are scheduled at the Schenley Hotel at 4 o'clock for officials and at 8 o'clock for officials and coaches.

October 4 Set for Series Opener

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—The world series of 1928 will start on Thursday, October 4, in the park of the club winning the American League championship, Commissioner Landis announced here yesterday. The date was chosen in preference to October 3 because of the close races in both leagues, and the necessity of handling vast numbers of tickets on short notice.

Games No. 1 and 2 will be played in the American League park on October 4 and 5; games No. 3, 4 and 5 will see the scene shifted to the National League front, with any remaining contests necessary to be played back on the American League grounds.

With Chicago or St. Louis opposing either American League pennant possibility, the third, fourth and fifth games will be played on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. October 7, 8 and 9, as Saturday would have to be devoted to the jump West. If Pittsburgh should win the pennant, the National League games would fall on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, with Sunday open.

If the Giants should represent the National, the series would be played right through without a break, starting on October 4. The allotment of games, as provided under the "Ebbets plan" would stand, even if the Yankees were opponents of John McGraw's club. That is, they would be played two, three and two at the respective parks, rather than on the shift every day plan pervailing in previous all-New York series.

An open date was provided for a jump back from either St. Louis or Chicago after the fifth game, for further competition in an American League park, but no time would be lost in returning to New York or Philadelphia after a fifth game in Pittsburgh on Tuesday.

SPORT COMMENT

in a reconsideration of Tilden's case is the great difference Big Bill's absence from the competition made in the gate receipts. The paid admissions were close to 10,000 below last year's total.

Ty Cobb.

WHILE Ty Cobb's definite announcement that he will sever all his connections with baseball at the close of the present season did not come as a surprise, it having been known for some time that he would retire this fall, his farewell statement was read with regret in all parts of the country.

The game will go on, as it did after it lost Anson, Spalding, Kelly, Clarkson, Ewing, Wagner, Mathewson and all the rest of the bygone, but after Cobb's departure there will remain standing a monument in the form of countless 24-year records in batting and baserunning at which future diamond stars will be shooting vainly perhaps for generations.

REMY KREMER'S sore arm may have saved the Giants from another setback at the Pirates' hands yesterday, as Brame and Blankenship proved easy for the McGrawites. At that the Cardinals kept pace with their closest rivals by winning over the Phils with a three-run rally in the seventh inning and are still two full games to the good in the National League pennant race. In the American loop, the Yanks stretched their slight lead to a full game by trimming the Browns while the A's were idle. The Macks have another game today with the Indians, who have lost 12 in a row, but next Sunday the Hugmen will get a three-game slice of the soft picking in Cleveland while the Athletics are grappling with the troublesome Browns. The possibility that neither race may be decided until near the finish has caused a change in world series arrangements. The first two games will be played October 4 and 5 instead of October 3 and 4, and if St. Louis or Chicago wins in the National the third game will not be played until Sunday, October 7. It will be the first time a Saturday date has ever been passed up in the post-season derby.

IT DOES not always follow that a ball player's career is ended just because the major leagues no longer want him. There is still a chance for him to earn a livelihood in the minors, because it is often the case that he can hit and field well enough to hold up his end there even though his youth and much of his speed have departed.

In the Class AA circuits, not to mention lesser loops, are many veterans who once were capable performers in the big show. Indeed, numerous major league scouts have returned from trips through the brush belt with the report that the best players they saw were the older men who had outlived their usefulness in the upper set.

Dave Bancroft

BUT there is at least one prominent big leaguer for whom the minors will hold no appeal when his career in the majors is over. That player is Shortstop Dave Bancroft of the Brooklyn club.

"There are a lot of good towns in the minors, but I'll not play in one of them," said Banny. "When I'm through in the majors I'll burn up my uniform and play no more. This is my fourteenth season in the big leagues and I think I have made it a good one. I've missed only two or three of the games the Dodgers have played, and that's not so bad for a shortstop whose legs were supposed to have caved in under him."

"I STILL think I have one or two more good years left. If the Dodgers want me again next year I'll be back. If not I'll be with some other big league team or out of baseball. I'd like to wind up my career in Brooklyn. The fans there have treated me splendidly and I have enjoyed playing before them. As far as drifting into the minors is concerned—that's out. One good thing about being in the majors at least 10 years is that they can't send you to a minor league team without your own consent, and they're not going to get mine."

Boxing Notes

YOUNG MARCO POLO, of Pittsburgh, and Young Guido, of Niles, O., have been matched for the six-round semi-final to the Joe packo-Ike McFowler heavyweight battle at McKeesport Thursday night. Guido and Polo are 144-pounders. Kenny Davis, of East Liverpool, O., and Tommy Kane, of McKeesport, 120-pounders, have been matched for the opening preliminary.

Jim Maloney and Jack DeMave clash in a return bout in Boston tonight. Phil Krug boxes Georgie Ward at Newark, N. J.

K. O. Christner and Joe Sekyra cross gloves in the Central League baseball park at Akron Thursday night. Christner recently won on a foul in the second round over Seykra at Cleveland.

Jim Jeffries and his brother, Jack, still are doing their vaudeville act. They are playing Boston this week.

George Courtney battles Ernie Owens, of California, in the Taylor Bowl, Cleveland, tonight. Gorilla Jones boxes Bobby LaSalle, of California, in the semi-final and Carl Tremaine returns to the ring against Billy Herold, in another battle on the same card.

Harry Fay, formerly of Charleroi, and Johnny Urban, local light-heavyweight, will box one of the six-round bouts on the Jack Delaney-Nando Tassi 15-round bout card at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, tomorrow night.

Tommy Grogan the lightweight puncher of Omaha, boxes Carl Duane at the Queensboro Stadium, New York, tonight. Jack McVey and Johnny Haystack are in the semi-final.

BABY JOE GANS HANDS CUDDY DEMARCO KAYO

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles Negro welterweight, won from Cuddy DeMarco, of Pittsburgh, on a technical knockout in the fourth round of a 10-round bout at Dexter Park last night. DeMarco went down for counts of nine in the first and second rounds and was being punished severely when the referee halted the uneven struggle in the fourth. Gans weighed 140; DeMarco 146.

Miller Murdered, Police Decide

NEW SALEM, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Murder and not suicide, as was at first announced, ended the life of Walk Miller, well-known manager of prizefighters, at his health farm here Sunday night.

The quiet spoken little man from Dixie who piloted Deacon Tiger Flowers from the obscurity of the Georgian hinterlands to the world middleweight championship, only to have him die on an operating table in New York, was slain by two bullets, one through the heart, the other through the head, while he lay unconscious from a heavy blow from a blunt instrument that fractured his skull.

This was disclosed last night by Physicians Henry Van Hoevenberg and D. S. Meyers, who stated, unequivocally, that Miller could not have shot himself twice.

The room where the body of Miller was found by his camp attendants was ordered sealed by District Attorney Frederick Traver, of Ulster county, and five deputies set to work on a rigid investigation. An autopsy will be performed by Coroner W. H. Connor and the body will be claimed and taken to Atlanta, Ga., today by Mrs. Miller, who arrived yesterday from Cleveland. Before her marriage she was Annette Sherrief, daughter of well-to-do parents in Ohio.

Grove City Outlook Bright

crown to Geneva, losing 13-0 in the annual classic. Previous to this setback, the Grovers had been able to thrice spoil the Genevians' claims to the minor title by scoring unexpected victories over Bo McMillin's eleven. This was due in the main to the fact that the men were functioning under a new coach, and employing a system while not totally unlike the Pitt style of play, to which they had been accustomed in the past, was different enough to keep the eleven from functioning as it should.

Despite the loss of several stars, including Pflug, a veteran and powerful tackle; Capt. Connell and Rosenberg, a crack fullback, the Crimson eleven looms this fall as a real threat in the district. The schedule has been filled with games with Class B elevens, with the single exception of the one carded with Villa Nova.

The team promises to be a fast, hard-hitting and smart aggregation. The line will have weight, while the backfield, according to present plans, is to be a "pony" quartet, with plenty of fire and dash. The squad is a fine mixture of veterans and classy freshmen. Stirring battles are being waged for all the positions. They are all open, too, according to Berry.

"PONY" BACKFIELD

Capt. Paterlini, Ralph Day, Angelo and Kammer compose the Grovers' "pony" backfield. Inasmuch as all four are fairly light, none being suitable for the fullback job, the combination will have to be broken up to allow for a hefty fullback. There are three on hand for the job. They are Lantz, Donnelly and Munson. Shoop, a squad member last year, has returned to school and may win the place, though he will be a week or so late in getting started.

Paterlini will play quarterback, a position with which he is familiar. Angelo and Day, both fine ball carriers and smart defensive players, have first call on the halfback positions.

Other backs who have shown promise and upon whom Coach Berry is depending heavily are Freddie Pusch, Waleski, Joe Gazella, brother of Mike, Yankee third baseman and former Lafayette grid star; Baker, DeKoster, Thomas and Charley Crabb, who played varsity ball at Pitt in 1926.

Day likely will do most of the kicking, handling both the punting, place and drop booting. He showed fine form last year in his first varsity action and is expected to develop into one of the best halfbacks in the district.

The end positions are open, though Wideman, a rangy chap with considerable speed and strong defensively, has taken a good hold on one of the wings. Rankin, basketball star and a Pittsburgh district boy, who has seen considerable service during his stay here, is another likely looking prospect.

Charing and Gregory are another pair of wingmen who are certain to see plenty of action. One or the other may develop into a starting end, replacing Rankin, whose lack of weight will work to his disadvantage.

FOUR BID FOR BERTHS

There are four men in the scramble for a tackle job. Sadler, a hefty youngster from Midland, and Jack Koma appear to be the first string bets. Ed Schultz and Dight, two powerful chaps, are rated as first string replacements. Both have excellent chances of winning varsity berths.

Cantone, Sofish, Reeves and Elkins are the four leading candidates for guard jobs. So far Cantone and Sofish have shown to the best advantage. The Cantone-Sofish combination will provide more weight than speed, though both men are able to get around sufficiently fast to make them dangerous linemen.

At the center, McCloskey is fighting off the challenges of Caulfield and Eisenbaugh. None of the three men are overly heavy. McCloskey has the experience and has shown ability both on the offense and the defense

I was impressed considerably with the brains that seems to be the possession of the Grove City team. The players look to be and act, smart. Capt. Paterline is a trim-looking back, not very big, but plenty fast and able to both take it and give it. I think he will compare favorably with any quarterback in the district.

Coach Berry may be able to develop two sets of linemen, utilizing speed in one case and weight in the other. In the event that he places a heavy fullback in the backfield, Angelo or Kammer will be benched. Should he decide to use Paterline, Day, Angelo and Kammer as a regular combination, Kammer will go to full, as he is the best line cracker of the four.

The Grove City schedule is one designed to afford the Crimson a fine chance to claim the district Class B title if the eleven is able to go through without defeat. The program opens October 6, with St. Francis appearing at Grove City. October 13 will find the Crimson stacking up against John Carroll of Cleveland here and the following week Westminster's Titans are to battle on the local field.

Following this game the team will be away for four games, meeting Allegheny at Meadville, Geneva at Beaver Falls, Waynesburg at Waynesburg and Villa Nova at Philadelphia in successive weeks. The Villa Nova contest is the only game on the schedule with a major eleven.

The season will close on Thanksgiving Day, Thiel furnishing the opposition here.

M'KEESPORT GRID LEADER DEAD

By TOM BIRKS.

Independent football locally received another blow Sunday evening when Johnny Flaherty, popular young manager of the McKeesport Crimsons, was killed in a motorcycle accident going home from the Crimson-Dutchtown game. Flaherty was the life of the Crimsons this year, and his plugging for his club won him many friends. The writer especially feels the tragedy. Going to McKeesport last Thursday for the Shamrock get-together, most of the evening was spent with Flaherty talking over the prospects of the club.

On Sunday Flaherty was on hand getting the lineups and assisting all he could to make the writer enjoy the game. He was only a young man, but a comer in the independent football ranks. His passing will be more than a blow to the Crimson club. The entire team and officials held a meeting last night, and for the time being George Hill will handle the affairs of the club. He may be reached at McKeesport 2043.

IRELAND BEATS MOODY

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Alexander Ireland, of Leith, defeated the Welshman, Frank Moody, on points for the middleweight championship of Great Britain here last night.

W. O. W. LOSES IN ELEVENTH

CINCINNATI, Sept. 18.—The W. O. W. nine of Pittsburgh lost its first game in the fourth annual National Baseball Federation tournament here yesterday after an 11 inning battle with the New Haven (Conn.) nine, 9 to 8. The winnig run was made when Besher opened with a single and went to second on a bad throw made in an effort to catch him napping. He went to third on the next pitched ball, which Kolinsky allowed to pass him. Gillispie then knocked out a single which scored Besher.

CUBS BUY PITCHER

READING, Pa., Sept. 18.—(AP.)—Harry (Socks) Seibold, leading International League pitcher, with 21 victories and 8 defeats, was sold to the Chicago Cubs yesterday by the Reading Keys. Seibold will report next spring. Cash and two players, to be named later, were given to the Keys in exchange for Seibold.

SELLING WAVE TURNS STOCKS IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(AP.)—A wave of selling, presumably inspired by the calling of $25,000,000 in bank loans, turned the course of prices irregular today after an early outburst of strength had carried nearly two score issues into new high ground. The ticker was again swamped with the volume of trading, falling half an hour or more behind the market.

Call money held steady at the renewal rate of 7 per cent, but a slightly firmer tone was reported in the time money market for short term loans. Failure of American bankers to purchase any gold in the London market today caused some disappointment, as further gold imports had been looked for this week. Sterling exchange was slightly higher.

The inability of the ticker to keep up with the trading is reported to have caused several large traders to temporarily withdraw from the market. Others showed an inclination to take profits because of the possibility of another large increase in brokers' loans this week. Judging from the tremendous volume of 100 to 300 share lots, the public was still in the market on a large scale.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe was a spectacular feature, soaring 16 points. International Harvester extended its gain to 8⅝ points, Gimbel Bros., to 7¼ and Curtiss Aeroplane to 4½ before profit-taking sales forced recessions throughout the general list.

Coppers again gave one of the most impressive demonstrations of group strength. American Smelting ran up more than 5 points to 256½ and was accompanied into new high ground by Anaconda, American Zinc, Cerro De Pasco, Calumet & Hecla, Inspiration, Kennecott, Nevada, Granby and Miami.

Continental Motors sold at 20, double the year's low, and then lost most of its gain. General Motors was in brisk demand around yesterday's high price.

The closing was irregular. There was more general selling in the popular stocks, especially Warner Bros. Pictures common, which dropped to 101½ in the closing hour following the expected boost in call money to 7½. Yellow Truck, however, climbed to 41, the year's highest, and a block of 20,300 shares of Sinclair Oil was taken on its way up to 29 while Kelvinator Corporation rose 3 points. In the higher priced class, A. M. Byers made a rapid advance of more than 8 points and Columbia Gas touched a new high at 130. Total sales approximated 4,300,000 shares.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—With receipts of new wheat in Canada, the largest of the season, and with excellent harvest weather continuing, wheat prices took an early downturn today. Arrivals of wheat at Winnipeg today totaled 2,054 cars, against 1,069 last week, and 909 a year ago, opening unchanged to ⅛c off, wheat later showed a moderate general setback. Corn, oats and provisions were also easier, corn starting unchanged to ⅝c down, and subsequently undergoing a drop all around.

At noon, wheat was ⅛c to ⅝c net lower, and corn ⅝c to 1c off.

Commission house support for the wheat market was in less evidence much of the time today than has been the rule of late. Advices at hand indicated that besides a consistently enlarging movement of newly harvested wheat in Canada, arrivals of domestic wheat northwest promised to become heavy toward the end of the week, more settled weather being given as the reason. Today's arrivals of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth, however, were still below the figures of either a week or a year ago.

Meanwhile the bearish effect of news that today's receipts of wheat in Canada were the biggest yet this season was supplemented by an authoritative estimate issued here that the world already has enough wheat in sight to get along this crop year without any surplus whatever from the southern hemisphere. This showing is on the basis that Canada and the United States now have a total crop and carry-over of 1,636,000,000 bushels, with possible world import requirements of but 800,000,000 bushels.

A Neighborly Salute

On the Occasion of Frank and Seders 20th Anniversary

TWENTY-FIVE years ago, two young men, Jacob H. Frank and Isaac Seder, were engaged in the wholesale business of women's ready-to-wear apparel on outer Fifth Avenue. They were successful, but believed that the retail business offered a greater opportunity. Accordingly, in 1908, just six years after the incorporation of the Mellon National Bank, they opened a small retail store on the corner of Fifth Avenue and Smithfield Street, diagonally opposite the Bank.

With little money but unlimited confidence, they began their career in the retail business on the policy of "the right merchandise at the right price." Consistently keeping faith with the public on this policy, the business has grown until now it occupies the handsome building extending the entire block from Fifth Avenue to Diamond Street on Smithfield.

This week, Frank & Seder begin the celebration of their 20th Anniversary. The Mellon National Bank offers hearty congratulations. To employees of the store, we extend a cordial invitation to make use of the Bank's facilities in transacting financial business. A checking account is a great convenience, and can be opened at the Mellon National Bank with a small deposit.

PITTSBURGH PLATE GLASS RALLIES IN EARLY MARKET

Stocks were active again at the opening of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange with prices making favorable comparison with yesterday's close and a few issues showing pronounced strength.

Blaw Knox Steel was the early feature with spirited demand for the issue pushing the price up to 110, a new high and a gain of about 5 points since the stock began its rise a few days ago. The street hears several rumors regarding the stock, one being that an extra dividend is in prospect and another that a small stock dividend may be declared at the end of the year. A price tag of 120 is placed on the issue by some of the local traders. Present dividend rate is $3 a year. Several months ago the company retired its preferred stock. Outstanding capital stock at present amounts to $6,280,125, par value $25, out of an authorized issue of $9,000,000. There are no bonds.

The glass stocks were quiet, but prices held steady to firm. Pittsburgh Plate rallied to 288, an advance of 3 points over last night's close. In the late trading yesterday the stock sold up to 290, but dropped back to 285 on a small lot sale just as the market closed. Well informed interests have been accumulating Pittsburgh Plate for several months, principally on the prospects of earnings arising out of the company's entrance into the automobile safety glass field in conjunction with the DuPonts of Delaware.

There was no change in the fuel division during the early trading. Lone Star Gas held around 55 and Arkansas common was fractionally under $3 a share.

Trading activity quieted down later in the day, but prices continued to display the firm tone noticeable during the early session. Blaw Knox met a little selling at the 110 level and receded a point, but later went through the morning's best price when the profit-taking sales were absorbed. Pittsburgh Plate Glass moved back up to 290 on a few transactions.

Local curb stocks were strong with Newton Steel recording a conspicuous gain. This issue changed hands today at 80 as compared with the last previous price of 74. Plymouth Oil went through yesterday's high to 20½ while Oil Well Supply Investment sold at 22, equal to the best price of the current movement.

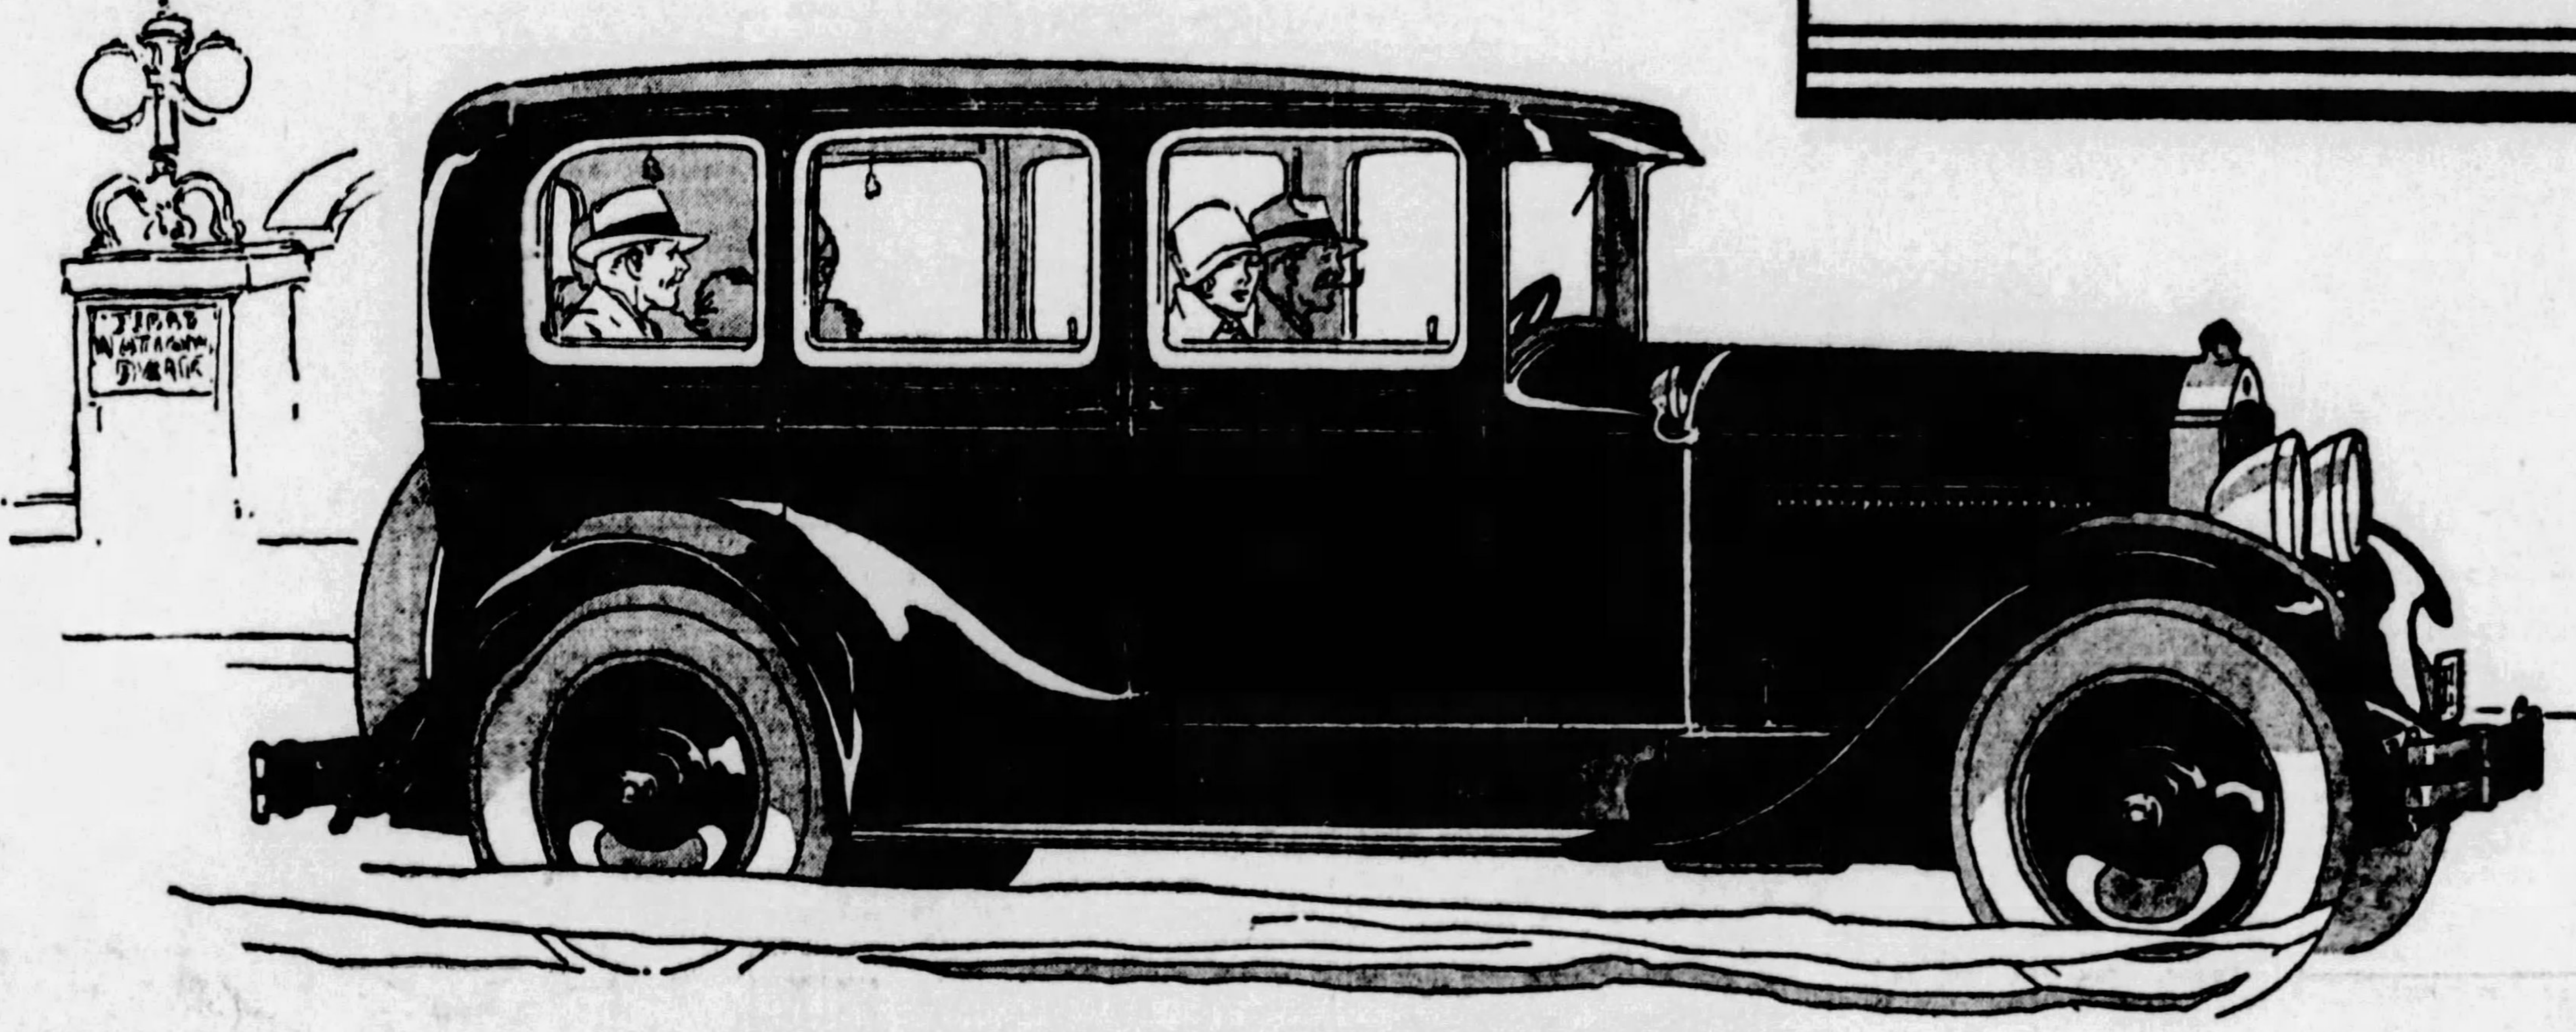
A NEW PACKARD EIGHT



The Packard Standard Eight 5-passenger Sedan, on the 126-inch wheelbase, $2435 at the factory

New Power, New Smoothness
New Comfort, Safety and Beauty

PACKARD STANDARD EIGHT
FIVE-PASSENGER SEDAN
$2435
AT THE FACTORY

PACKARD has now put eight-cylinder smoothness, power and performance at your command—and at a price a thousand dollars less than that at which any Packard Eight has ever been offered before.

The new Packard Standard Eight, available in a wide variety of beautiful body models on the popular 126 and 133-inch chassis, has all the characteristic roominess provided by previous models on the same wheelbases, despite the larger and more powerful motor.

This new car, backed by 30 years of engineering leadership, provides a degree of safety, comfort and luxury which even Packard has never before offered—the result of inventions and improvements which make it the easiest riding car in the world.

The new Packard Shock Absorbing System, a combination of Packard and European inventions, must be experienced in operation—words cannot describe its wonderful effect.

Come in and see this new Packard — look under the hood, inspect the remarkable new eight-in-line motor in which simplicity is the dominant keynote. Then drive this great car yourself, experience its riding comfort, note its clean design, its beauty, dignity and quality. We know your dream of the ideal car will be surpassed.

Your used car will be accepted as cash at its fair market price. If it is of average value you may be the proud possessor of a Packard Eight without a cent of cash investment—and with small monthly payments that you can conveniently meet.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Refractory Materials Demand Insures Harbison-Walker Profits — Construction Program Nears Completion.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

GOOD demand for refractory materials at satisfactory prices leads to the belief that the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company will report earnings for the present quarter fully as large, if not larger, than were shown in the two previous quarters of this year.

IN THE second quarter estimated net after all charges was $1,045,000, which was equivalent to $2.77 a share on the common stock after deducting dividends on the preferred stock.

In the first quarter $2.71 a share was earned. Net income in the first half of the year of $2,065,000 was equivalent to $5.18 a share. This represented a moderate increase over the same period of 1927 when $5.28 a share was earned.

HARBISON-WALKER has consistently shown improvement in earnings in each year for several years. Earnings in the first six months of this year were not far below regular dividend requirements for the entire year. The common stock is on a $6 annual dividend basis.

AT A MEETING of stockholders on Monday the proposal to change the common stock from $100 par value to stock without par value and to distribute four shares of new stock for each share of old stock was ratified.

This will be the first change in the company's capitalization since a stock dividend of 33 1-3 per cent in May, 1925.

AT PRESENT 360,000 shares of old common are outstanding. The 6 per cent preferred stock amounts to only $3,000,000. The company has no funded debt.

The balance sheet of June 30, 1928, shows total assets of $49,943,172. Against this the only liabilities outside of capital liabilities and reserves were accounts and bills payable of $2,346,650.

Current assets totaled $6,766,936. This did not include marketable securities of $6,469,852. These are valued at cost or market, whichever is lower. They include 20,000 shares of United States Steel common which were bought at far lower prices than now prevail.

THE surplus amounted to $6,068,957. Reserves totaled $2,527,535. Physical properties were valued at $35,634,971.

The construction program undertaken a year ago is nearing completion. This included the building of tunnel kilns which are expected to result in a great saving in costs.

Eventually it is planned to replace the bulk of intermittent kilns with more modern equipment.

Oil Output Up Slightly.

The Oil and Gas Journal estimates domestic crude oil production in the week ended September 15 at 2,504,954 barrels daily, an increase of 2,212 barrels daily over the preceding week.

Seminole at 306,000.

Seminole crude oil production totaled 306,128 barrels for 24 hours ended at 7 a. m. Monday, against 310,089 barrels Sunday, exclusive of the St. Louis pool.

West Kentucky Crude Raised.

The Ohio Oil Company has advanced the price of Western Kentucky crude oil 15 cents a barrel.

UVX Gets "Tubal" Process.

The Universal Pipe and Radiator Company announced that it has obtained control of the new "tubal" process for the manufacture of soil and water pipes. The plan which was developed jointly by the company's engineers and a group of outside experts, is said to effect a substantial saving in labor costs, and also a marked reduction in waste.

World Cotton Consumption.

The world's cotton consumption for the year ended July 31 totaled 25,540,000 bales, a decrease of 341,000 bales from the year before, the Bankers Trust Company is informed by its British information service. Of this total 15,407,000 bales were American cotton, 4,523,000 East Indian and 956,000 bales Egyptian cotton, all of which showed decreases.

Copper Production Up.

Copper production by countries which supply about 98 per cent of the total world output totaled 158,838 short tons in August, against 153,190 in July and 135,015 in August, 1927, according to the American Bureau of Metal Statistics.

Col. Ayres Optimistic.

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company and nationally known business statistician, says: "A rosy glow of hope and confidence is beginning to characterize the iron and steel industry. A short time ago we had large but declining volume of steel production, falling prices and meager profits. Now we have increasing volume, rising prices and improving profits."

Profitless Prosperity on Wane.

According to Walter S. Doxsey, editor of the Daily Metal Trade, the steel industry is facing real prosperity of boom proportions. He says demand in basic markets is unabated, rising steadily throughout the usually dull summer months and promising continued activity during the fall. "Present buying momentum presages a peak in the early spring of 1929. The end of profitless prosperity for the steel mills definitely is in sight," says Mr. Doxsey.

Fox Film Rights.

Fox Film Corporation class A and class B stockholders of record October 1 have been offered the right to subscribe to 153,444 shares of class A stock at $85 a share in the ratio of one new share for each five held. The right expires October 22. Proceeds of the sale amounting to about $12,500,000 will be used to pay off $7,000,000 mortgages, $2,100,000 in bank loans and also to cover $1,500,000 expense of construction of a complete sound studio for synchronization of feature pictures and production of talking movies. The new stock offering will be underwritten by Hayden, Stone & Co.

Likes Coppers and Rails.

One of the big New York commission houses wired its local correspondent today as follows: "With conditions in the copper industry excellent and with the price situation in the industry what it is, it seems to us that this group may still be expected to attain higher levels. We believe that such issues as Calumet and Arizona, Anaconda and Granby should be maintained until they have more thoroughly discounted the current trend of their favorable prospects. Another group that we believe merits continued constructive attention is the rail group. With the prospect of better relative earnings than were recorded during the current quarter last year, railroad stocks can reasonably be expected to respond to this improvement by moving head further."

Member Bank Loans Down.

Federal Reserve System member banks' loans and discounts during the week ended September 12 showed a decrease of $33,000,000.

Winkler Pool Potentialities.

The proration test of the Winkler county, West Texas, oil pool as of September 15 showed potential daily production of 2,555,902 barrels of crude oil from 161 40-acre units with 350 wells. On September 1 a proration test showed potential yield of 2,294,691 barrels daily from 330 wells.

Dutch Oil Differences Settled.

Reports from Washington say the oil dispute with the Netherlands of eight years standing has been settled. American citizens may participate in the development of petroleum lands in the Dutch East Indies on a reciprocal basis.

Ford Inquiring for Rails.

The Ford Motor Company is in the market for 30,000 tons of rails for the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad. Other inquiries pending include 35,000 tons for the Chesapeake and Ohio and 6,500 tons for the Hocking Valley.

Sugar Melt Smaller.

Total melt of 15 United States sugar refiners from January 1 to September 8 was 7,126,962,174 pounds, against 8,119,518,551 pounds from January 1 to September 10, 1927.

Building Shows Big Gain.

New building and engineering contracts in 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains in the week of September 8-15 amounted to $119,345,300, an increase of 28 per cent over the week before, F. W. Dodge Corporation reports. The daily average of new contracts this year was $22,026,800, against $20,945,300 daily for the first nine months of 1927.

Machine Tool Sales Increase.

Sales of machine tools and allied lines, taking the country as a whole, continue at a higher rate than at this time last year and with inquiries in good volume the outlook for the fall period is satisfactory. American machinist reports extensive buying is being done by the new textile mills in the South and in New England.

Spang-Chalfant.

Buying of Spang-Chalfant shares has been of the better grade this week, with indications that the real value of this stock is beginning to be realized by those working on the constructive side of the stock market. Those buying the stock predict much higher prices in the near future. It is one of the few stocks selling around $40 a share that is earning between $4 and $5 a share. The company, it is understood, earned its full year's dividend and the year's interest on its bonds in the first six months of this year, and there was a nice balance left for the common shares. The net for the last six months of the year can be diverted to the common. The common sold today at a new high for the movement.

Chevrolet Output Above 1927.

The Chevrolet Motor Company produced 122,702 cars and trucks in August, compared with 120,000 in July this year and 91,461 in August last year. Production for the first eight months of this year totaled 994,287 cars and trucks, against 786,344 units in the corresponding period of 1927.

Steel Sheet Output at 92.8 Per Cent.

Steel sheet production in the United States for August totaled 329,396 tons, according to the National Association of Flat Rolled Steel Manufacturers. This is at the rate of 92.8 per cent of capacity. Total sales for the month were 254,397 net tons or 71.7 per cent of capacity, while total shipments were 324,691 tons or 91.5 per cent. Unfilled tonnage as of September 1 was 490,023 net tons or 140.4 per cent of capacity.

Jordan Stock Offered at 8.

Jordan Motor Car Company will offer to stockholders of record September 25 74,000 shares of unissued treasury stock at $8 a share. Proceeds will be used for additional working capital. It is understood that a banking syndicate will underwrite the portion not taken by stockholders, to net the company $7 a share.

Oil Company Passes Dividend.

New England Fuel Oil Company of Massachusetts omitted the quarterly dividend of 25 cents due at this time.

Calumet and Arizona.

Estimates are heard that earnings of Calumet and Arizona this year may equal as much as $10 a share on its stock. In the first half of this year $4.57 was shown, while in the full year of 1927 only $5.80 was reported. Last year the average price of copper was only 13.06 cents, whereas first half earnings were on a basis of a little more than 14 cents, and the results for the final six months will be on a higher average price. Calumet owns 1,229,741 shares, or more than 68 per cent of New Cornelia, a low cost producer which is paying $2 a share. This dividend received by Calumet is equal to approximately $3.82 a share on its own stock outstanding. At $30 a share the value of Calumet's holding of New Cornelia is equal to $57 a share on its own stock.

Railroad Shares.

Railroad shares are acting better. There is no doubt that this group is far behind the industrials from the standpoint of averages. Rails are still below their highs of the year, whereas industrials have advanced more than 40 points in the averages from the June lows to the recent highs and topped their previous peak by better than 20 points. Market students maintain that when the public once becomes interested in the rails on a large scale it will be found that the floating supply is unusually small, and these stocks are likely to make a quick response to new buying. There have been indications recently of a much better demand from important market interests than in several months.

Register Today and Avoid Danger of Losing Vote

Register today. Have the matter off your mind and be secure against the last-minute rush of the final registration day, Saturday, October 6. Today is the second of the three days of personal enrollment for the important November election, and to delay may mean that you will be unable to vote, since circumstances may prevent attending to the duty if it is put off until the October date.

The polls will be open this evening in your district, the registrars sitting from 5 until 11 o'clock, daylight saving time. If you had no opportunity or time to register this morning on your way to work, don't fail to go to the polling place of your election district tonight. Make the second registration day break the record as the first did.

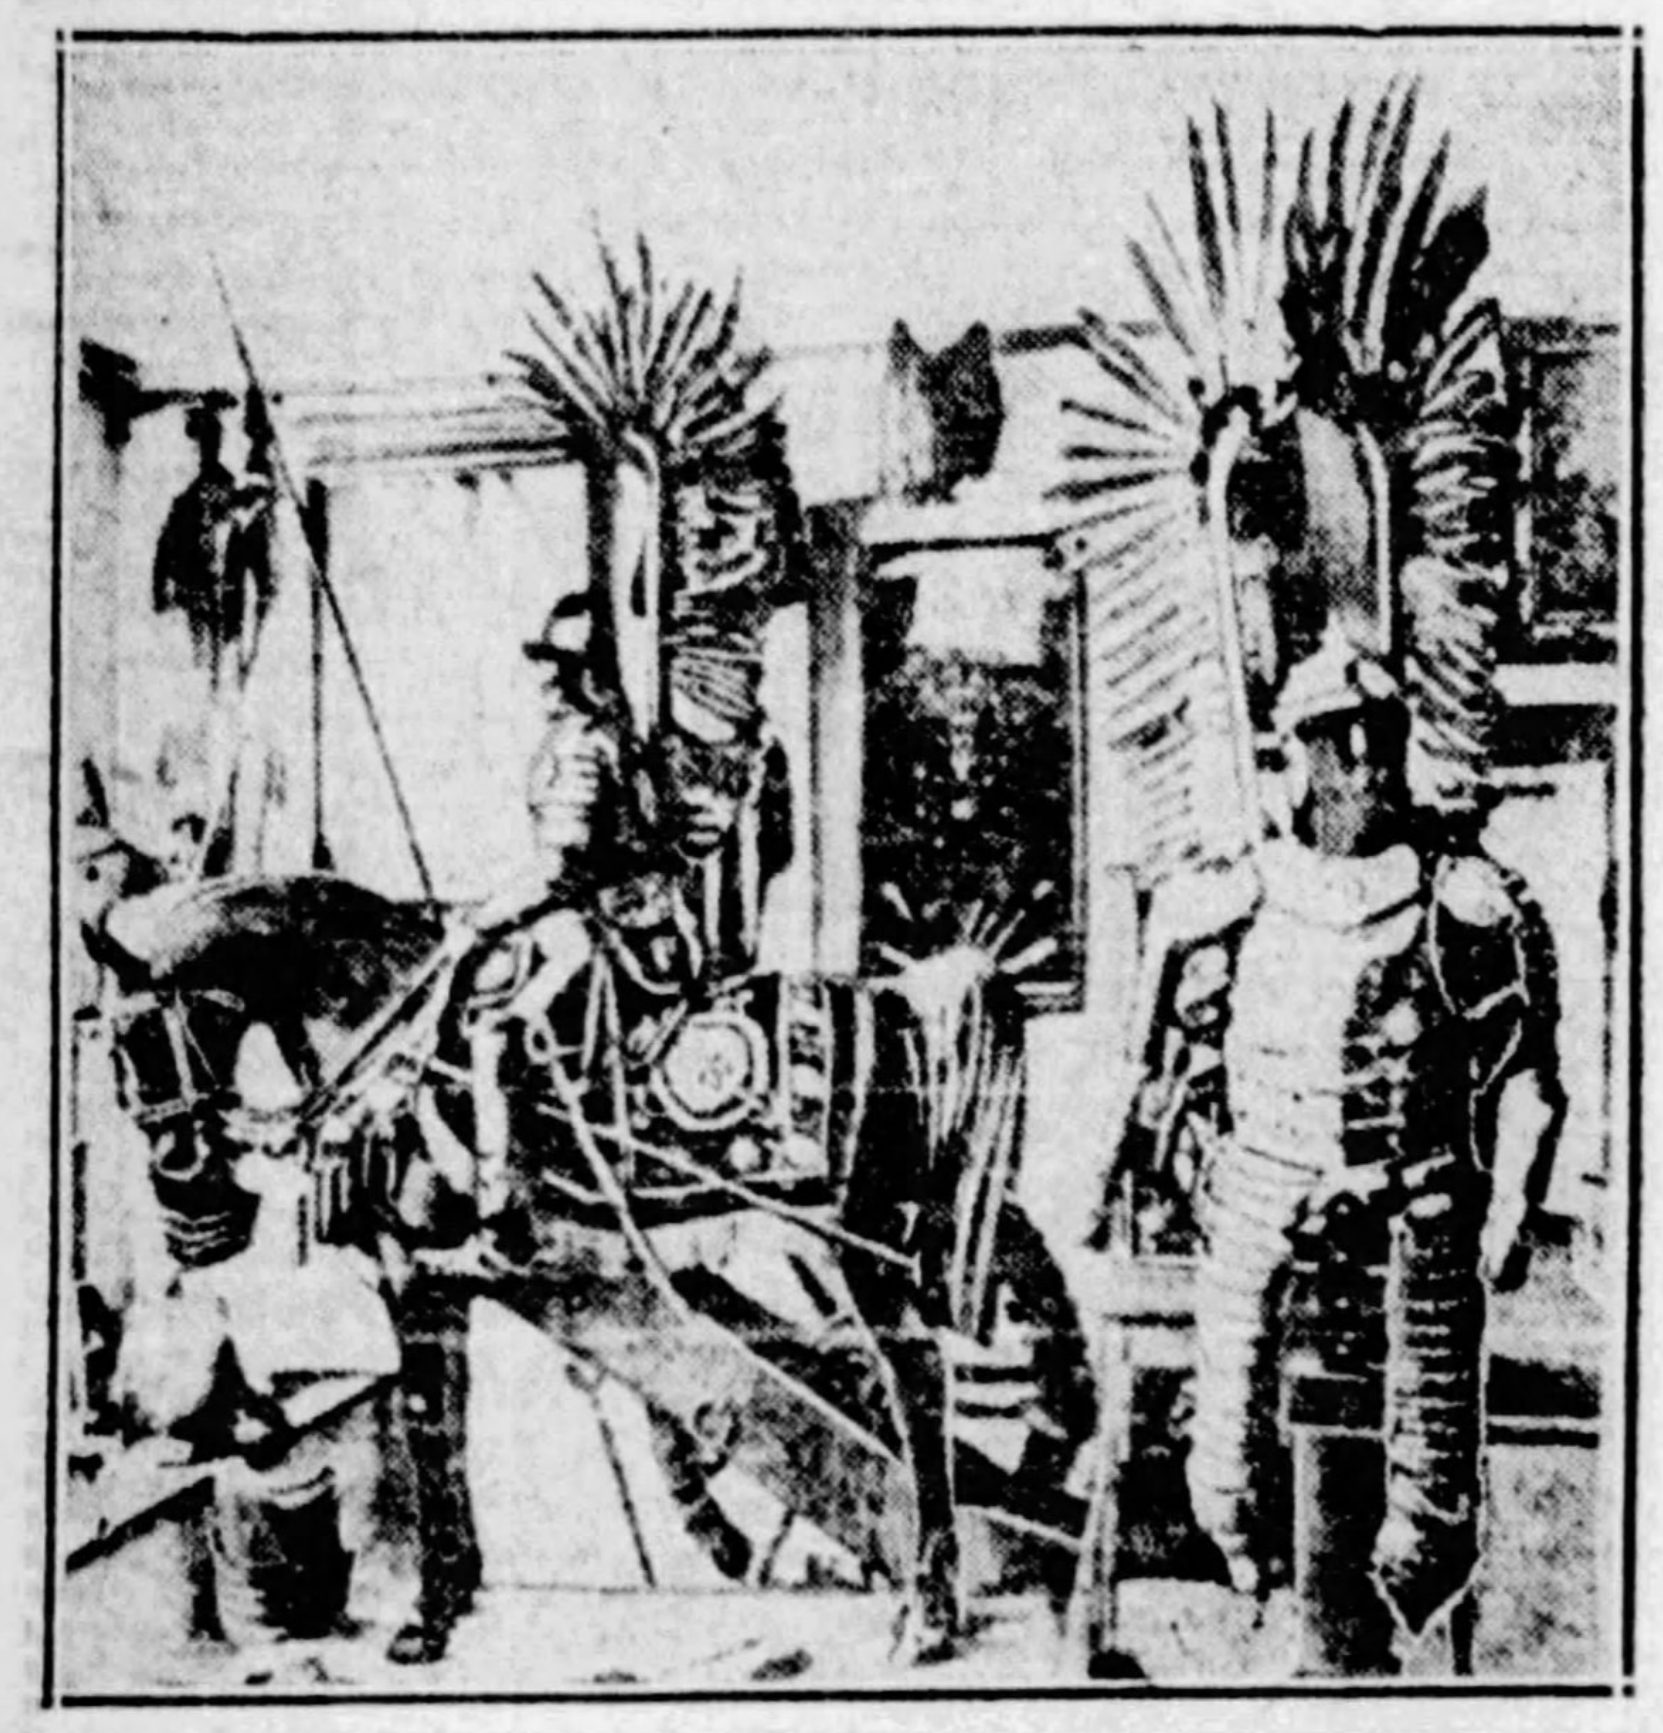
The Idea Was a Good One.



"WINGED HUSSARS" OF ANCIENT DAYS, IN POLAND

In days of the Czars and long ago, beginning with Ivan the Terrible, armies invaded Poland. And, in accordance with the times, they took back with them to present to the Czars whatever they found that seemed interesting.

Now the Bolshevik government of Russia, with an honesty that may surprise some of our boy-bankers, is returning to Poland articles stolen in the wars of long ago.

Art treasures returned included the two suits of armor that you see here, worn by the Polish ''Winged Hussars,'' early in the seventeenth century, before Peter the Great came to power, and before Western methods did away with fancy ideas about war and other things.

What interests us is the question, WHY DID THE POLISH KINGS GIVE THEIR MOUNTED HUSSARS FEATHERS, SOMETHING LIKE THE ANGELS, IN ADDITION TO ARMOR OR STEEL, TO TURN THE WEAPONS OF THE ENEMIES?

You can take your choice of two reasons.

These wings, built up like pictures of flying angels, far above the Hussar's head and shoulders, may have distracted the aim of the enemy.

Perhaps ignorant soldiers on the other side shot at the wings really believing that these were flying soldiers, and that to break a wing would bring them to the ground.

Probably the idea was that the Hussars with wings might remind the deeply religious soldiers of genuine angels. And such soldiers would hesitate to shoot what might perhaps be a real angel.

At any rate a troupe of ''Hussars'' galloping down with wings waving in the wind would be enough to disconcert even a nonbeliever.

In many nationalities it has been customary to make soldiers look like something fearsome, strange. The Japanese befor they took to Western methods, submarines, poison gas and airplanes, believed that the way to conquer the enemy was to FRIGHTEN him. They wore fearful masks, beat on tom-toms, dressed themselves up to look like devils as they advanced on the enemy. The Chinese did the same.

But bullets from Western countries soon convinced them that there was nothing in all that. And they adopted OUR methods.

The Empress Catherine and her successors were most eager and earnest in looting Poland. And all the art treasures they took, so far as is known, have now been returned to the Polish Museum, and by the Russians.

Concerning this armor the correspondent of the London Times writes:

> Polish armour is unique in its linking of the fashions of the East and the West: and its original owners were men who loved to ride magnificently into battle. Already in the museum can be seen two of the three extant specimens of the complete panoply of the Winged Hussars, those early seventeenth century warriors who stand forever as the last crowning types of the knights of romance. The sight of them, with their wings of grey eagle feathers set in gilded and jeweled rods, that rose from the saddle level to curve two feet above their helmets, and the sound of them, as these great wings swayed in the wind, must surely have ensured victory before a blow was struck.

Law Making

And Queer Life Savers.

New York City employed 65 daring, courageous and undaunted men as life savers on public beaches. Their job was to dash in and save the drowning. Investigation showed that 15 COULDN'T SWIM, 18 objected to any test, ''too dangerous,'' they thought.

New York had a small group of detectives employed to watch drug peddlers and to watch drug sales.

Ten of them, more than half, were found to possess drugs and drug paraphernalia, hypodermic needles, etc., in their private lockers.

To MAKE a law is one thing; to enforce it is another.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Vitamins

EVERYBODY talks about vitamins, and some of those who talk the most impressively of their wonderful powers over human health and welfare know nothing about them. This must, at least, be the conclusion drawn from the admissions of those who really do know a little about vitamins. For what is a vitamin? Is it a name without an owner? Its inventor (Funk) proposed it, says Dr. Schertz, of the Department of Agriculture, "for substances which were necessary in a complete diet."

But are there any such "substances?" Dr. Schertz says: "We do not even know what they look like, whether they are crystalline or amorphous substances, whether they have color or taste." And then he adds: "Some one has said that the vitamins may even be a form of energy and not a substance at all."

But whether substances or energy, whether body or ghost, vitamins have been divided into classes. There is "vitamin A," and "vitamin B," and "vitamin C" and "vitamin D." Vitamin A is supposed to lurk in cod-liver oil, but attempts to get it out in a definite or pure form have so far failed. Funk thought that he had isolated vitamin B from rice-polishings (for which reason the public has been advised not to eat polished rice, because it has lost its vitamin). But it appears that this vitamin, no more than vitamin A, has really been brought into the open and cauterized with a scientific brand-iron.

"All our knowledge about vitamins," further says Dr. Schertz, "consists chiefly of their effects upon animals. It is known that they are present in practically all plant products, though often in only very minute quantities. The greatest progress has been made in regard to their presence in food products. They seem to play a very different role in nutrition from other food-constituents. They regulate and control vital processes in animal organisms. Fractions having high-vitamin concentrations have been obtained from cod-liver oil, from yeast and from rice-hulls."

But since there are no chemical tests known by which the vitamins may be studied, they can be got at and isolated (i. e., made to stand forth each in its own shape and person—if they have any such shape, and are not merely forms of energy), mainly by means of physiological tests. This relates to both animal and plant physiology. The extreme importance of obtaining an accurate knowledge of the nature of vitamins and of their chemical constitution in case they are isolable substances, suggests a concentration of research upon this subject. Scattered "researches," of which we see a superfluity, must appear as mere waste when such an opportunity as this lies open to those who really care more for a great increase of useful knowledge than for the capture of a small personal aureole.

Dr. Schertz, remarking that at present "we all must confess that our knowledge regarding these subjects is very elemental," and that "the exact nature of light, of chlorophyl and of the vitamins is as yet foreign to our knowledge," urges competent investigators to correlate their efforts to deepen and widen research in these subjects.

"We now know," he says, "what master chemists can do with the atom, for from it they get power-radio, television, the dictaphone and thousands of other wonders. We know what a master chemist can do in the way of analyzing chlorophyl and breaking it up into its components, but what we want to know is how the Great Master Chemist of the Universe very quickly and so quietly produces such large amounts of organic matter, nitrogen-compounds in particular, which we are now considering as the basis of all life, as we know it."

Another Gang War

TWO million dollars in graft collected in a year—three persons injured and a building wrecked by a bomb—a clergyman kidnaped and mistreated. These are the latest developments in the feud of the poultry dealers of New York City.

Gangsters raid rival shops. Carloads of chickens are destroyed or turned back from town. Men are beaten and maimed. The public pays all the bills in increased prices.

Court proceedings are under way. Several investigations are in progress, but the sanguinary feud continues unabated. Thus does civilization advance in the twentieth century!

Money Not Everything

SO you have reached a state where it is hard to get a thrill out of anything on earth.

You are in a bad way, with life so dull and drab.

You seem to be submerged by routine, and no end of it.

Day after day, week after week the constant struggle to keep up with your creditors, and not a dollar for self-indulgence.

You think that if you had enough money you might be able to enjoy some of the things that interest you.

But nothing within your means can satisfy you.

You think constantly and absorbingly of those who can do the things that are denied you and you become bitter.

Why be so foolish as to set yourself against the things that are within your reach and your pocketbook?

Commonplace they may be, but if it is the best that you can pay for, get what fun you can out of them.

Why let the matter of money sour the many sweet things that you might enjoy if you could get another viewpoint?

Money is not everything.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Since You Are Young

A CHILD goes gaily by his father's side.
Small hand in toil-worn hand;
He feels no fear of any wind or tide,
Nor seeks to understand
Too much of wonders that around him lie
Revealed in every scene,
The arching splendor of the midday sky,
The forest's leafy green.

Since you are you, I, too, go satisfied,
Nor question any mood
Time wears, nor fret for any dream denied,
For, strangely, all seems good.
If only hand in hand we two may go
Down all Earth's wistful ways,
No child girl with a father's love can know
More peace through all the days.

Great Passages from the Bible

The Reward of Godliness

(Psalm 1)

BLESSED is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful.

But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night.

And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season: his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper.

The ungodly are not so: but are like the chaff which the wind driveth away.

Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous.

For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous: but the way of the ungodly shall perish.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THE doctors are getting all kinds of system into their work now. Their offices are run like factories, with a lot of routine and rules and everything.

A man came in to Doctor Junk's office one day lately, and he says, "I gotto see the doctor right away!"

"Well," says the nurse, "you got an appointment?"

"No, but this is an emergency."

"All right, you go into that little room and undress."

"Say, I don't want to undress!"

"But you got to. That's the rules. The Doc don't see nobody with their clothes on."

"Pretty soft for Doc! Well, I reckon if he can get away with them rules, all right. When'll he see me?"

"If it's an emergency he'll see you in 10 minutes."

"It's sure an emergency. Do I take 'em all off?"

"Sure. The Doc's got to have you undressed."

So he went in and undressed. When the Doc come in he says, "Hello, what's the trouble with you? Any aches or pains? Appendix out?"

"No," says the customer. "I only wanted to tell you that them five cases of Scotch you ordered has been nabbed by the cops, and it'll take two weeks to get them back."

There Was No Escape

THEY were talking in the club about marriage.

"Yours was a leap year marriage, wasn't it Warner?" asked the first man, after a long pause.

"It was," replied Warner sadly; and everybody laughed, while Warner went on to relate what had happened.

"My wife said: 'Will you marry me? Have you any objections?' So, you see, no matter what I said she had me."

"Why didn't you keep silent, then?" asked a youth brightly.

"I did," declared the much married man. "But she said: 'Silence gives consent!'"—London Answers

Picking a Good One

"WHY are you so pensive?" he asked.

"I'm not pensive," she replied.

"But you haven't said a word for 20 minutes."

"Well, I didn't have anything to say."

"Don't you ever say anything when you have nothing to say?"

"No."

"Well, then, will you be my wife?"

Optimism

"YES, Smith is an optimist—he went into a lottery where the first prize was a motor car and immediately started building a garage."

"That reminds me of Jones—he hadn't a penny left at the end of the month and so went into a smart restaurant and ordered an oyster supper—he reckoned on paying the bill with the pearls he found in the oysters."

San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—For hungry explorers in search of atmospheric epicurism San Francisco is a paradise. Cafes differ from the brisk and spanking new types in Los Angeles. Here they have a leisure and the seasoned mellowness of years. There are few fluted stucco affairs.

A distinct individuality is observed and the cheapness of excellent food is a feature. Famed gourmets have gone into ecstatic raptures over the savory cuisine. Enrico Caruso, no less, found it tickled his discriminating palate more than food in any other city save Naples.

Legend credits the appetizing fare to the hearty appetites of those in search of the Golden Fleece. But the traditional demand for good food must be aided somewhat by present-day hill climbing. Scamper up hill and down vale awhile and what you can do to a steak is something killing.

One may dine as cheaply and well as in present day Paris. Cafeterias do not predominate as in many western cities. Table de'hote courses flourish. French and Italian cafes—with French papas bowing and long mustachioed signors smiling their welcome—are in profusion.

Scattered in the polyglot array are Slavonic, Spanish, Hungarian, Mexican, Greek and innumerable Chinese. There is an old world obesiance—the cherished zeal to please—and none of the amusing affectation of Greenwich Village with its plagiarized posing from sculleries of Montparnasse.

San Francisco makes a festival of dining—a gastronomic gesture which is doubtless a throwback to the influence of the early Spanish fiesta. One finds chatter, laughter, song and a vivacity epitomized in the celebrated cellar of Coffee Dan's.

Here the diner is hilariously kidded as he descends the stairs with a deafening hub-bub of mallets beating riotiously on table tops. Among the noted places are Camille's, Pierre's the Cliff House, Tait's at-the-Beach, Coppa's, the Palais Royal, Solari's and Marquard's.

Broadway, Kearney, Columbus avenue, upper Montgomery, Market and Powell are high spots of the Eating Belt. There is a thoughtful patience on the part of servers while you scan menus. To those accustomed to having menus snatched away this is delightful. There is always a piquant entree and perhaps a shell fish bordelaise, tagliarini, spaghetti, ravioli and a pastelike lasagne. Queer and marvelous sauces. Real thick crusted French bread. O, so many things to make a meal what it rarely is these calory counting days.

San Francisco is lapped on three sides by the rise and fall of the Pacific. As a result its sea food offers a bewildering variety. There are fish grottoes featuring fish caught the same morning and unloosed in window aquariums. A patron may select his fish rather vulgarly by pointing and have it cooked to his taste. There are also crabs, shrimps, oysters, clams, the abalone with its rainbow shell, sand dabs, pompano and rex sole. A favorite breakfast dish is sole scrambled with eggs, and it is due to a hatful of it this morning that I'm so merry and bright. O, sole mio!

The glorified jazz orchestra was cradled here. San Francisco gave to the world in general and New York in particular Paul Whiteman and his nervous right foot. Another pioneer jazz exponent is Art Hickman—a Hickman, Ky., boy who made good in the city. Many years ago this virtuoso of jazz orchestration came to New York and sent nimble feet flying on the old Midnight Frolic Roof. But he turned his back on New York for San Francisco at the pinnacle of his popularity. And today he reigns at the leading hotel—the St. Francis.

I visited the historic Barbary Coast whose wild rythms inspired most of our hip-shaking dances tonight. It is now a strip of vacant lots and deserted buildings and as lively as a graveyard. A stray dog rising up in the gloom of a lonely dump heap to stretch sent a certain New York boy scurrying over a nearby hill belching fire and flapping his ears in nothing flat. That's how spooky the old Barbary Coast is these days, my dears.

The Election

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

After all it is an impressive sight to witness a myriad free people quitely depositing their ballots and saying who should be their ruler.

Of course many of these people are morons, and some persons are openly contemptuous of whatever choice democracy may make.

But looking over our list of rulers, from G. Washington to C. Coolidge, they average pretty well, thank you, and can safely be compared with a list of rulers furnished by any other country.

There are bosses and parties and cabals and hokum and all sorts of naughty things about the business of electing the President, but the results are not so bad.

Theoretically we declaim against parties and intrigues and bribery and so forth, but at least the old machines have ground us out two pretty good specimens just now.

It is hard to conceive of a fitter man for the presidency than Mr. Hoover. He has worked his way up from the bottom. As far as we know his success has not been due to influence, organization or money.

He has creditably served abroad. He has the international outlook and at the same time is a sturdy American.

Equally laudatory terms could be employed about Alfred Smith.

It is hard to find anybody that knows him, even remotely, that does not like him.

He has one of the greatest personalities that ever got into public life in America.

His independence, honesty and fearless candor are acknowledged by all.

Whichever of the two receives the majority of votes will not cause his country to blush.

It is a trite observation that democracy produces mediocre leaders. Only an autocracy, a crisis, or some bloody revolution is supposed to produce a great man, such a figure as Mussolini or Napoleon, but it is a comfort to know that somehow out of the welter of politics the two men that have emerged, both Smith and Hoover, are after all about the greatest Americans we have, and probably no fitter candidates could have been chosen by a committee of college presidents.

Frankly most of us will work hard to elect one of these men, but we are prepared to be good losers, and will not think the country has gone to the dogs if the other man is elected.

Right Angles

By ALEXANDER CAIRNS

What Men Want

HAVING done a little pulse-feeling at the luncheons of some of the commercial clubs, I have analyzed the symptoms of their desires after this fashion:

Men want altruism. Quibble all you please about altruism being only egotism turned inside out; that men care not a picayune about the misery of the unfortunate, but they do it to find an easy chair for their consciences. I leave that to the professors of psychology.

But this I know—that clubs that serve no outsiders are dying like flies in frost time. There is one club that has guaranteed an education to every blind child in the state. And seats and membership in that organization are at a premium. Men like to help.

Men want reality. Pretense and humbuggery are limping to limbo. Brazen fronts are punctured or cold shouldered in their first strut. With these clubs red wine is no substitute for white deeds. And the commerce in brass tacks was never so brisk.

This insistence on reality has elbowed its way into mental science and men call it pragmatism, and it has threatened to run the whole works. And pragmatism simply means, is it practical? Will it work? Or is it a filmy and gossimer theory only meant for window display? The idea alone is sufficient blue print to rehabilitate Enden.

Men want progress. Call it liberty enlarging her borders, if you wish. A pair of years back I heard a college president, in his commencement address, stress risk as the best polar star for the graduating class. These days every theological seminary has its chair of education and social service. And that chair is as big as the chair of Cassiopeia compared with the hassock of dogmatics. That's progress.

And progress is certainly running a Tam o' Shanter race, and demands a stiff rein. The house of the interpreter must not be neglected in the wild melee of production and advancement in material things. But men have determined that there shall be no reversion to stage coach philosophy and tom-tom industry.

Men want brotherhood. That last broadside from Mars was the knockout blow that brought men to realize the unity of the race and oneness of world-wide human interests. Even humor revealed us to ourselves. A grocer hung in his store window a sign which read, "I'm 200 per cent American; I hate everybody."

All the world is blest by the genius of all the world. The German Beethoven, the French Pasteur, the American Edison, the English Darwin, the Italian Dante, the Greek Socrates, the Belgian Maeterlinck, and so on till the roll of the nations is called. That world-wide genius can be protected only by world-wide brotherhood. And men know it.

We want an inclusive world with eyes to the East!
